M. O.—I am going to move to the town and I want to know if you think I will do better by making this change. I have a place to move in view that I am sure of getting.

Ans: The change will be very helpful and beneficial. All of your children are living in town and they can see you more often and do more for you if you are living near them. It would please your children if you make this change.

L. M. C.—I'm going with a man 27 and I am 19. We have been going together three years. I'm very much in love with him and he knows it. He says he loves me but he goes out with another woman. When I see them together it burns me up. What do you think of me getting me another man and flirt with him in front of him and her?

Ans: That's the sensible thing for you to do. There is no logic to your sitting home while he goes out and has fun even though he does claim he loves you. He has not proved it. Make other friends just as soon as you can and give your boyfriend a little stiff competition and see how he reacts to a woman who is not a medicine. Perhaps it will open his eyes.

C. B.—I left home last May and promised my girl friend I would return in a month and we would get married. Immediately after I left I got into a little trouble—nothing serious but I am now in jail. I thought I would be out 3 months ago and told her I was coming home so we could wed. Now she is getting pretty sore. Should I let her know the truth or continue making promises until I can get out?

Ans: The young lady's patience is wearing pretty thin and she has reached the point where she doesn't believe that you love her. Had she known the truth she would have realized that you could not return of your own volition, therefore, she feels that possibly you are misleading her. The truth will have to come out and you may as well write her the facts. That's the chance you will have to take.

N. M.—I am a widow, self supporting and have a home of my own. I am not at all satisfied here and it seems there will always be confusion in my immediate neighborhood although I do all I can to get along. I want to sell and I would like some advice.

Ans: Living in the midst of confusion is unpleasant but you must not dispose of your home and trust to luck in finding another. Take your time about making a change. Look around and make inquiries and the chances are, you will be able to exchange your nice place for some other more to your liking.

R. M.—Jimmie has been loving me as long as I can remember. We were away for five years in service. I received all kinds of gifts and 3 or 4 letters a week. He is home now and has been for nine months and trying to get serious with me but each time I put him off. Yesterday he told me he was going to ask my cousin to be his steady and to my surprise I wanted to cry. I went home and could not eat or sleep. I knew that I loved him but just wouldn't admit it. What must I do?

A Statement by George W. Olsen
As the defeated Democratic Candidate for United States Senator in the Primary Election in Nebraska on June 11th, 1946, I am Presenting My Name, GEORGE W. OLSEN as a 'Write-in' Candidate for UNITED STATES SENATOR to the Voters of Nebraska who are dissatisfied with the Other Candidates. Usually in an Election the defeated Candidates abide by the result, but in this one instance, the Direct Primary was thrown out and the Convention System of naming and filing Candidates was used on the Democratic Side.

Why are we Candidates of a Party, if and when the party leaders can donate money as a State Committee to another candidate of the same party. The Direct Primary Law was enacted to do away with the Boss Control by a few over the many, and I am glad to State the Republican Pre-Primary Convention endorsed Candidates who obeyed the Direct Primary by filing their names properly.

I feel that it is only right and proper for me to ask you to write in my name, GEORGE W. OLSEN, under the names of Butler and Mekota, candidates for United States Senator, and Vote for me because I rightfully belong there as the Bonafide Democratic name on the Ballot with over 15,000 votes in the Democratic Primary.

A Vote for me is a vote against the old-fashioned Convention System of naming candidates.

Enough votes for me keeps the Direct Primary Law as it belongs and means the death of party bosses for many more years.

GEORGE W. OLSEN,
Plattsmouth, Nebr.
Bernardston, Mass.

Central Labor Union Endorses State Aid For Schools

The Omaha Central Labor Union has gone on record endorsing the State Aid for Schools amendment. A Witzling, president, announced Wednesday morning at the Labor Temple, 19th and Davenport Sts. Of the approximately 200 delegates only three voted against the endorsement said he.

The Omaha Central Labor Union is made up of representatives from each of the local unions of the American Federation of Labor.

"Organized labor has always been in favor of anything that will help the schools", Mr. Witzling declared. "The public schools mean a great deal to our children, and we want to see those schools staffed with efficient, well-trained and well-paid employees."

"Labor favors a sales tax on luxuries and an income tax on salaries above $4,000", Witzling explained. "We're opposed to a sales tax on necessities because it would bear down too hard on the low income groups."

Right to Work Committee Answers Questions About "The Closed Shop and Right to Work Amendment 302"

1. What is the closed shop? The closed shop is a form of labor contract that compels each and every employee working for a firm to join the union designated as bargaining agent, pay dues, and remain in good standing in order to get and hold a job.
2. If an employee does not wish to join a union, is he obligated to do so? He must join the union as a condition of employment because of the contract.
3. What happens if an employee does not pay his dues? If an employee does not pay his dues, the union reports to the employer that he is not in GOOD STANDING and the employer must dismiss him.
4. If a man is expelled from the union, may he obtain a job in a closed shop elsewhere? No. He will not be accepted by the union. If a worker is expelled from the union for refusing to pay his dues, refusing to pay a fine, or submit to political or special assessments, he is blackballed. He cannot join a union elsewhere or get a job in any place where the union is in control.

5. Do all Nebraska unions demand the closed shop? No. Only 20 to 30 percent of Nebraska labor contracts are closed shop contracts.

6. Does Constitutional Amendment 302 interfere with labor's rights? No. Amendment 302 does not affect in any way labor's just rights. It does not interfere with labor's right to organize, bargain, or negotiate with an employer.

7. Does Constitutional Amendment 302 prevent an employee from joining a union if he wishes to do so? No. It provides that his employer cannot fire him for joining a union.

shortening process, and they are typically American.

The English language in America is valuable. It shows how words are made and how they reflect the life of people. This value will help you to speak well and make good conversation.

Much has been written and spoken about the use of slang. Some slang words are rugged and are impressive of the things they signify. Wherein, they are not considered the finest English. The occasional use of slang, makes language more vivid and colorful. Some words we use today familiarly never would have been used by a writer a number of years ago, as correct English. They would be regarded as indelicate and used as a slang word only. However, slang words can be used, but they should be used with judgement and moderation. For they are like uncut diamonds in a beautiful jewel case. In another sense, unpolished words in a great language.

LESSON Number Three

There was a time when the English language in America was used the same as in England. But it has long since been discarded and today we who live on this side of the Atlantic Ocean speak American. It is a language that is expressive, with humor and great imagination, being enriched by many threads drawn through by the Pilgrim who first landed on our shores.

We Americans made our own language. It is reflected by German, Irish-English, Yiddish, and many different languages spoken by the immigrants. Some of our words have passed through a
