M. M. J... My mother is old and is living in another state. She wants to come here and live with me as she can't see very well and needs me. I want her with me too. Our problem is this: She is afraid that if she leaves the state where she is her pension will be stopped. Is this true?

Ans: It is. The pension your mother receives is furnished by the state. If she moves with you she will no longer be eligible for this subsistence. Write the pension department of your state and inquire how long a person has to be a resident before they are eligible to draw an old age pension. If your mother needs your care, take her in but do not depend on the pension.

M. M. C... My boy friend works at the freight station. He has a lot of money, has his own home and a nice car. He hasn't asked me to marry him yet but we have been going together nearly three years. I love him enough to marry him. Now we are thinking of leaving here and going north. Do you think we would be successful? Ans: The trip to the preacher should be first, but if your friend

W. J. D... I find your column very interesting. I am very much in love with a girl with whom I have been keeping company. A few weeks ago I received a letter from her mother telling me not to see her any more, to leave her daughter off. The girl tells me that she loves me and says she doesn't care what her mother says. Tell me what to do. Ans: Go to the mother and talk the situation over. Convince her of your seriousness and sincerity. You love the girl and she loves you and there is no question but that you could work matters out satisfactorily if you approach the mother in a spirit of friendliness. As sincere as you are do not allow your enthusiasm to become dampened by some misunderstanding.

N. W... I operate a restaurant and do a good business. My husband and I work together. I find that I am going to have a child.

DO'S AND DON'TS:

Unless you are a Durante, it doesn't pay to be nosy. Do avoid interfering in other people's affairs.

I have been thinking of closing down my place until it is over. Do you think this would be a wise move.

Ans: As long as you are doing a good business and making money you keep your restaurant open. Employ someone to relieve you of your heavy duties. You may find that you will be physically able to spend the greater portion of your day in your place of business and unless your doctor advises against it hold on to your business.

R. L... I love my husband but I don't believe that he loves me. He is in service and when he is home he divides his time with me and others. He loves women and a big time. Now a class mate of mine who went to high school with me wants me to divorce my mate and marry him. I am sure I love him.

Ans: Better not see the old class mate again... you're cooking up something that will be too hot to handle. Call the whole thing off. You admit that you love your husband and it stands to reason that you can't love them both. Be faithful to your husband until he is discharged and until such time as you can live a normal life once more.

Time Out!

FOOTBALL TAKES A REST BASKETBALL IS KING; New York (CNS). The bruised and battered limbs of the footballers have a whole season in which to heal so that they can be battered to a pulp again next year, except for the post-season bowl games, the mayhem branch of the sports family is strictly out of date. Basketball, the game that depends on science, quick thinking and controlled speed has taken over and until spring the sports addicts will go indoors for their excitement. Negro athletes who stand out when given a big chance on the gridiron, are not quite as prominent in the basket game with major college teams. Through the years there have been several notable Negro basketballers, but it appears that the fame won on the gridiron is more enduring than that achieved on the court.

Urge January 5th As Permanent "Carver Day"

By Solomon Harper

New York (CNS). Dr. George Washington Carver Day (Jan. 5) should be made a permanent holiday by an act of Congress, it was decided this week by the people of Harlem. The greatest botanist the world has ever known should live forever in memory and continue to be an inspiration to Negro and white scientists of today and to the future aspirants.

In 1945, Congress voted to designate January 5th, 1946 as the George Washington Carver Day. But some Congressmen helped to restrict it to only that year; there fore groups in the city are banding together to appeal for the 5th to be made a permanent day of honor for ensuing years.

Meanwhile, the world's greatest scientific foundation are now keyed to praise the man of peace. The leading scientific bodies, including the Nobel Foundation, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Chemical Society; the Botanical Societies; the Royal Society of London and the Federation of Architects, Chemists, Engineers and the National Technical Association all of which honored him during his lifetime, are banding together with the hope of securing a famed Nobel Award in his name.

an I understood this problem," the mayor retorted. "These people have my deepest sympathy. I also have sympathy for the people who are not veterans. The landlords were here before you or I and I cannot solve all the problems we have inherited. I recognize that the situation is tense, and I promise you I won't hold you up on an answer if you get together with Mr. Ross (administrative secy.) and form a plan."

Included among the committee were: James Allen of the New York State conference for the NAACP; Miss Gay Overton, state service officer of the United Negro and Allied Veterans; and Charles Collier, executive secy. of the Citizens' Committee on Harlem. Mayor O'Dwyer pointed out to the committee that Harlem is included in the State-City rehabilitation program and he suggested that the group draw up a list of boarded-up housing that "Yes and before I was a veter- could be made habitable."

DEMANDS HOUSE INQUIRY

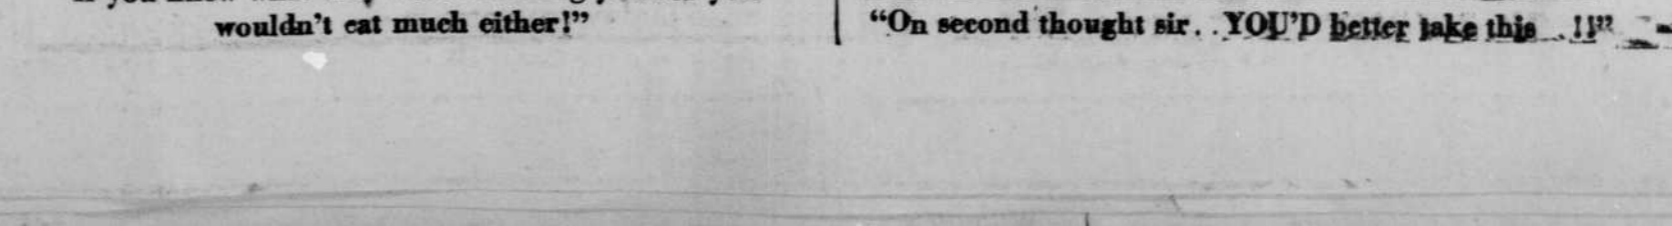

New York (CNS). Representative Votp Mareantonio, American Labor Party candidate whose successful campaign several weeks ago was climaxed by the fatal beating of an opposition worker, took the sting out of his tormenter's jibes last week when he wired chairman J. Percy Priest of the Committee on Campaign Expenditures, demanding that hearings be held in New York soon to determine if the voters in his district had been able to vote freely and secretly without fear of coercion or intimidation. Mareantonio, who represents a district in which there are thousands of Negro voters, has been the victim of a relentless attack by most of the metropolitan press because a Republican district captain was attacked and beaten early in the morning on Election Day.

New York Leads In College Fund Aid

NEW YORK (CNS)—Almost $300,000 of the total raised in the United Negro College Fund drive last year, was contributed by New Yorkers, according to Mr. Frank M. Totten, campaign manager and vice president of the Chase National Bank. A special drive in the Harlem community netted $18,000 the manager announced and he gave special credit to Dr. Kenneth M. Clark, city college instructor and drive chairman, who organized the Harlem drive.
