THE COMMON DEFENSE

—By Rev. William C. Kernan

AMERICAN ACTION, Inc.
A new national organization, calling itself American Action Inc., has made its appearance. Suspicion will be aroused as to its intentions and purpose by reading the names of some of the people who have been mentioned as being connected with it.

General Robert E. Wood, once head of the isolationist America First Committee which sponsored meetings attended by known propagandists and at which the Hitler propaganda line was featured. Colonel Robert R. McCormick, an arch-isolationist who, according to the New York Times of May 18, 1943, was praised by Radio Tokyo as a "one man crusade for the defense of true Americanism and for the salvation of the United States from the hands of the radical interventionists". It wasn't hurting the cause of the Axis any when Colonel McCormick's paper The Chicago Tribune said on Pearl Harbor Day, 1943 that "whatever may have been the ulterior designs of Germany and Japan, neither at the time wished to involve the United States".

Merwin K. Hart, founder of the National Economic Council, who on February 14, 1940 told the Nassau Club in Princeton, N. J., that "democracy is the rallying cry under which the National Economic Tribune of September 3, 1941 accused American Jews of working for war."

Upton Close, a radio commentator, who was dropped from the National Broadcasting Company in 1944 and from the Mutual Broadcasting System in 1945, but who is now sponsored on the radio by the National Economic Council. As recently as on September 3, 1946, the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, Auxiliary Bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Chicago broadcast a stinging rebuke to Mr. Close who had accused him by innuendo of being "a communist and an apologist for communism". Bishop Sheil had previously said in an address, "People who are well-fed, well-clothed and well-housed are not interested in communism. If we make American democracy work not only politically, but economically and socially as well we can conquer any ideology". That ought to be recognized as good old-fashioned Americanism and a fine defense against both communism and fascism. But to Mr. Close it meant communism. We do well to remember that one of Hitler's propaganda tricks was to call every opponent a communist and to brand as communistic everything he sought to destroy.

What, therefore, can be said about American Action? Is it isolationist, anti-Semitic, anti-democratic? Does it condone the profascist, isolationist, and anti-Semitic records of some of its good friends? Is it really fighting communism, which ought to be fought by every loyal American, or is it using an anti-communist slogan to cover up an attack on all progressive reform? These are some questions American people are asking. It's up to American Action to provide the answers.

By CARL HELM
NEW YORK—"It's all right for a visit," say the folks from out yonder of this island of Manhattan, "but I wouldn't live there if you gave me the place!"

Well, the folks who live here for a variety of strange reasons wouldn't visit the place—so there! It's enough for them to know that Broadway, the nightclubs, the Empire State Bldg. and all the rest is there waiting for them, outside the door, if they want it.

For the most part, though, they stay at home, go to the neighborhood movies and taverns on their weekly night out, and only see noisy, jammed, glittery Broadway as an effulgence in the distant night sky.

Except, of course, when some of you folks come to town and expect to be entertained by local relatives or friends. Then the New Yorker, with many a concealed groan and sigh, has to forsake his slippers and easy chair to escort you around—packing into three or four nights of hospitality more fast gadding and bibbling than ordinarily he would if three or four years.

"Tired but happy," you folks go thankfully back home then, shaking a head over "poor Jim-I-don't-see how he stands-New-York!" for his fast life he leads!
