Serve-Yourself Party Menu Is a Real Treat for Hostess

WHEN you ask your friends for an evening of games, it's good hostess strategy to prepare serve-yourself refreshments ahead of time. Then you won't have to drop out and break up the game until it's time to whisk in the refreshment tray. It's thoughtful to give your guests a choice of games such as Monopoly or a card game like Make a Million or Crossword Lexicon as an alternative to bridge. It's thoughtful, too, to serve decaffeinated coffee so that even if your guests linger late over their play, everybody can take second cups without counting sheep later on. This beverage, if you make it in a percolator, should "perk" from 15 to 20 minutes, or longer than the ordinary variety, to bring out its rich coffee flavor. By the time it is done you can have the other refreshments assembled and ready for the guests to help themselves. Crackers and radishes, carrots sticks and celery, add crisp distinction to the cheese tray. Cottage cheese mixed with cream and chopped chives, scooped up on potato chips, also lends interest to the refreshments. Crackers and nut bread, bran flakes bread or pumpernickel, toasted rolls or crusty French bread sit at as proper accompaniments to cheese.

Mocha Froth 1 cup evaporated milk or 1/2 cup whipping cream 1/2 teaspoon vanilla Cinnamon 4 cups freshly made, hot decaffeinated coffee

Chill evaporated milk or cream thoroughly. Then whip until stiff. Add vanilla. Place in serving cups, filling half full. Sprinkle with cinnamon. Fill cups with coffee. Makes 8 servings.

Bran Flakes Bread 2 cups sifted flour 2 1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder 1 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup sugar 1 egg well beaten 3/4 cup milk 2 tablespoons molasses 3 tablespoons melted shortening 1/2 cup chopped raisins or prunes 1 cup 40% bran flakes

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sugar, and sift again. Combine egg, milk, and molasses. Add to flour mixture, add shortening, then mix only enough to dampen flour. Fold in raisins and cereal. Bake in greased 8x4x3 inch loaf pan in moderate oven (350°F.) 1 hour, or until done. Cool. Wrap in damp cloth or waxed paper and store several hours or overnight before slicing.

Many activities are planned by the Physical Education Committee for the fall and winter.

"Our Electric Range Leaves Everything Sparkling!" "I like to have a bright, clean kitchen," says Mrs. Jones, "and one thing that helps me keep mine that way is my electric range. There's no smoke, no smudge, no greasy film on my walls and curtains, and there's no scrubbing blackened pots and pans. Electric cooking is 100% clean! Of course, I like my electric range for lots of other reasons, too. It's so convenient... it's fast... and economical, and my kitchen doesn't get hot and disagreeable. So far as I'm concerned, there just isn't any other way to cook—no way that even compares!" You hear enthusiastic comments like this all the time from women who cook electrically. Follow the lead of these modern homemakers and have an electric range in YOUR kitchen.
