JOLLY MATES

Well folks, here I am reporting a little late this time; but please forgive me. I have been on the sick list for awhile. Happy to say I am almost on my feet again.

The Jolly Mates Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, 2118 North 29th Street, March 7th, 1948, 6:00 P. M. The meeting was a day late because the Club was invited by our president to the Friendly Sixteen Club's dance. Those that attended had a good time. We wish to thank our President and the members of the Friendly Sixteen Club for the invitation. Our meeting was called to order by our President, Mr. John Davis, opening with the club's verse. New and old business was discussed. Mr. James Brown gave us a very interesting talk on the welfare of the club and the benefit of our children. We all enjoyed this speech coming from Mr. Brown. After the closing of the meeting Mrs. Davis served a lovely repast Mrs. Davis makes a charming hostess.

Mothers, fathers, and children, don't forget our amateur contest to be held at Elk's Hall April 6th, 1948. Come out and support these kiddies. We are happy to report Mr. Young is back on the job. We will meet at Mr. and Mrs. Gus Murrell, 2418 North 24th Street, March 20th, 1948. John Davis, President Beatrice White, reporter (Happiness can never be built on the unhappiness of others)

PALM SUNDAY

Palm Sunday is one very sacred Sabbath day; and we should, at all times as our beloved Saviour has, not allowed himself to be tempt by Satan and would not allow himself to be overthrown as he was on the Eve of preparedness for the last Sacrament with the disciples. It was a time of weeping; and we should, stop and do our share of weeping on Palm Sunday.

Industry in Iraq

The climate of Iraq is continental, with varying degrees of heat and little rain and moisture, although Iraq is in the temperate zone. Iraq was noted in ancient time for the manufacture of cotton, wool, linen and silk textiles, also for tanning, carpet and blanket weaving. Today there are many factories, among which are textile, shoe, brick, cigarette, tanneries, distilleries, ammunition and railroad shops. The manufacture of copper and bronze dishes and of gold and silver articles also has become important.

Dessert's An Easy Problem When You Use Quick-Frozen Mixed Fruits

WHAT shall we have for dessert? The answer's easy. Buy a package of thrifflly priced quick-frozen mixed fruits; thaw and serve just as they are. They are a taste-tempting combination of big luscious boysenberries, tender and flavorful raspberries, golden orchard-sweet apricots and tender little white grapes. They are all ready to serve just as they come from the package, as soon as they are thawed.

Quick-frozen sliced peaches are another easy dessert. Lightly sweetened, and frozen within four hours of picking, they can be served as soon as they are thawed. They are delicious as shortcakes, between-cake or biscuit layers, or in tarts. And they, as well as the quick-frozen mixed fruits, make a taste-tempting sauce for vanilla ice cream.

The best way to thaw quick-frozen fruits is slowly, in the refrigerator where they should stand, outside the freezing compartment, for five or six hours. Thawing can be speeded up, of course, by letting the packages stand at room temperature for two or three hours.

Ban American Comics Authors, journalists and educators of New South Wales have asked their government to ban all comic strips from the United States and to impose severe restrictions on importation of short stories and articles. Bells That Sing Out Have you ever gone to the wrong entrance when the door chime, bell or knocker sounded? A new electric door chime has been developed to eliminate these unnecessary steps. It features three different musical signals—a continuous harmony chord that sounds as long as the caller presses the button; two symphonic notes in sequence, and a single resonant note. One signal is used for the front door, one for the back and the third for a side entrance, or to code-page members of the family for phone calls.

Primitive Origin The universality of man's love of color was demonstrated early in antiquity. Each region and sub-region of the globe developed its own dye sources. It is estimated that nearly 1,000 different plants, vines, shrubs and trees were, at one time or another, employed for extracting dyes. However, only a few of the primitive dyes survived to ancient and medieval times.

Indians Popped Corn Popcorn was raised by the Indians long before Columbus arrived in the Western hemisphere. It became an important commercial crop about 1880. Formerly it was supposed that the popping of corn was caused by the volatilization of oil in the grain. The explosion is due simply to the formation of steam within the grain when it is heated—neither air nor volatile oil, experts say, is concerned in the process. Popcorn with a louder "pop" has been developed.
