Undulant Fever Brucellosis, commonly known as "Bang's disease," attacks hogs as well as cattle. When humans contract the disease through milk or meat from infected animals, it is known as undulant fever. Undulant fever caused by eating infected pork is much more virulent than the disease resulting from drinking milk from infected cows.

In addition to this, the Commission feels that the national security demands seven more ingredients: a united and informed nation; a coordinated intelligence service; stimulated scientific research and development; industrial readiness for war; an air force ready to strike on little notice; better equipment and training for all the services; and unification of the armed forces. It said that it viewed "with horror" the total cost of this program, and could not estimate it. But, it added, the alternative was an "invitation to extermination."

The Commission believes—as do all military authorities—that the next war, if it comes will arrive with unbelievable speed. It observed that the obliteration of 12 American cities in a single day, along with essential communication, transportation, and power resources was not at all impossible. Our monopoly of atomic weapons, it said, will end about 1951, and by 1955 an all-out atomic attack could be mounted against us. The program it advocates would take six years and perhaps longer to achieve significant results. So, if the Commission's findings are correct, we must start in the near future to prepare for the possibility of global war of unprecedented savagery and destructiveness.

The report does not confine itself to atomic war. It takes into consideration chemical and bacteriological warfare—along with the possibility of another war with traditional weapons. It found "our military forces are a hollow shell" that the army and air forces are virtually dismantled, and that at the present time the ground forces have not more than two and one-third divisions available for combat duty.

The Commission forecast that its universal training program

ENTERTAINS OMAHAN Mrs. Mary M. Duncan of Portland, Oregon, was hostess of Mrs. L. B. Houston of Omaha during her visit in Portland the week of June 2.

Mrs. Houston received many courtesies while she was in the city of Portland. Mrs. Joseph Reed gave a theater party in honor of Mrs. Houston's visit at the Broadway Theater where they saw "Duel in the Sun."

CARD OF THANKS We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings received from our many friends in Omaha and other cities in our recent bereavement at the loss of our beloved husband, brother and uncle, Mr. Charles A. Cleveland who departed this life Sunday June 15th. We especially thank Rev. C.C. Reynolds and members of Clair Chapel Church, officers and members of Yroquois Lodge No. 92 and Cherokee Temple No. 223 and all who endeavor to lighten our burden in our sad hour.

Mrs. Bennetta Cleveland, wife of the deceased. Mrs. Anna Bennett. Mrs. Sarah Snowden, sisters. Mrs. Tina Smith, niece.

would produce a long list of benefits. First and foremost, of course, it would provide a trained and absorbed into the services in time of emergency, and thus tremendously shorten the time necessary to effective mobilization. In addition, the report goes on, it would improve the quality of the regular establishments in peacetime; it would provide a large, trained group in each community capable of dealing with problems of civilian defense and mass disaster in the event of bombing and other attacks; it would help to channel young men into scientific and vocational training important to national defense, and it would give greater military strength at less cost than would be provided by a large standing force. And, to quote the report directly, the program would reduce as far as possible "the disruption of normal family life which inevitably attends the calling of young men from their homes in the national interest." In another paragraph it met an obvious objection to compulsory training by saying that "we are convinced that it is entirely possible to provide for American youth a wholesome, moral, and religious environment in training camps." It pointed to the widely-publicized experimental unit at Fort Knox in substantiation of this.

The report is 448 pages in length, and a brief summary can touch only the high spots. The big point is the commission's somber belief that preparedness for war on a scale never attempted by this country in time of peace is absolutely vital if we are not to risk the chance of being exterminated.

OMAHA COUNCIL OF COLORED CHURCH WOMEN CELEBRATE FOUNDER'S DAY The Omaha Council of Colored Church Women observed their first Founder's Day at the Interdenominational People's Mission, 1710 North 26th St. Rev. William Farmer, pastor. The program was as follows: Devotional by Mrs. Anne Burton; mistress of ceremony, Mrs. Rena Thomas; response by Mrs. Katherine Steel; solo by Mrs. Bernice Davis; introduction of charter members; solo by Mrs. Farmer; history of organization by Mrs. Mamie Johnson; solo by Mrs. Gertrude Brooks; address by Rev. J. P. Mosely; solo dedicated to the president by Mrs. Rosalie Robinson; selection—Quintuplet of Song; remarks by the president, Mrs. Cora Haynes; benediction.

In spite of the inclement weather, the afternoon was a spiritual feast and the presence of the Holy Spirit was felt. Our thanks go to each who participated on the program.

The financial effort was for the purpose of sending some children to summer camp. We are grateful to those who did respond and those who will do so before the end of the drive, July 1.

According to Prof. E. M. Gillinek, a Yale Physiologist, there were more women drunkards in grandmother's day than there are today. He said the people are drinking, but they don't drink as much as they did yesterday.

The female rate of chronic alcoholism was higher in 1910 (384 per hundred thousand) than in 1945 (242 per hundred thousand) he said in a published article.
