

61st Teachers' Confab Is Grand Success In Kay Cee, Missouri

Pearl Schwartz, Past Term
Pres. Elected to Executive Sec'y.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (Global).—This month marked one of great historical value for the Missouri State Association of Negro Teachers (MSANT) when the group held its sixty-first annual convention here, November 6th to 9th inclusive with Pearl Schwartz, past president, presiding in a most efficient and successful manner. Rounding a program with a theme of that "Forward Look" which has been Miss Schwartz' aim thru out her regime, timely discussions and activities brought to the front "Beginning the Next Forty Years". Outstanding accomplishments of the association with in the past two years were the equalization of teacher's salaries in Missouri, a step indicating the removal of discriminatory practices against Negro Teachers; participation in the movement for state-wide retirement for teachers; the appointment of a greater number of Negro Supervisors thru out the state; influencing the shaping of the State Constitution; and influencing the ceiling for transportation for Negro elementary school pupils and the establishing of a much needed vocational school for Negroes in the southern part of the State.

Among the many prominent speakers for the convention were: C. S. Robinson, K. C. Brd. of Ed.; Maydie K. Southall; George Peabody; J. E. Mitchell, Mi. State Bd. of Education; D. F. Martinez, the State Supt. of Negro schools of Mo.; Hon. Roy Scantlin, State Commissioner of Ed. of Mo.; Philip Hickey, Sup. of Instr. of St. Louis, Mo.; Dr. Felton Clark, Pres. of Southern U. of Louisiana; Dr. Herald Hunt, Sup. of schools in K. C. Mo.; Mr. Clement Richardson, pres. of Western Seminary, K. C. Kans.; Mr. Irving Levitas, Youth Director of the Jewish Community Center of K. C. Mo.; Lucille Blufford, Mgr. Editor of K. C. Call; Sherman D. Scruggs, pres. of Lincoln U. Jefferson City Mo.; Louise Thompson, industrial sec'y K. C. YWCA; Nan Murlin, sup. of music, K. C. Mo.; Rev. S. S. Myers; L. Charles Gray; L. R. Nothing Cooks Like Flame!

This is the season of good eating! It's the time of the year when the family looks forward to Thanksgiving dinner... cooked to perfection... done to a turn... the annual tribute to Mother's skill in the art of good cooking. Thanksgiving points up the importance of the modern GAS RANGE which makes possible perfection in cooking. It emphasizes the superiority of FLAME in modern cookery. No wonder 50,000 Omaha women say: Nothing cooks like FLAME!

CAMPAIGN FOR $2,000,000... Kate Smith, Bing Crosby and Sister Elizabeth Kenny confer on eve of third annual campaign of Sister Kenny Foundation for $2,000,000 to slash crippling toll of polio. Miss Smith is national chairman of 1946 fund appeal, Crosby chairman of national executive committee.

Educational Institutions To Get OPA Equipm't

OMAHA.—Office equipment in 28 discontinued Nebraska OPA offices will be available to educational institutions urgently in need of additional facilities to accommodate overflow enrollment of veterans and other students, the Omaha War Assets Administration announced today. The date for complete removal of property from the price board offices has been set for December 12, 1946. All property, except typewriters will be offered at five per cent of the fair value. The typewriters will be sold at the usual discount of 40 per cent granted educational institutions under WAA regulation 14. This action follows a finding made by the WAA Administrator that it would be impracticable and uneconomical for the OPA to dispose of the typewriters in other way. Preliminary estimates indicate that the average OPA price board now being cleared contains approximately ten desks, from 10 to 20 chairs of various types, two or three filing cabinets, hall trees, some office machinery, tables and typewriters, all in various conditions of repair and usability. The equipment in each board office will not be subject to priority sales because it falls into the small lots category.

LYLE DeMOOS, WOW Program Director, poses as "The Old Lamp-lighter", for a live facsimile of the design on the 1946 Tuberculosis Christmas Seal. Lyle will officially light this replica of the lamp featured on this year's Christmas Seals on the "WOW Jamboree" program heard over WOW, in Omaha, on Saturday, November 23.

WOW TO AID IN SALE OF XMAS SEALS

Lyle DeMoos and Morton Wells
Featured in Official Opening

The sale of Christmas Seals in Nebraska, almost as much a part of the Yuletide spirit as Santa Claus himself, will begin this year on November 23, and continue all through the holidays. It was announced by the Nebraska Tuberculosis Association, which annually sponsors the sale. This year's Seals feature the figure of an old-fashioned lamp-lighter, symbolic of the progress made against tuberculosis since the first Seal Sale in this country in 1907.

Forty-six million Christmas Seals will be sent out in Nebraska this year, each one a weapon against tuberculosis. In 1945 this disease caused the deaths of 173 Nebraskans, and there were 446 new cases. Since January 1, '46 to November 2, '46 there have already been 523 new cases reported in Nebraska. This indicates that more early cases of the disease are being found due to tuberculin skin testing and X-rays, the two principle methods in detecting tuberculosis, which are financed by the sale of Christmas Seals, the only means of support for tuberculosis associations.

An official opening of the annual Seal Sale for 1946 will take place over Radio Station WOW in Omaha. This ceremony will be featured on a portion of the WOW Jamboree program at 10 a. m. on Saturday, November 23rd.

Simultaneous with the placing of the millions of Seals in the mail, Lyle DeMoos, WOW Program Director, will actually light a replica of the old English street lamp from which this year's Christmas Seals are designed. Morton Wells will do a special arrangement of the new hit tune, "The Old Lamp-lighter".

Elsie Robinson Praises Negro Magazine

By Paul R. Simon

Recently, Elsie Robinson, writer of the syndicated feature "Listen World" used her column to write a glowing welcome to a new Negro publication, "Color Line." Hailing the magazine as an aid to national unity and justice, the widely read and published Kings Features writer assured the venture of the support of thousands of Americans of good-will. Wrote Miss Robinson: "It is a simple news magazine, without propaganda, a plain record of news events in America, particularly those which relate to the Negro. There is no hate in it, there is no fear, there is no cringing appeal for understanding."

Color Line has been commended by the NAACP, the National Urban League, the Southern Regional Council, Catholic Charities of New York, Division of Youth Activities, and by many city and state interracial organizations. The bulletin is already being used in schools, libraries, YM and YW where its non-partisan, factual style of reporting has resulted in it being acclaimed as ideal material for the effective, non-emotional attack on the roots of race prejudice-ignorance about the Negro.

Polio Called Jekyll-Hyde Foe of Man

BY EFFIE ALLEY,
Noted Woman Journalist.

In times to come infantile paralysis doubtless will be known as the disease with the double nature, the Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde of the medical world.

First described in 1840, it managed for nearly a century to show the generations of hardworking doctors and research men who studied it, only one side of its personality. It posed—and posed successfully—as a disease which worked on the spinal cord and on that alone.

As such, it was invulnerable. It could not be attacked. No real treatment was possible.

And none could be possible today had not the keen eyes of Sister Elizabeth Kenny, intrepid Australian nurse, surprised this killer and cripple in another guise.

Found at Work

She discovered it at work—not in the spinal cord, where it was inaccessible—but in the muscles, where it could be fought and routed.

This in essence is the whole difference between the old, orthodox idea of polio and the newer, hopeful concept of Sister Elizabeth Kenny.

Medical scientists studying the disease in the usual way, by microscopic examination of dead tissue, saw disintegrated motor nerve cells and diagnosed paralysis.

Sister Kenny, the woman and the nurse who worked with living, suffering patients, quite naturally saw something else. She saw tender, painful, knotted muscles and diagnosed muscle spasm.

Both, of course, were right, for infantile paralysis is the disease with a double identity. The only trouble was that most doctors, knowing so well what took place in the spine, believed that everything took place there. Not knowing that the muscles were sick in and of themselves, they failed to treat them in the acute stage and hence got a great deal more paralysis among their patients than there was any need for.

Prove Theory

It has since been confirmed by many inquiries attested by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis that true paralysis occurs at the maximum in only about 20 per cent of the badly affected cases. All the rest—pseudo-paralysis, deformity, muscle weakness—is due to muscle spasm.

Doctors were amazed at this idea and yet, seeing Sister Kenny restore function to muscles they had been sure were paralyzed, many were convinced the Australian nurse "had something." Bearing witness to this, Dr. Alfred Deacon of Canada, said:

"We were astounded to see Miss Kenny restore what we had recorded as completely paralyzed and flaccid muscles to full function."

A significance of Sister Kenny's work has been attested by the many honorary degrees bestowed on her by institutions of learning.

The University of Rochester, by means of delicate electrical instruments, in the laboratory, proved that muscle spasm does exist and that nerve impulses continue to reach muscles which are apparently paralyzed.

As a result, the University conferred on Sister Kenny the degree of Doctor of Science. Other honors followed, New York University giving her the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters and Rutgers University, a similar honor. More than 20 scientific and medical societies have singled her out for special distinction.

Practical Aid

The great value of her discovery of muscle spasm is in its practicality. It gives a basis for treatment. It points out the spot where the greatest cripple of all time can be reached.

But more than this, it shows how the old treatment based on the concept of polio as merely a disease of the spine, had encouraged crippling and deformity. For Sister Kenny and others have proved that if muscle spasm is not relieved it persists for years, shortening and hardening muscle fibers permanently, drawing them up until eventually they distort the skeleton itself and deny movement even to the joints.

Doctors had known with what tragic regularity such things as this occurred as the aftermath of polio. They tried to prevent it by splinting, and when that failed, they tried to correct the deformities by surgery. But it was not until Sister Kenny came along with her concept of muscle spasm that they realized these shortened and contracted muscles were sick and needing treatment.

Unhealthy Muscles

She has demonstrated that muscles which all medical science had considered strong and healthy were, in reality, very sick. Muscles which had been thought paralyzed were, in fact, normal.

Thus sick muscles had been neglected and woefully mismanaged, forced into rigid casts where their spasm could only increase until it caused fixed deformities.

Normal muscles had been mistakenly treated as paralyzed and in the process often rendered so. For these apparently paralyzed muscles are usually opposite to muscles in spasm and do not regain their function until spasm has been relieved. Through the old treatment of splinting, they were forced into inaction until pseudoparalysis became real, merely through atrophy and disuse.

TIPSTER SHEET RACKET FILTHING PUBLIC SAYS BETTER BUSINESS B'EAU

"One of the clever schemes developed to divorce the unsuspecting from their money, is the tipster sheet," warns the Better Business Bureau. Today millions of Americans have money in the bank, war bonds, savings accumulated during the war, or bonus money. Swindlers and gyp artists realize that many of these people are inexperienced in investing their funds and jump to take advantage of this situation.

The smooth operator who works this "tipster sheet" racket convinces his intended victim that the place for him to put his money is in the stock market. And because the customer is a novice in the market, the racketeer suggests he ought to subscribe to the special sheet which he puts out giving tips on good market buys. This seems reasonable to the novice, and he does as suggested. The tip sheet, at first appears to be on the up and up. Reliable stock names are mentioned and a few easy but impressive predictions are made.

For the swindler, however, this is all just the groundwork. After he has obtained the customer's good will and trust he comes forth with his big plan. The tipster sheet includes a special offer of an extraordinary buy. Those who are interested are urged to clip and send in the coupon. Once the promoter receives the coupons he goes to work. All those who respond are immediately bombarded with phone calls, letters and telegrams urging them to snap up this golden opportunity to purchase as many shares as possible of this special stock. The chance of a lifetime for a really profitable investment. Lured into a feeling of security by the correct and quite conservative tips the sheet has given heretofore, many of those approached will fall for the plan and invest all they can scrape together in this sensational offer. The purchasers are urged to maintain a strict silence on the matter so the special tip won't leak out. "Don't even tell your banker what you want the money for," warns the gyp. "If this gets out it's spread like wildfire and there isn't enough for everybody." Thinking he's well on the way to sizable profits, the unknowing customer invests his savings only to find, when he tried to collect dividends or to sell his shares, that the stock is of little or no value and that nothing can be recovered from the tipster.

So, the Better Business Bureau warns the public to deal with reputable well-established firms, and to investigate thoroughly before investing any money. One of the easiest and safest ways to investigate a firm or a person is thru your local Better Business Bureau.
