THE NEW 1946 READINGS ARE NOW READY

M. M. C.—I am a widow and need your help very badly. I am 41 years old and have one son overseas. I have four other children. I was getting an allotment but the War Department has stopped it and I am wondering what I should do?

Ans: Your son has the privilege of cancelling this family allowance at any time that he desires. It would do you no good to contact the War Department... the thing for you to do is to write to your son directly and discuss the matter with him. Apparently, he feels that his brothers and sisters are now old enough to assume a part of this responsibility.

E. L. T.—I divorced my husband several years ago. My problem concerns a man I have been with a couple of years. He is single. We have a five months old daughter and he always said he loved me and promised to marry but he hasn't yet. He says now that he can't make up his mind to get married and here lately he tells me that he doesn't think that he will ever marry but there is a woman he claims who has offered him a good break and he might take it. Now should I take my child and leave even though I love him as much as I do?

Ans: From every indication he is growing tired of his present responsibility and is trying to find a loop-hole. He's the father of this child and you two should have a thorough understanding about its future. If he positively refuses to give the child his name he can certainly arrange for its upkeep. Taking the child and running away would be a mistake. Remain right there and come to a definite decision one way or the other.

W. B. C.—Here is my problem. Shall I keep the girl I have with me now or let her go. Does she mean good? Or shall I take this other girl, or would it be best to take my wife back?

Ans: A single man can play around to a certain degree and get by with it, but when a married man begins this practice, trouble is sure to follow. Make up your mind once and for all if you love your wife and desire to live with her any more. If you do, then by all means stop this wild, adolescent fling you are having and go to your wife and settle down. You have more discontented now than you were before you started this promiscuous wandering.

R. M. C.—It has come to the point where I must decide for myself what is best for me to do. I am not sure that I am in love or deeply infatuated, but I think a lot of this young man. I've only known him a few months, he's treated me nice and I never have been out with him. I see him when he comes to the house or phones. I am not married, never had a serious concern for any man and I am 23. Please tell me what to do about this fellow or should I forget him?

Ans: It's impossible for you to make up your mind about the fellow unless you two date or are thrown together more often. Were you to arrange to go out together, you would soon discover his likes and dislikes and he yours. In this way you could determine if there was a mutual bond of attraction existing between you. Go to a movie or some other social some evening when he drops by and start the ball rolling. You really ought to encourage other young friends as you need more associates of this kind.

DUKE ELLINGTON AND OTHER SEPIA STARS ENTERTAIN AT NEWSPAPER GUILD'S PAGE ONE BALL

New York (GNS) The American Newspaper Guild held its page one ball at Madison Square Garden December 6, and among the many entertainers who appeared on the program at this mammoth affair was none other than the "genial gentleman" of swing Duke Ellington and his world famous orchestra. Ella Fitzgerald and many other Sepia stars of Radio, Stage and Screen... the entire program was aired by the Columbia Broadcasting system and its affiliated stations from coast to coast.

ONE-MAN BALL TEAMS?

Let's imagine every worker starting his own factory.

He'd first have to invent something to make. Then he'd have to invest about $8,000 in a factory and tools (that's the average). Then he'd have to produce. Then he'd have to go out and sell.

He'd soon go nuts, trying to play so many positions.

"Big business" is nothing more or less than a division of these worries among many people. It provides ideas from its laboratories, the money, the salesmen, the captain of the team.

If people thought of business as ONE team—instead of dividing it into a capital team and a labor team, it would be a much truer picture of the real situation.
