

NEGRO WACS GO OVERSEAS TO HANDLE U. S. ARMY POSTAL DIRECTORY SERVICE

More than seven hundred Negro members of the Women's Army Corps, one of the best disciplined groups ever to pass through the New York Port of Embarkation, recently landed in England. They will handle the entire postal directory service for the European Theater for Operations. Three major events took place during the units stay at the staging area, where they were proceeded for overseas duity. Most significant, from the point of view of the Wacs, was the visit paid them by Colonel Oveta Culp Hobby, Director of Corps, who lunched with the contingent. Fac-

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express to all the dear friends who were so loyal and thoughtful during the loss of our daughter and sister, our deepest appreciation. The many expressions, telegrams, cards, and condolences, did much to help us bear our sorrow.

Giving good service always keeps reliable persons demanded and Mr. Simon Harold has been selected by The Omaha Chamber of Commerce as theirs—he was in full charge of the banquet for the Nebraska State Legislature in Lincoln, Nebraska, the first of March.

On the rolling wheels, the RR boys are still serving with their usual smiles.

The Omaha Club waiters and Capt. Earl Jones are in the front line on service at all times.

Hotel Regis and White Horse Inn waiters, topping the service at all times.

Parkton Hotel waiters on the up and go on mighty fine service.

Pontenelle Hotel waiters serving with a smile.

Blackstone Hotel waiters doing a very fine job on servicing.

Waiters at the Hill Hotel serving in a very fine way.

Omaha Athletic waiters using a quick step and a up and go service manner to the members and their friends.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

- 1- Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.
- 2- Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

WEEK-END FLYING TRIP
Mrs. Blanche Wright and Mr. Voyal V. Watson have just returned from a week-end trip by way of the Mid-Continent Air Lines, to Kansas City. Despite the fact that Mrs. Wright went to the bedside of her brother, Mr. Reuben Newson, whom she left much improved, and Mr. Watson one of our successful business men went in interest of the Todd and McShane bands, they both reported a perfect flight and an enjoyable time, being the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Celester White. Mrs. White is the niece of Mrs. Wright and Mr. White is the Ace drummer in Todd's band. They were entertained Saturday night at the home of Mrs. White, who is a well known singer was the star of the evening, and Sunday night they were entertained by the Orchestra wives at the Casa Loma, and Miss Leah Jeanne Leake, the granddaughter of Miss Ada Brown the RKO circuit blues singer and dancer was the star of the evening. Mrs. Wright and Mr. Watson were very elated over such a grand week-end. Not to omit the religious side, they worshipped at St. Peter's Chapel, where Mrs. Wright has been singing since an infant.

LONG SCHOOL PTA.
The Long School PTA. room mother's have started work on a plan to improve the general department of Long School. They are interested in our children and parents to it that they receive all the opportunities possible, but also deprive themselves of some opportunities for learning. Through close cooperation between the room mother and the teacher, each room is to strive to be the best in Long School. The plan to date is as follows:
The children showing the best development or most improvement in department, are to be rewarded by parties or prizes given at specified intervals. Further plans on the room mother meeting, these meetings are open to ALL PTA members and all members would be benefited greatly to attend. Mrs. Della Scott chairman of the room mothers welcomes all suggestions on this project. Since we are all interested in our children and parents to it that they receive all the opportunities possible, we must do our share in this undertaking.
The next room mother meeting will be the second Thursday in March (March 8) at the home of Mrs. Elmore Morris, 2116—at 2 p. m.

Medical Facilities Must Be Expanded

Administration, the report states, adding that such a program will probably number from 1,500,000 to 2,500,000, depending upon how long the War lasts. Responsibility for medical care of the approximate 13,000,000 veterans who will not have service-connected disabilities must rest mainly with the Veterans' communities, according to the committee.

"It should be made clear," the report states, "that the subcommittee does not advocate any restriction on the responsibility which the Congress has placed on the Veterans' Administration, nor medical services now assured to veterans. On the contrary, it believes that the responsibility should be expanded to include full care of all having service-connected disabilities."

"It believes also that the Administration should continue to have the authority which it now possesses to admit for hospital care any veterans in need of such care, when facilities are available and when he is unable to pay for hospitalization. This provision is a necessary safeguard because of inadequate community facilities at the present time, although it can never be a satisfactory alternative to community hospital programs for ill veterans."

Special emphasis is given in the report to the need for developing psychiatric services for veterans who do not require hospitalization for mental condition. It is pointed out that forty percent of Army medical discharges have been for neuropsychiatric reasons, and that a large percentage of veterans will need professional help in readjusting themselves to civilian life. There are so few psychiatrists in relation to the need, the report states, that it will be impossible to provide special psychiatric services for veterans other than those requiring hospitalization. The subcommittee recommends a program of Federal and State aid to communities in developing a network of mental hygiene clinics. It is estimated that there should be 1300 such clinics, one per 100,000 population, each serving all groups in its own community.

A major part of the Veterans' Administration hospital program is devoted to the care of veterans who do not have service-connected disabilities, the report states. In 1942 more than 93 percent of the veterans admitted to hospitals were treated for such disabilities. Veterans in this group are admitted only when beds are available; they must declare themselves unable to pay for hospitalization and they do not receive out-patient treatment.

The subcommittee considers this arrangement unsatisfactory. Veterans in this group are admitted only when beds are available; they must declare themselves unable to pay for hospitalization and they do not receive out-patient treatment.
