Cleaves Temple C.M.E. Church
25th and Decatur St.
C. P. Raines, Pastor

Today is known as Low Sunday. The Sunday that Jesus made his last appearance before his disciples in the Upper room. It happened about every twenty-five years that the Sunday following Easter falls on a first Sunday.

Those of us desiring were given the privilege of kneeling around the altar and offering a prayer to God.

Presiding Elder D. L. Silly delivered the sermon this morning from St. Jude 23rd verse. Thomas saved from Fire. There is only one chapter and 25 verses in the Book of Jude, the Bible is incomplete. Jude found a love drought. He wrote seriously about love, mercy and peace. The world is dying for the things that Jude advocates. Love, Mercy, and Peace.

The service sponsored this afternoon at 3:30 p. m. by the Loyal Matrons Club, with the Rev. Clayton and his Church, Mt. Olive Baptist Church in charge was a great success. Visitors are always welcome. Please return again. Let us always pray for and visit the shut-ins.

BRINGING CHRIST TO THE NATIONS

St. Louis, April 4, Special—"Full Speed Ahead" should be the watchword of American Christianity in the present crisis, Dr. W. A. Mair, professor at Concordia Seminary, declared here in an International Lutheran Hour broadcast which emphasized the need for speed in supporting the Gospel. "Atheist Communism," Dr. Mair stated, "today is spreading more rapidly proportionately than the Christian faith. Thirty years ago it numbered only a handful of followers; while today it counts more than 20,000,000 registered supporters in practically every large country. The first World War gave rise to organized political atheism; the 2nd World War has given Communism control of one-fifth of the earth's habitable surface; a third global conflict can give unbelief and blasphemy control of the entire globe."

Emphasizing that the idea of haste and immediate action in the Churches work was introduced especially after Christ's resurrection, the radio speaker asked the churches to use all modern facilities in giving the risen Christ's comfort and power a quick course around the world. He declared He declared that radio is one of God's mightiest gifts for expediting the message of salvation and predict that television would play a mighty part in the Church's expansion. He asserted that now is the time for churches to erect their own tel-

To the Churches of Omaha:
The executive committee of the Omaha Council of Churches has unanimously approved the recommendation of its Social Education and Action Committee that Sunday, April 4, be observed in the churches as Good Government Sunday.

As President of the Omaha Council of Churches, therefore, I earnestly request that you give every consideration possible to this plan in your church. Across the country, cities the size of Omaha can maintain good government only at the price of eternal vigilance. A clean city in which we want to bring up our children, and such as you and the Omaha Council of Churches desire, is dependent in large measure on its elected public officials. The course of good government in Omaha will be shaped at the polls April 13 and May 11.

It is of utmost importance that the candidates for public office shall be nominated in the Primary by our best citizens, and not merely by a handful of people who will ex-

Rev. Joseph H. Jones, Pastor

Sunday was a high day at Tabernacle; The pastor delivered a message inspiring to Christians and convicting to the sinner, the text: St. John 3:7. Theme: "Ye Must Be Born Again". These words were spoken by our Lord, said Rev. Jones, more than 1900 years ago, but are as much alive to day as the Savior who spoke the words, and has a moral application for the world to day. Irrespective to our moral goodness, we all were born under the influence of the sin of the first Adam, consequently we must be born under the second Adam, Jesus Christ; as a result Jesus told this teacher of Israel and the world to day, to our wonder, nor be astonished, nor surprised, neither curious; but ye all must be born again.

We ask your prayers and your presents at the Tabernacle Church. The Rev. M. L. Wilson was our guest speaker Sunday evening. He delivered a very inspiring message from Hebrews 12:2. Theme: Jesus the author of our Faith. Included with our visitors are the names of persons who worshiped with us last Sunday, their first time: Mmes. Anna Bell Strong, 2613 Grant St. Emma Harding and Eva Elam 2723 Binney St., Mr. and Mrs. Wleton Hogan, and baby, 3239 Evans St., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ureal, 2518 Patrick Ave. Mr. James Greer 3331 Emmet St., Mr. Bert Wilson, 1411 N. 19 St.

ercise this power by default if our church people do not go to the polls in large numbers.

In our city of 225,000, the Primary vote has often run as high as 15,000 or 20,000. Our church voters alone should muster considerably more than this number. We must urge this duty of citizenship as a minimum measure of assuring good government in Omaha.

With deep concern for our city, the Omaha Council of Churches has printed at heavy expense 50,000 folders for distribution in the churches: "A Good Christian is a Good Citizen". We desire full distribution of these folders in every congregation next Sunday. One church will distribute 2,500 in church bulletins, send them home by Sunday school children, hand them out in the women's meetings, etc. Will you use the enclosed post card to let us know by return mail how many you can use in your church? These will be mailed to you as soon as possible after they are received from the printer on March 31. Use them lavishly.

On a separate sheet we suggest ways in which Good Government Sunday can be made effective. Use your own good judgement in planning for the day. We have been gratified at the splendid emphasis which has already been given in many

The Vision of Christ was used by our minister for his Sunday sermon April 4th, the Sunday after Easter. "I have seen the Lord." His thoughts for the beautiful and warm Christian message was a follows: "Any man that demands his fellowman to fall at his feet; something is wrong with that man. When a man gets so good that than man can't stoop and lift up his fellowman out of the gutter, something is wrong with that man's Christianity. We suffer from the lack and unwillingness of men and women who will dedicate their service to God's church; not educational qualification, intelligence, or ability and talent for we have these all in abundance at St. John's.

Converts: Marlene Taylor, Accessions: Darwin Montgomery, Lavinia Adams, Deloris Taylor, LaVerne Taylor.

Let us pray for the sick throughout the week wherever they may be who ever they may be. St. John's pastor, wife, officers and membership pause a moment to pray that the Almighty God might find favor in the receiving the soul and body of our departed brother, member and friend Brother L. L. McVay.

To the bereaved family our most sincere heartfelt sympathy goes out to you in this great loss, may God bless him and keep him and in the better world he has gone to may you all meet on that great day in joyous reunion.

Now that the tribute paid to our Risen Christ during Holy Week and Easter Sunday is over let us turn our heads again toward the future; the continuous progressive strides in the completion of our edifice. Let each of us make our contribution each Sunday to the building fund according to our God-given ability.

The need of Sunday School Teachers to man our ever growing Sunday school is acute; come give a portion of your service today. Sunday April 11 1948 we will celebrate our first anniversary upstairs all day. There will be three services beginning at 11 A. M. and throughout the day.

Our pastor will deliver the Morning Service and the Reverend J. B. Brooks will deliver the three o'clock sermon.

Mrs. Carrie Carter who will have charge of the Dining Rm desires all the members and friends of St. John's to bring their Sunday dinner and come celebrate on the history-making day.

Young people don't fail to attend your Allen Christian Endeavor League, each Sunday at 6 p. m.

YOUR FAMILY'S FOOD

By Mrs. Evelyn Halm
Red Cross Nutrition Director
Protein Against Anemia
(from Food and Home Notes)
(USDA)

Traditionally, the man at the head of the table eats big steaks, has two eggs with ham at breakfast and driks tall glasses of milk between meals. But the woman at the other end of the table often is more in need of these and other protein rich foods.

Dr. Ruth Leverton of the Nebraska Experiment Station believes that women generally need to change their food habits and eat more protein in order to keep the hemoglobin of their blood at healthy levels. Observation of the eating habits of almost any group of women, she says, reveals that they eat small amounts of protein foods.

In nutritional anemia, the hemoglobin of the red cells of blood is low. The cause has been thought to be too little iron, but a long series of studies by Dr. Leverton indicates that it is more likely to be too little of protein.

In 100 studies of colleges girls at the Nebraska Station, Dr. Leverton found that anemia was not consistently present in girls on diets low in iron but instead was related to the protein in their diets. The girls who had normal hemoglobin in spite of low iron intake were getting 60 grams of protein daily while those with low hemoglobin had only 45 grams of protein.

In another study, a group of anemic girls were given supplements to build up their blood. Some received iron tablets others received extra protein in meat, dairy products or legumes. The girls who received the iron stored most of it in their bodies but still were anemic. The others who received most an extra protein food improved their hemoglobin levels. Those who improved most had an extra serving of meat daily in addition to their regular diet.

Nebraska studies of expectant mothers and women blood donors during the war also showed a direct relationship between the amount of protein in the daily meals and hemoglobin levels.

Here's What Salvaged Fat Containers Weigh

Fats should be saved and sold to meat dealers in tin cans, not glass or paper containers. Glass breaks in handling and causes wastage. Paper is difficult to handle.

The following table gives the weights of various sizes tin cans. Dealers will deduct this weight in figuring the net amount of fat contained in the tin.

RICHARD H. LARSON
Richard H. Larson, who is well known to Omaha's, served a term on the Railway Commission ending January 1947.
The Railway Commission is an important state office affecting all of us.
The Norfolk Daily News, in an editorial, said in part:
Those who had business with the railway commission during M. Larson's term class him among the ablest.
Prices Outstrip Output
From 1915 to 1919, total U. S. farm income rose 180 per cent but farm production went up only about 25 per cent.
