they will return to their home in Phoenix where Mr. Collins runs a dry cleaning establishment.

LT. EVA MAE BLAKELY IS GUEST OF MISS O'NEAL 1st. Lt. Eva Mae Blakely of the Army Nurses Corps, Camp Beale, California is visiting at the home of her schoolmate, Miss Mary Ellen O'Neal. Lt. Blakely and Miss O'Neal are graduates of General Hospital Number 2, School of Nursing, Kansas City, Mo. Lt. Blakely has been in the army two years within the continental limits of the United States and is now on terminal leave.

After a two weeks stay in Omaha, Lt. Blakely will visit with her sister Miss Gene E. Taylor of Natchitoches, Louisiana.

In September Lt. Blakely plans to leave for New York City where she will enter Columbia University for a degree in nursing education.

Lt. Blakely has been entertained while in Omaha by her hostess: Miss O'Neal and in the homes of Mrs. Roland Green; Mrs. Ryland McLeod; and Mrs. Alvin Goodwin.

CAMILLE G. DUNHAM, TALENTED MUSICIAN IS GUEST OF DORIS NEWLAND

Omaha is indeed fortunate in having as its guest the talented Miss Camille G. Dunham daughter of Rev. and Mrs. O. C. Dunham, Columbia, South Carolina, and niece of Dr. and Mrs. Robin I. Bennett of New York City. Miss Dunham's special talent lies in the field of music and her studies in that area were begun at the age of four by an interested mother who gave her her very first piano lessons. By the time she was nine, she was playing for her church choir.

When Miss Dunham was twelve she was transferred to Mrs. Rollin Green of Columbia under whose direction she remained until graduation from Booker T. Washington High School. In high school, she assisted the music director by accompanying both glee clubs and the double octette. She also sang in the high school chorus.

After graduation from high school she entered Bennett College at Greensboro, North Carolina, where she took a major in music which consisted of a thorough study of the piano as well as courses in theory, orchestration, and education. These latter courses prepared her for teaching, both privately and in the classroom. In her junior and senior years at Bennett, she concentrated on the pipe organ, a complicated device consisting of more than 1600 pipes, three rows of keys, a keyboard operated by foot, and as many as fifty stops. Also she was accompanist for famed Bennett Choir and director of the Senior Chorus of twenty-five voices.

She was fortunate in having such wonderful college musical instructors as Orrin Clayton Southern II now at Dillard University, New Orleans, Louisiana; Miss Gwendolyn Belcher, New York City and Miss Marion Thacker of Greensboro, North Carolina, both presently studying at Columbia University; David W. Holland, Detroit, Michigan; and Nicholas Gering, Kansas City, Kansas, who studied and lived in Russia for several years.

During the summers that she lived in New York, she continued her studies under the capable instruction of Miss Belcher. Miss Dunham has worked on many original compositions. Among some of them are several popular songs all of which she plans to have copyrighted and published by fall. One of her songs, "It's Needless to Say Forget", copyrighted recently, was written when she was in high school, and highly admired by Jimmie Lunceford who wishes to introduce the song as soon as Miss Dunham desires. She set to music the poem by Sully Prudhomme, "If You But Knew", which was broadcasted over Station WBBG, Greensboro, at which time "It's Needless to Say Forget" was also presented to the public of that area.

She has done extensive arrangements of both popular and classical songs. Many of her popular arrangements were used by the College senior vocal and instrumental societies.

Now that Miss Dunham has her B. A. from Bennett, she plans to put her musical talent where it will do the most good by teaching for a while before going on to school for further education.

Miss Dunham is staying here in the city with a classmate, Miss Doris Newland, on Franklin St.

PEACE CARAVAN MEMBERS GUESTS OF YWCA

Four student volunteers, members of the Peace Caravan of the American Friends Service Committee arrived at the Northside Y July 4th to spend seven weeks in this community helping to stimulate public interest and public education in problems of international relations and world peace. The four student leaders: Misses Susan Gitt; Pat Fritz; Winifred Walker and Margaret Wilson were sponsored by a local committee composed of Rev. J. C. Holywater, Richard, Indiana. They are prepared to speak and lead discussions for labor groups, clubs, churches, young people's societies, farm groups and other community organizations. The group is being sponsored by a local committee composed of Rev. J. C. Holywater, Miss Abigail Aperm, Mrs. Ephraim Hoopie and Mr. Claude Clump, chairman who may be reached by calling the Northside YWCA WE 1539.

Other Peace Caravans are located this summer in Nebraska, Missouri, Iowa, Indiana, and Michigan. Their work is part of the year-round program of education on international relations carried on by the Peace Section of the American Friends Service Committee, with headquarters in Philadelphia, Pa. The work in this area is directed by Mr. Par Danforth, whose office is at the Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa.

The American Friends Service Committee represents the Religious Society of Friends (Quakers) in national and international fields of social action. The Committee was founded in 1917 to carry on relief and post war reconstruction in Europe. It has since been engaged in many projects here and abroad to promote international and industrial understanding, and to offer opportunities for constructive service, participated in and supported by Americans of all faiths.

At the present time the Committee is engaged in child feeding and relief work in France, India, China, Finland, and Austria. It also maintains workers in the Middle East and many parts of Europe to aid refugees and people displaced by the war. Such relief is always given impartially on the basis of need and without regard to race, creed, or color.

ALPHA OMEGA CLUB

By Frank Wilkerson The Alpha Omega Club was confronted with visitors Sunday evening, who represented the Girls of Peace Caravan of American Friends Service Committee. These girls are sent to all sections of the country to answer questions that are affecting and conflicting with our present living status and possibly a bearing on the future and the girls are well trained and take a special training on subject matter that has come up since the close of war. The topic that we discussed and are to be discussed further were World Organization, Food and Reconstruction, Atomic Energy and Consumption and Disarmament. Last Saturday night the Alpha Omega's had their famous travel party. The Club visited selected groups of the members' homes, enjoying refreshments, sandwiches, music, etc. It was a lot of fun; somewhat like going to a lot of parties in one night. Our route of travel and on foot was beginning Mr. Leonard King's home; then to Miss Odessie and Udoxie Goodwins; Mr. Jack West and climaxing over to Miss Vivian Turner's. After the travel party the Club went to the Urban League and had a fine jam session. Believe me, there was a lot of excitement. This week we are planning the trolley ride.

FRESH, CLEAN CURTAINS MAKE ROOMS LOOK COOL

Even with windows open twenty four hours a day, there's no excuse for bedraggled, limp and dusty curtains if you know this trick in laundering. Just add a specially prepared wax-like product to the starch when you dip the curtains, and they will not only iron more easily, because the wax-like product keeps the iron from sticking and pulling, but they will keep clean longer because their satiny smooth surface is dirt resistant. Launder the curtains often and be sure to shake the dust out before washing. You can avoid a lot of wrinkles if you hang them back at their windows, pair by pair, as you iron them. Here's another knowing trick: starch the curtains from one room in one batch of starch, so that they will be equally stiff. Your rooms will look much cooler if your curtains are always crisply clean.
