2420 GRANT ST. THE OMAHA GUIDE, OMAHA, NEBRASKA, JANUARY 3, 1948 VOL. 20—NO. 48 PHONE HA. 0800

While angels hovered overhead, the Star of Bethlehem guided the Three Wise Men to the Manger at Bethlehem. We cannot offer you their gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh. Our gift must be restricted to the old, but heartfelt wish for all the joys and blessings of the Yuletide season.
Half Have Lights
Fifty-three per cent of the nation's farms now have electric service.

To Re-open Famed Cotton Club In Harlem

IPS Photo Exclusive to Ted Yates Publications
Andy Kirk and his Orchestra with Beverly White will re-open Harlem's newest, smartest niterdy Club, Sudan. The hot spot now owned and operated by Negroes will cater exclusively to the exclusive set. Kirk's band will feature new compositions and give to New York diversion seekers the best in music both sweet 'n' hot. Formerly the Cotton Club the niterdy has remodeled and redecored and according to predictions will "out-smart" other cabarets in New Manhattan.

Learning to Walk Again

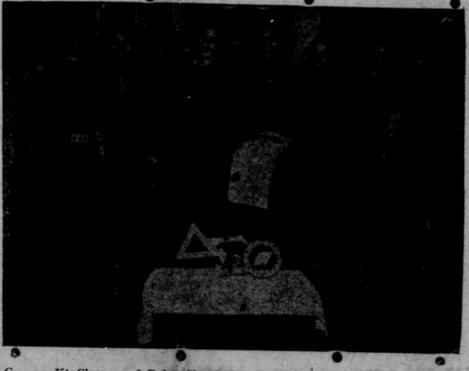

Margaret Samuels, Kentucky polio patient, is happy learning to walk again. Most people stricken by the disease recover completely thanks to the generous support of the March of Dimes by the American people. This year the appeal of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, January 15-30, commemorates the organization's 15th anniversary.

Eye-Catching

SLIGHTLY daring—yet very demure—is this Avisco rayon faille date dress for juniors. Rayon faille is the perfect choice for juniors because it is young and crisp looking with a very dressy air. Notice the touch of gaiety in the striped rayon taffeta bodice insert and flirty ruffled hemline.

THANKFUL
Albert Robinson, porter at Store No. 1, Omaha (known as "Smiling Al" because of his friendly disposition) "All Americans got a right to be thankful our boys are back home from war. And we should be glad for all the food we have when other countries are in such need. I'm thankful to be home from the Army and for the good friends I have among the staff and customers here at No. 1."

SURPRISE! NEW BUTTER-NUT BREAD. Try the improved loaf. Fresher, more flavorful. Wrapped in blue and white gingham.—Adv.

The president of a big corporation once gave me his formula for success. It ran something like this: "Learn to analyze the job or problem carefully, organize a plan to produce the desired results, then roll up your sleeves and go to it. There is no substitute for plain, ordinary hard

The Hallway Says Hello

When a visitor walks into a home, the first sight which greets him is the hallway. As it should, it expresses the personality of its owner. A cluttered messy hallway indicates an untidy way of life, while in contrast, an entrance which is gracious and inviting is a sure sign of a cordial welcome.

No matter how small the area which makes a front hallway, it is always possible to give it a distinct personality. Perhaps there is room for only one piece of furniture—a chest, a bookcase, a small table, or just a chair—but be sure that that one article is well built, has good lines, and is distinctive.

Whether the entrance be large or small, you will find that wall paper adds a great deal to the decorative scheme. In the case of a small hallway it may well be the entire decorative touch, for even if there is no room for furniture, wall paper eliminates bareness and gives the entrance a dressed-up appearance. In a large hall wall paper will give background to set off furniture advantageously.

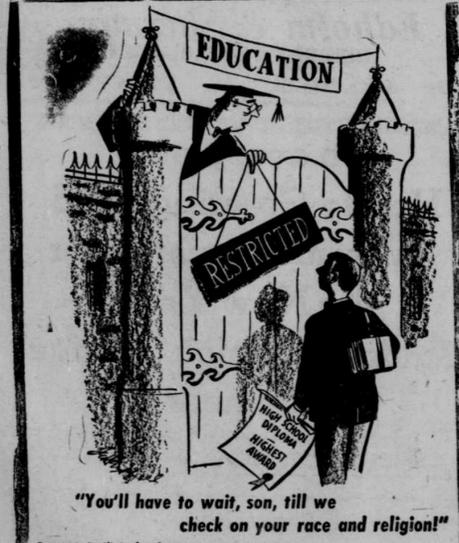

GRATEFUL SALVAGE

"I'm thankful I have the opportunity to salvage used cooking fats," says Cecil Barrymore Miglietta, as she turns her cooking grease over to meat dealer Jim Mahoney, New York City. "Used fat helps relieve world wide shortages of fats and oils," she says. Little John Drew smiles with approval of the "technical family," smiles his approval.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT
A buffet supper was given by Mr. and Mrs. Victor H. Wilburn, Friday, December 26, 1947, announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Katherine Louise, to Mr. William L. Cunningham, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cunningham, Sr.

Guests received miniature candle holders with red candles tied with white satin ribbon bearing the rouples name. Miss Wilburn is a pledge of the Zeta Beta Sorority. She and her fiancé are students at the University of Omaha.

Jay Jostyn
"MR. DISTRICT ATTORNEY" Says—

A famous educator remarked recently that ill will—the world's costliest and most destructive emotion—is the main obstacle to lasting peace. He said, "We don't have to like everyone we meet, and we may often disapprove of another's actions, but no man can afford to harbor ill will toward any person!"

The man who refuses to admit his mistakes will never learn to avoid making them.

Nothing is more satisfying than good conversation. We sometimes include the whole family in this interesting experiment: Drop the pronouns "I" and "we" from dinner table talk for three successive nights. Then, on the next three evenings eliminate all things past—speak only of the present and the future.
