JESUS AND COVETOUSNESS

LESSON TEXT-Exodus 20:17; Prov erbs 11:23, 24; Luke 12:13-21. MEMORY SELECTION—He that truseth in his riches shall fall; but the righteous shall flourish as a branch .-

The Ten Commandments, the study of which we conclude today (the remaining lessons of the quarter deal with other laws), have bees revealed to us as being characterized by their brevity, their comprehensive touch with all of life, and fidelity to the right. But they are also unique and different from all other laws in that they reach heart, a realm where only God can judge and act.

This last commandment (against for it does not expressly require | mid-west or forbid gay act, but deals with the! motive of man's action. Man can judge another man's acts, but he on the hill. cannot judge his motives, desires or thoughts. God must do that.

But man can, by the grace of God, control his motives; and hence we have this commandment and its I. Covetousness - What It Is

(Exod. 20:17). To covet does not mean just to ORDER OF SERVICE: desire, but to have an unrestrained | Sun. Morn, Worship desire for that which we ought not Sun. Eve. service

It shows itself in our day in a more general way - an inordinate desire for possessions in general. There too man loses himself. It may be a surprise to many to learn that coveting, or desiring what belongs to another, is a sin. It has become one of the "respectable sins" accepted in the best circles and practiced by many church people. As a matter of fact, this sin underlies all the other sins against which the commandments speak. He who ago de Chile during the week of has a love for money and an evil desire to have his neighbor's possessions will hate, lie, steal, cheat, son of grand opera at the Teatro Municipal, of which Renato Salvation, unification, fellowship and christion brotherhood marches on Rev. II. Covetousness - What It Does (Prov. 11:23, 24; Luke 12:13-21).

1. It Makes a Man Stingy (Prov. 11:23, 24). The righteous man seeks that which is good and he knows nothing of the close-fisted stinginess which withholds ir m God and man. and to be lib ral is to gainespecially in the things of God. God gives linerally (James 1:5),

In sad contrast is the man who keeps his possessions for himself and r aps only the barrenness of soul and leanness of life.

2. It Makes a Man Envious (Luke 12:13-15). Noting the ability of Jesus in dealing with others, thi man thought to divert the Lord from his real ministry to the souls of men to the settling of social problemsall because he was greedy

Some church leaders think that is our business now - to preach and promote a social gospel. They had better reread verse 14.

3. It Makes a Man Selfish (Luke 12:16, 17). The one who was known to his friends as the "rich man" (v. 16) was known to God as a "fool" (v. 20), because having more than he could use he hoarded it for himself. One wonders what he had to say for himself when that very night he was called into the presence of God to give an account of his stewardship (v. 20). If you are similarly situated and have the same attitude, what will you say in

4. It Makes a Man Proud (Luke 12:18). All around him were the hungry. He meded no barns, for there were the empty hands of the needy; but money had made him hard and proud. He would build bigger barns, perhaps the biggest in that community. People would marvel at his prosperity and he would live long to enjoy it.

But it did not work out that way, for, alas, it is true of covetousness that-

5. It Makes a Man Foolisa Luke 12:19-21). The man who reckons without God is sure to come to grief. Leaving him out of one's thinking and planning invites dis-

God called, and he who had thought to go on for years in selfish pleasure, found that he must go and leave it all. Worse yet, he had to face the judgment of God upon his eternal soul.

Do not fail to note that there is a way to lay up treasures in heaven -by a "close walk with Christ, coming to appreciate and cultivate the joys of the spirit," and so using one's possessions that they count for the glory of God. Even gold can be so invested for God as to send it on to eternity. What an oppor-
