a two month period at this camp to act as assistant physical instructor. His program will be to help develop the pugilistic skill of the men and to give relative lectures. The champ seemed to be in excellent form and the best of spirits when he invaded this camp, that has taken on a new life since his arrival. Though no confession of the fact could be drawn out of the bronze giant, it is expected that his recent reconciliation with his charming wife, Marva, accounts for his unusually high spirits.

ON GUADALCANAL DUTY

Guadalcanal—S-Sgt. Joseph E. Stevens, a former employee of the Glenn S. Martin Aircraft Corp of Omaha, is now on duty here, with a unit of the Army Service Forces. The son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Stevens of Los Angeles, Calif., Sgt. Stevens entered the service October, 1942. He received his training at Camp Ste-neman, Calif., and in Febr. 1943 was sent to Camp Knight, Calif. to receive further training with a service company. In January, 1944 he was transferred to Camp Brecken-ridge, Ky., as a cadre member of a newly activated company and came overseas with that outfit in July 1944 as the Mess Sergeant.

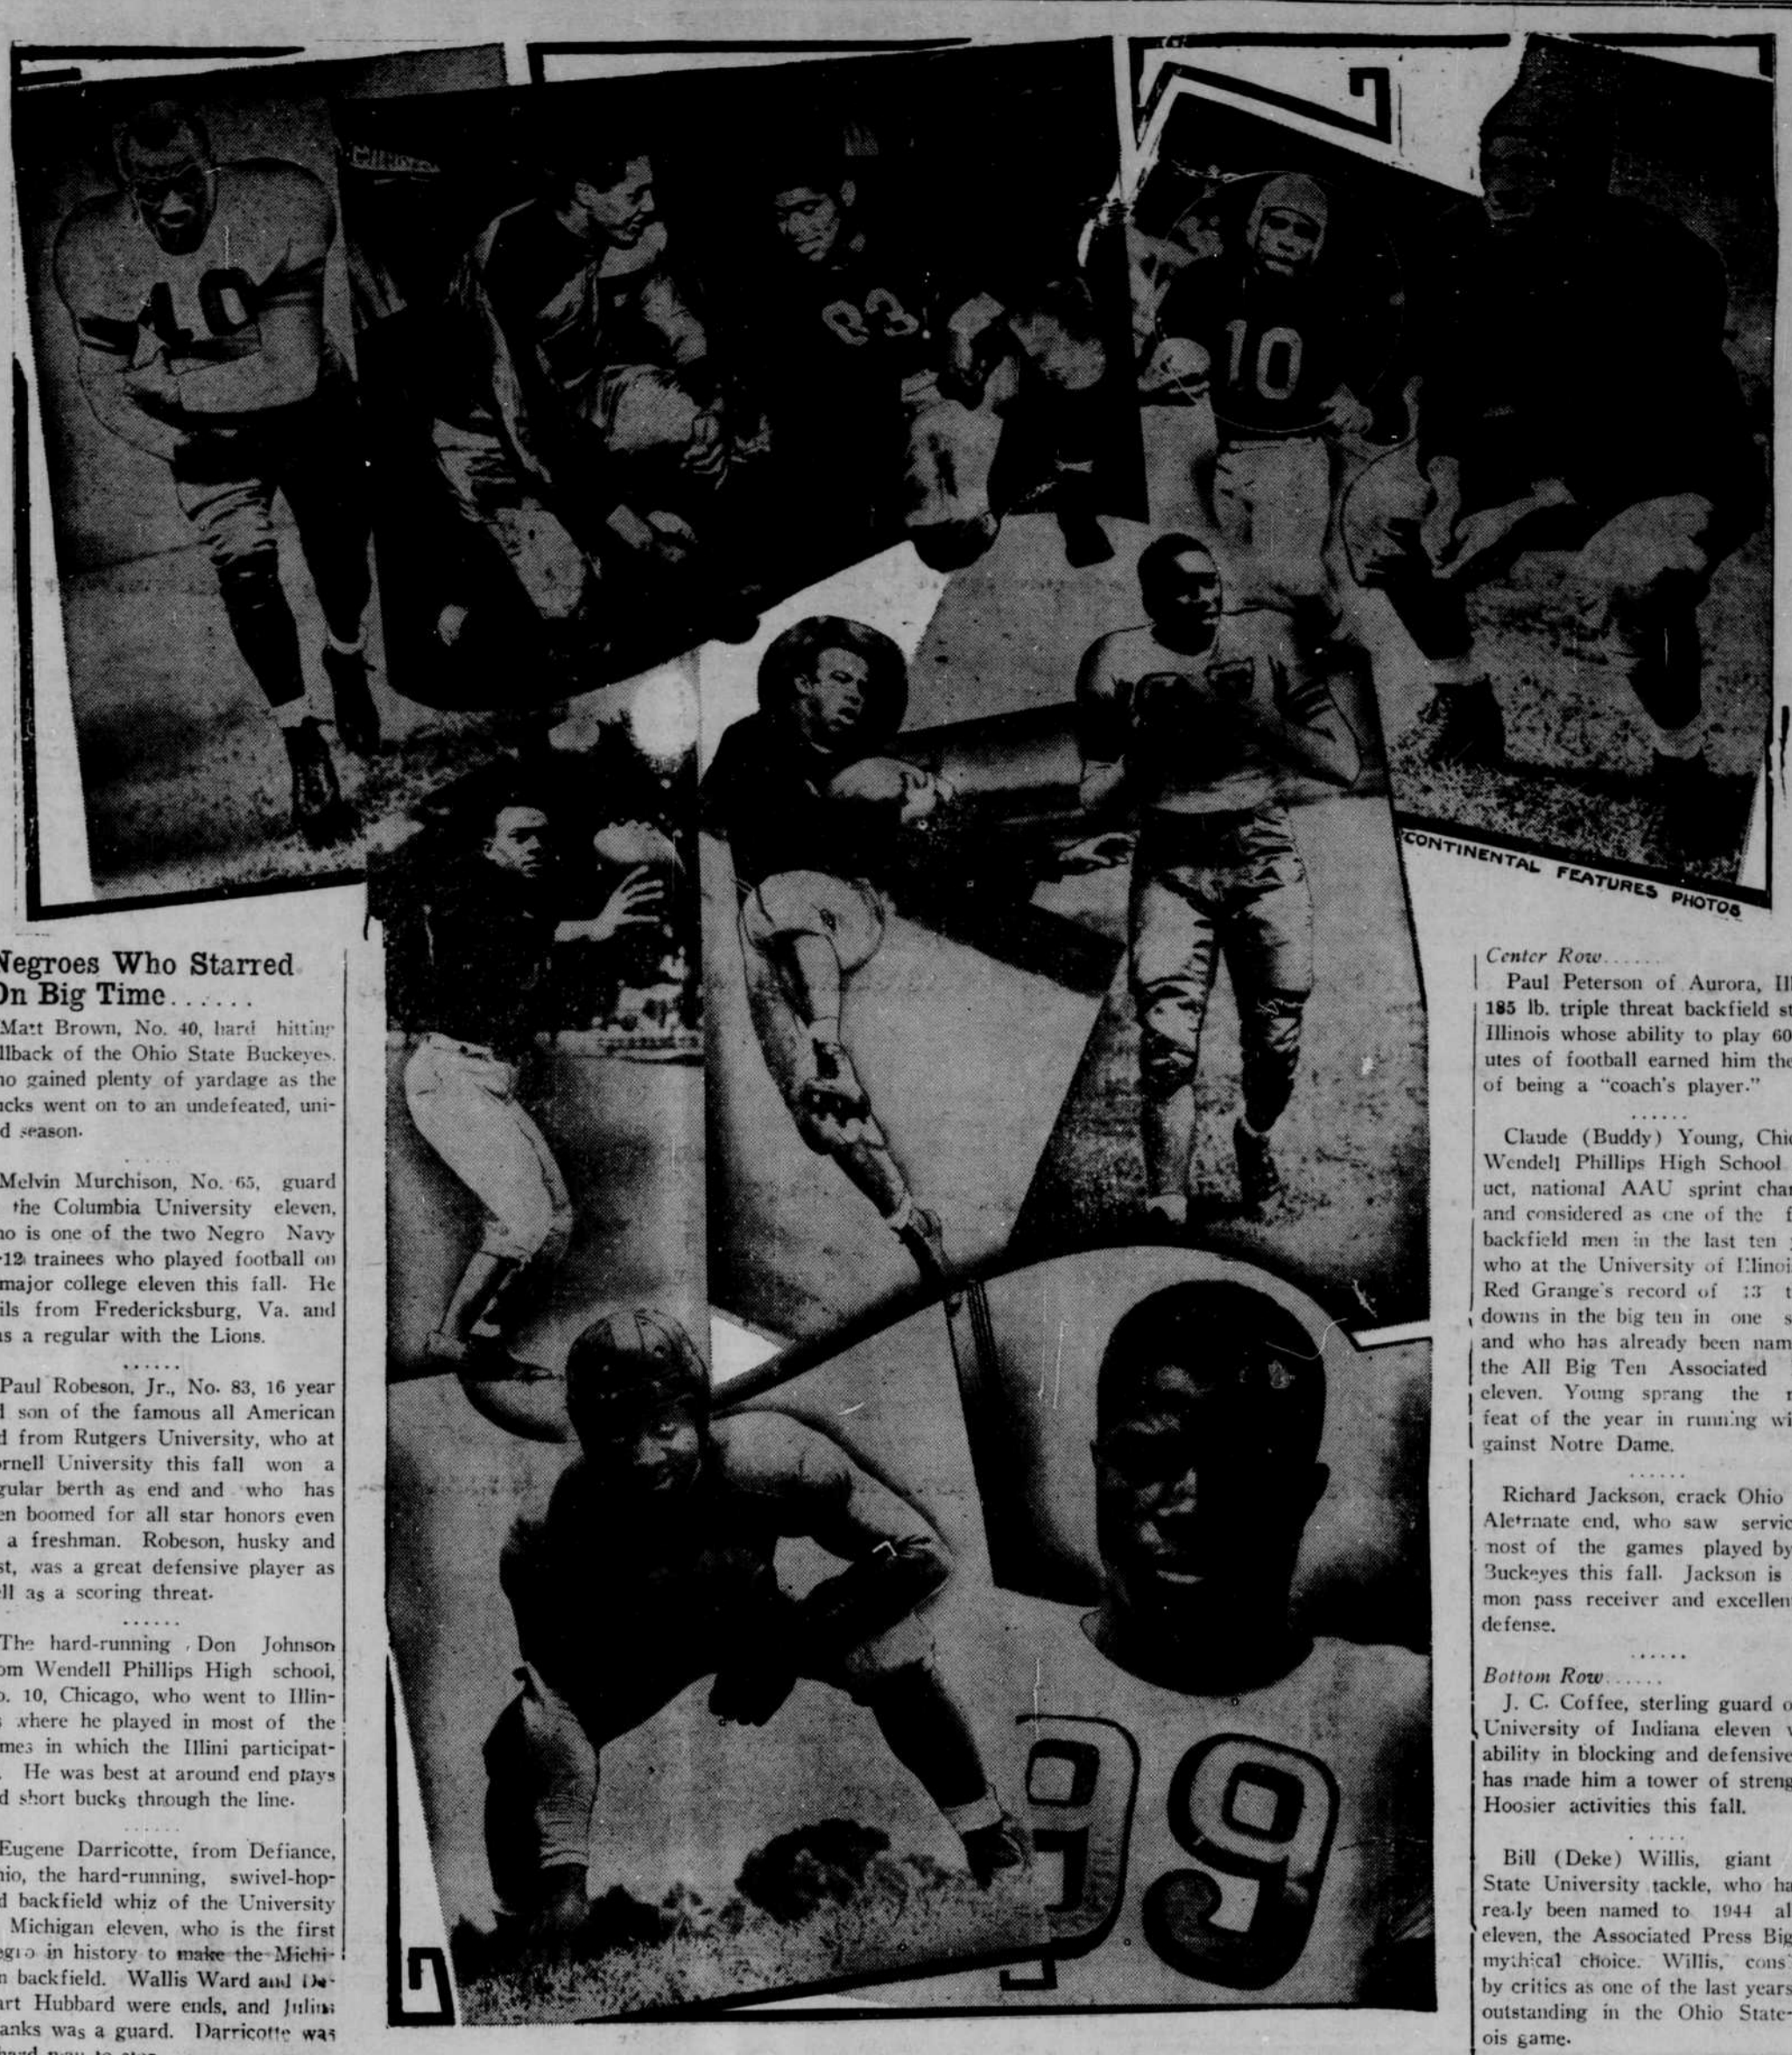

His organization furnishes details to units engaged in the maintenance of construction and supply materials vital in the South Pacific. As a resident of Omaha, Sgt. Stevens lived at 1105 South 13th St., and has two sisters there; Mrs. Lucille Hawkins, 2207 Seward Plaza and Mrs. Dorothy Clark, 2210 Seward Plaza.

Negroes Who Starred On Big Time

Matt Brown, No. 40, hard hitting fullback of the Ohio State Buckeyes, who gained plenty of yardage as the Bucks went on to an undefeated, untied season.

Melvin Murchison, No. 65, guard on the Columbia University eleven, who is one of the two Negro Navy V-12 trainees who played football on a major college eleven this fall. He hails from Fredericksburg, Va. and was a regular with the Lions.

Paul Robeson, Jr., No. 83, 16 year old son of the famous all American end from Rutgers University, who at Cornell University this fall won a regular berth as end and who has been boomed for all star honors even as a freshman. Robeson, husky and fast, was a great defensive player as well as a scoring threat.

The hard-running Don Johnson from Wendell Phillips High school, No. 10, Chicago, who went to Illinois where he played in most of the games in which the Illini participated. He was best at around end plays and short bucks through the line.

Eugene Darricotte, from Defiance, Ohio, the hard-running, swivel-hopped backfield whiz of the University of Michigan eleven, who is the first Negro in history to make the Michigan backfield. Wallis Ward and Hart Hubbard were ends, and Julius Franks was a guard. Darricotte was a hard nut to stop.

Center Row Paul Peterson of Aurora, Ill., the 185 lb. triple threat backfield star of Illinois whose ability to play 60 minutes of football earned him the title of being a "coach's player."

Claude (Buddy) Young, Chicago's Wendell Phillips High School product, national AAU sprint champion and considered as one of the fastest backfield men in the last ten years, who at the University of Illinois tied Red Grange's record of 13 touchdowns in the big ten in one season and who has already been named to the All Big Ten Associated Press eleven. Young sprang the major feat of the year in running wild against Notre Dame.

Richard Jackson, crack Ohio State alternate end, who saw service in most of the games played by the Buckeyes this fall. Jackson is a demon pass receiver and excellent on defense.

Bottom Row J. C. Coffee, sterling guard on the University of Indiana eleven whose ability in blocking and defensive play has made him a tower of strength in Hoosier activities this fall.

Bill (Deke) Willis, giant Ohio State University tackle, who has already been named to 1944 all-star eleven, the Associated Press Big Ten mythical choice. Willis, considered by critics as one of the last years' outstanding in the Ohio State-Illinois game.

M-G-M's "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo" is as timely and thrilling as today's headlines!

Here is the stirring story of our first air strike at the heart of Japan—and of the love and courage that made it possible! Here is history's most daring raid! And here is the screen's most dramatic entertainment!

Spencer Tracy turns in his most commanding performance as Lieutenant Colonel "Jimmy" Doolittle; handsome Van Johnson (did you read Life?) adds to his laurels as Lawson; Robert "Hargrove" Walker is the dead-eye gunner of their B-25 bomber, "The Ruptured Duck." And lovely Phyllis Thaxter (a new dream) plays Ellen, Lawson's bride, warming the picture with a tenderness that's hard to forget!

"Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo" is the deeply moving dramatization of Captain Ted Lawson's true account of the epochal bombing of Tokyo by those gallant fliers who took off from Shangri-Lai

It's smashing all records at New York's Capitol Theatre. And it's making the critics rave: "... Inspiring... human, exciting... a magnificent job..." N. Y. Daily News; "... Thrilling, gripping, suspenseful..." N. Y. Mirror; "Tremendously stirring... charming love story..." N. Y. Journal-American.

ABLE'S NEW 1945 READINGS ARE READY! W.C.—I'm 26 years old and single For the past 9 years I have been going with a boy who is nice in every way. I never could seem to like him and I would always turn him down when there was another boy around. When we would meet again, I would make him feel good with nice words, and that he would take with a smile. The main reason for not liking him is that he always sits away from me, never kisses me or anything, but just talks. Now he seems to have awakened and has asked me to marry him. But a year ago, I met a handsome fellow and fell for him, but he goes with a flirting girl. He says he doesn't care for her, but I notice he only visits me about once a month. I opened my heart and went against my will, hoping I would start him coming back regular, but he lied to me and it did not do any good. I have said a million times since I was going to stop with him, for I can find all the faults in the world with him. But when he is near, my heart melts like butter. The boy I met 9 years ago doesn't thrill me with his kisses as much as this boy. What must I do? Ans: For once let your head rule your heart... and realize that a continuation of this affair will bring disastrous results, namely, the loss of your reputation, self-respect and career. Any man that you must lower yourself to try to hold isn't worth having. As for the man of 9 years standing, he is honestly sincere in his intentions. However, it would be well for you to encourage other friendships until you are sure of your true feelings toward him. Once you free yourself of this disturbing influence, it won't take long for you to realize where your best interests lie. W.C.—I'm a married woman and
