WHERRY FOR U. S. SENATOR COMMITTEE
Senator Kenneth S. Wherry, Republican of Nebraska, told the Omaha Guide today that he blocked a Senate move to act against negro leaders advocating "civil disobedience" because he felt it would unfairly agitate against all members of the colored race.

The Senate action was attempted on motion by Senator Eastland, Democrat of Mississippi, against Grant Reynolds, Member of the New York State Commission of Correction. Mr. Reynolds and A. Philip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, testified that unless segregation and discrimination were ended they would advocate that negroes refuse to obey military service orders.

Senator Eastland urged the Senate to bring the case of Mr. Reynolds directly to the attention of Governor Dewey of New York, under whom he works. Nebraska Senator Wherry imposed the objection which prevented floor consideration. Later Senator Wherry explained that he feels both Mr. Reynolds and Mr. Randolph were "terribly wrong" in advocating such action, and that he is confident that most negroes would not follow such a course in time of national emergency.

"For this reason it seemed to me fair to the vast majority of the negro population of our country to allow further publicity in the United States Senate which would serve only to arouse racial animosity and prejudices," Senator Wherry said.

Plants That Swim
Despite the fact they are plants, and not animals, many species of water algae are able to move about by swimming. Brown algae range in size from forms that can be seen only under the microscope to others 200 feet long. Algae differ from fungi in that they can extract and build up their food from inorganic substances. Seaweeds are the most familiar representatives of the algae family.

An airliner travels 464,000 miles per year, compared to an average Pullman distance of 145,000 miles. Since Pearl Harbor the number of civil pilots in the United States has increased about 400 per cent, from 100,800 in 1941 to 400,000 last year. The past year America's swarm of civilian planes increased nearly 122 per cent. The planes and pilots are aided by nearly 5,000 farmers who voluntarily make daily observations for the U. THE CLOWNING FINALE brings smiles to the Nicholas Brothers and Gene Kelly starring in MGM's color production of "The Pirate". (See story below)

MGM MAKES BIG STEP FORWARD
Starring Nicholas Brothers With Gene Kelly
New York, (CNS)—The press preview this week of "The Pirate", a former Alfred Lunt-Lynno Fontanne successful vehicle, surpassed all expectations in proving that Metro Goldwyn Mayor still leads in the film industry for liberal-making pictures, for their dramatic idea of coupling the world-famous Nicholas Brothers with actor Gene Kelly not only produced good entertainment but good taste.

where Manuela (Judy Garland) is being married off to wealthy Don Pedro Vargas, the Mayor of their village, for financial reasons. The cargo ship brings the egotistical, adventurous Scarfin (Gene Kelly) to the Island with his troupe of clowns, actors, and jugglers, among them the dancing Nicholas boys. After much protesting, Manuela succumbs to Scarfin's exaggerated charms and therein the story plunges into wild action and suspense.

The musical direction, under Lennie Hayton and the production by Arthur Freed, both who have done much for the success of Lena Horne, rates the true MGM 4-star banner. Best numbers were "Nina", song and dance novelty by Gene Kelly and "Mac-lavart" by Judy Garland, all Colo Portor music.

FREEDOM TRAIN PAGEANT

The Freedom Train Pageant was the most original and unique plays I've seen in a long time. The costumes and actors were so original and the pageant was so well done, that it left the audience very well pleased. Many would like a repeat performance. And to those who did not see it, please don't fail to see it if its presented again. They played to a full house. Robert Meyers was very good as Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Mortenson were good in as George and Martha Washington. Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Jones were original as, in the Days of '49, Mr. Jones was wearing a coat that was 75 years old. The many other players were very good. The music for the pageant was supplied by Dave Alexander's orchestra.

Used cooking fat is the only thing that often goes into the garbage pail that can be sold for cash. Orange skins, potato peelings and eggshells are not redeemable, but meat dealers do pay for every pound of used cooking fat. Conserve and turn in every pound to ease the shortage of fats and oils.

So this is HOUSEKEEPING

It was such fun to decorate our own home. We planned the color schemes, selected the furniture, draperies, rugs, and wall coverings and then assembled and arranged them in a pleasing pattern. But just like all newlyweds nowadays we paid so much for our furnishings that we had very little left in our budget for the future. I could see that what we had would have to last a long time and it was up to me to see that they did. But I didn't quite relish the idea of making myself a drudge to our home either.

I called Jane and asked how she kept her home looking so clean and fresh all the time and still had plenty of time for other things. "Why, I use Cream Wax," replied Jane. "It's simply wonderful for furniture and woodwork. It's a creamy white liquid that cleans and polishes in one application. And best of all, it contains no oil to catch dust. The wax leaves a hard, dry finish that makes cleaning so simple. I merely whisk a cloth over my furniture and the dust disappears like magic."

"I use it for almost everything in our house—for my cupboards, venetian blinds, window sills, doors, parchment lamp shades, picture frames, metal ash trays, leather goods, refrigerator, and many other things. You should see how easy it is to remove smudges and fingerprints from my woodwork with Cream Wax!"

"Not only does it clean and polish my woodwork and furniture, but it protects the finish as well, particularly window sills that are likely to become damp and wet when the windows have been left open during a shower."

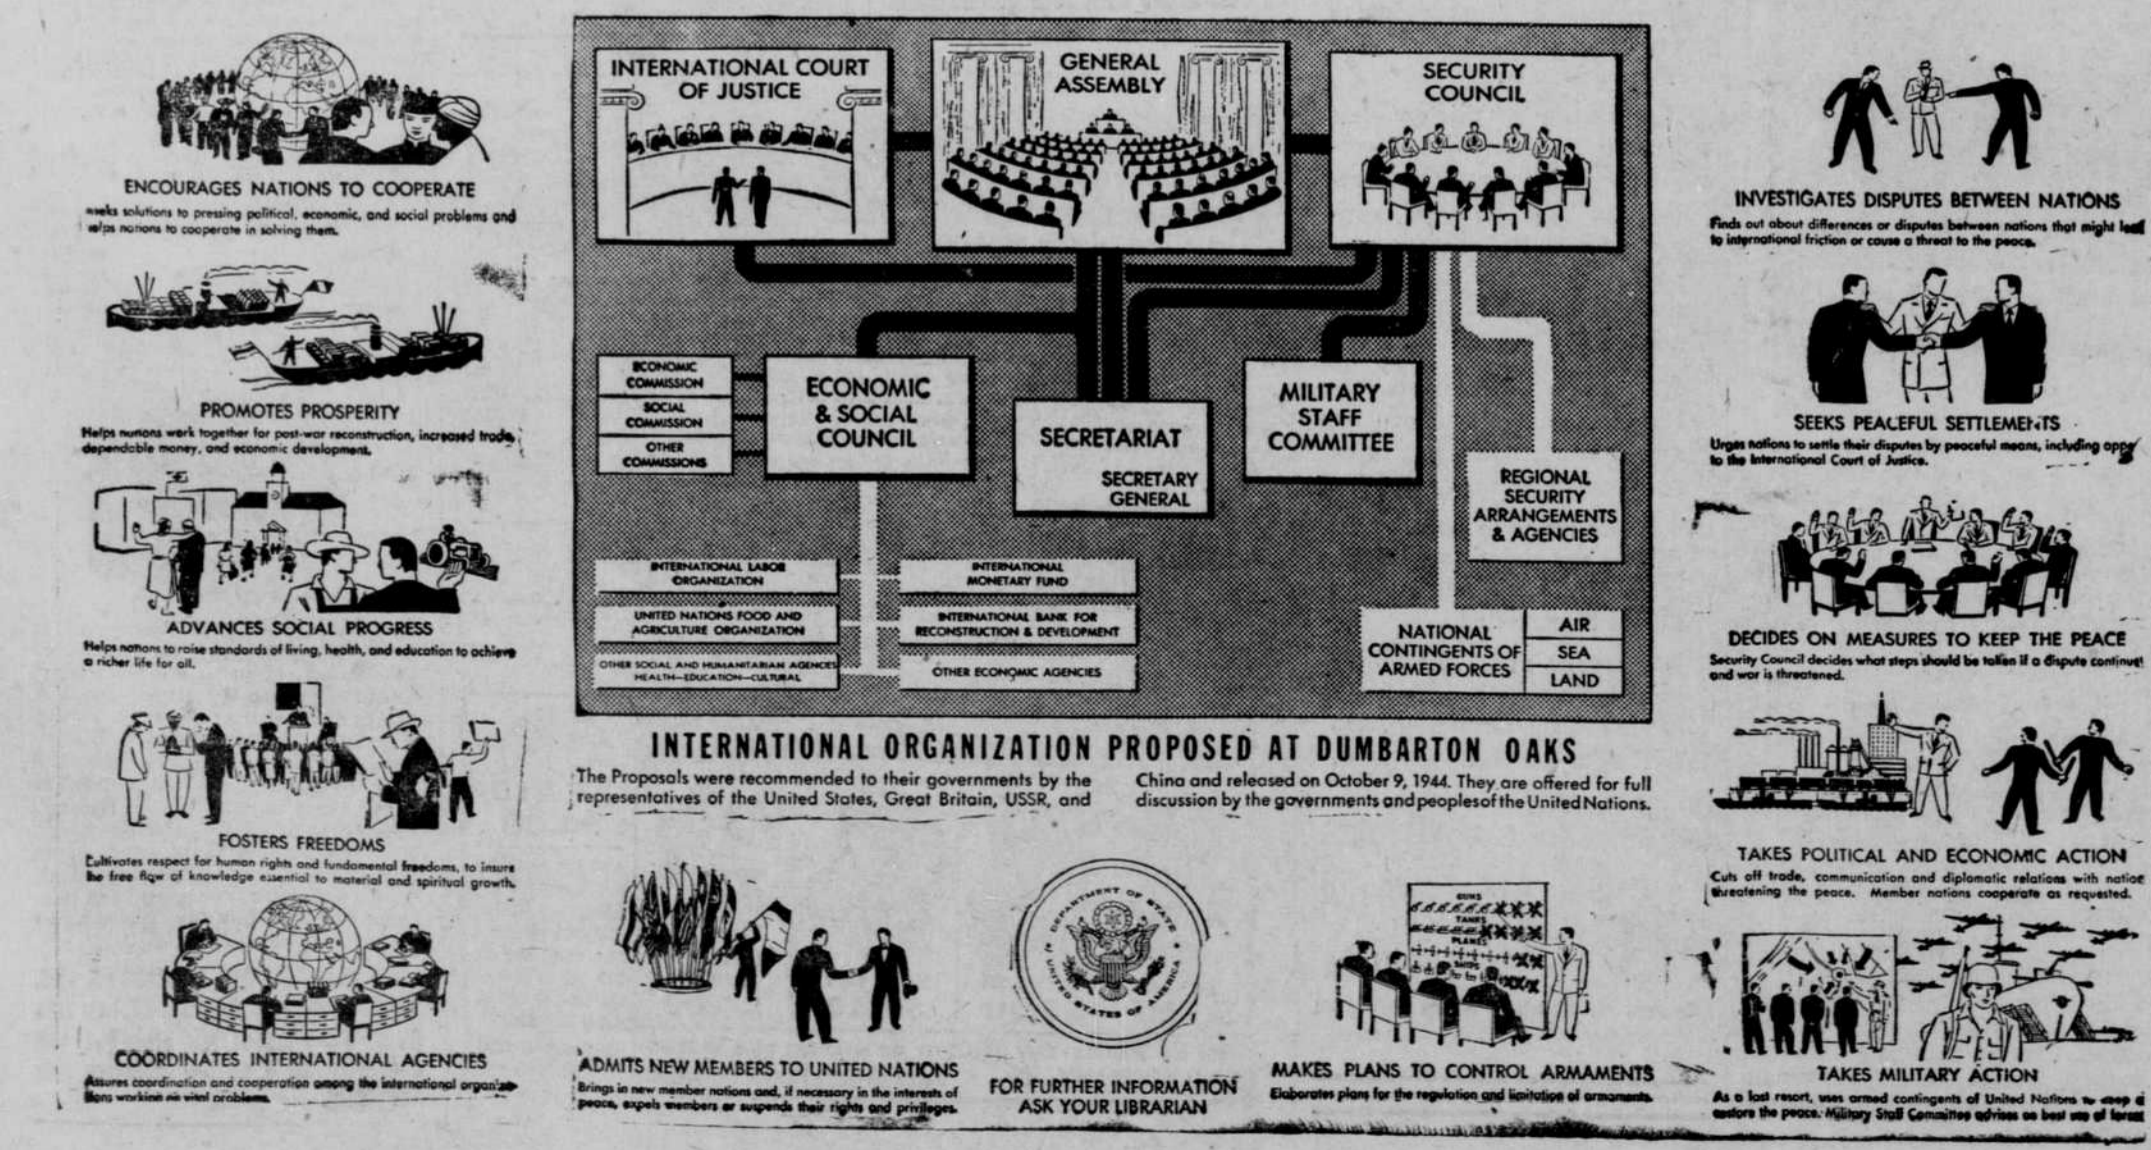

"Cream Wax, I understand, is a new development by Johnson's chemists. It contains three cleaning agents and leaves a hard, dry film of wax to protect the surface from dust and grit. I'm certainly glad I found it. It cuts my housecleaning time in half."
