LESSON TEXT-Exodus 20:12: Mari 9-15: Luke 2:51, 52: Enbedians 6 14 MEMORY SELECTION-Honor the father and thy mother: that thy day may be long upon the land which f Lord thy God giveth thee .- _ _ _ _ _ _ ...

Home-that place so dear to the heart of each one of us-is ev more precious in the sight of God He is concerned about our home and those who live in them.

Right relationship between chidren and parents have much to d with the peace and prosperity of community and a nation. Experence has demonstrated that to t true, but even more basic is the fact that if is in accord with the promise of God.

One of the sad breakdowns in modern life is that of proper hono and obedience to parents by chil dren. In all too many homes God's order has been reversed and in stead of honoring and obeying their parents, children (both young and old) have taken the place of "boss." and mother and father must obey if they want peace and rest.

The problem of juvenile delinquency, or perhaps we should savmore correctly, parental delinquency, is right on our doorsteps now That means that the need for our desson is both great and acute. The future happiness of hundreds of thousands of children and the present welfare of thousands of neglected and boss-ridden parents will de vend or the intelligence and faithfulness with which this lesson is taught in our churches, and the honesty of heart with which we all receive its truth.

I. The Responsibility Stated (Exod. 20:12). "Honor thy father and thy mother"-how good, and substantial, and right those words sound.

We are told by Paul that this is the "first commandment with promise" (Eph. 6:1-3). The Lord was not making a bargain with man, or seeking to draw out obedience by a prize, but there is obviously a great reward in the observing of this commandment.

Then too as the children of God Church of God in Christ (if we are such) through Jesus Christ, the first and most important Maker of us all regarding this mat ter of the relationship between parents and children? His words are plain: we are to "honor" our fathers and our mothers. The word "honor" carries with it a great many things, but perhaps the three outstanding elements are respect, obedience and affection. But men do not wish to follow God's direction, so we see next il. The Responsibility Evaded

(Mark 7:9-13). Such an important commandment naturally held a high place in the thinking of the community. To violate it involved a measure of shame which men sought to avoid. So the Jews of Christ's day devised a scheme which made it possible for a man to appear to be very religious even as he deprived his parents of the honor and help to which they were entitled by the law of God.

The man who did not wish to support his aged and needy parents could entirely evade that God-given responsibility by declaring that his property was "Corban"; that is, dedicated by a vow to God. Thereafter no matter how great was the need of his parents they could receive nothing, and yet he could keep it and use it for himself.

Thus do men make "the word of God of none effect" (v. 13) through their traditions. The method differs but the spirit persists even in our day. Jesus made short work of such trickery and evasion. He declared their man-made creeds and traditions to be simply a means of making the command of God of none effect. Once more he condemns that formal religious observance which serves as a cloak for sin and selfishness.

III. The Responsibility Fulfilled (Luke 2:51-52; Eph. 6:1-4).

The manner in which children should be obedient to their parents and honor them in the home is beautifully exemplified in the life of our Lord, living as a boy in Nazareth. In the home the growing youth finds the best place for normal, wellrounded development (v. 52). There is no substitute for the home.

through Paul in Ephesians 6:1-4 stress the same truth and enlarge upon it. This matter of honoring and obey-ing parents "is right," says Paul. It is the Lord's way, but it is also that which commends itself to every right-thinking person. There is tremendously important truth on the other side of the picture. Parents are not to provoke their children to anger, to disrespeet or disobedience. May God help us who are parents that we may take to heart this part Hillside Presbyterian Church of our lesson. Our children are our most valuable possession
