

TUSKEGEE'S FOOD SHOW

Daily discussions and demonstrations on food preparation made the third annual food show and nutrition institute held at Tuskegee recently one of the most interesting and informative ever held. The above scenes show some of the participants of the institute, among whom William Faw, operation of the Faw chaid of southern hotels.

tral Chef Board, and Headwaiter Ross, B. & O; Chef Yarborough, Tuskegee Veterans hospital; Headwaiter Tielman, Illinois Central; Chef Harrison, Mills restaurant, Cincinnati, and the Misses Modane Marchbanks, demonstrator, Association of Margarine manufacturers, Chicago and her assistant, Queen Ester Dorn, Tuskegee commercial dietetics student.

LAN—I want to know if I will be successful if I take a course of study? I have been thinking of nurse training and beauty culture. Which should I consider?

Ans: You are past the age limit to enter nurse training. Probably you are qualified as a nurse's aid. There is always a demand for practical nurses and this would be wonderful experience. Should you decide to take up beauty culture—within a year you can become a licensed operator. A beauty course would be a good business investment.

RL—My husband and I have been married nearly 2 years and have been getting along as happy as any two people in love. Lately, we don't seem to click just right. He tells me to go sometimes but soon changes his mind. What's the trouble?

Ans: Here of late you are failing to cooperate and are quibbling over small, insignificant happenings that should be overlooked. Making an issue of little things is inviting trouble. When your husband gets a bit on edge—let that be the cue for you to warm up and soothe his feelings. Don't feel that you must exert your authority at a time like this—it will cause friction.

MHW—Please tell me why it is when I get out to work it is always three or four months before I can get another job? Please print this in next week's paper.

Ans: There's no reason why you should be without work for that length of time. Apparently you don't know how to go about finding work. You can get a job immediately if you go about it in the right manner. Send 25c for one of the happier living Lessons & I will send you information to help you get employment right away.

WRC—I need sound advice. I am nearing 40 and should know better. I find myself desperately in love with my young roomer and it makes me unhappy because I know he doesn't care for me. Still, I care for him. He is so nice and gentleman like. Don't you think it would be best if I asked him to move because his staying here brings me unhappiness?

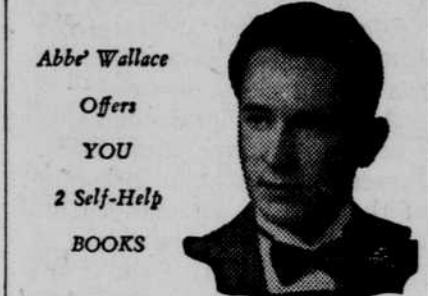

Ans: Ask for your room if you prefer. However, it is only a question of time until you realize that you are only infatuated—you are definitely not in love with him. It's perfectly natural for you to admire this genteel young man but you are mistaking admiration for love.

MLV—I lost a member of my family last year and received insurance compensation. I want to know would it be wise to buy a home with the money I received, and would I come out all right? I have a place in view but the price seems high.

Ans: Buying a home would be a fine investment for you to make with the insurance you received. Go ahead with your plans to purchase the home you have been looking at recently. The price seems high but property has advanced quite a bit these past few years. You won't be able to buy the kind of place you want for less than what you have seen asked to pay.

HONOR ROLL LEADER

Eleanor Starks, June graduate at South High School was the honor roll leader with 5 1/2 credits in ones. Eleanor heads a list of several hundred at the South high school who have ones in two or more credits. The roll was compiled the day report cards were given out at South, Friday, June 11th. Eleanor is the winner of the Alpha Kappa Alpha scholarship at commencement Thursday evening, June 10, at the Tech high school.

Eleanor has ad music for a chief interest at school outside her studies. She sings soprano with the A Cappella choir and won honors in a duet in the state contest in April.

She belongs to the school chapter of the National Honor Society and has been on the honor roll every term. Other activities are Y-Teens, Library Service League, Hall duty, and teacher's helper.

Her sister Ernestine Starks, was commencement speaker for the January 1948 class at South.

Eleanor is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Starks, of 2533 Washington Streets.

PROGRAM HONORS DORIE MILLER
Artists appearing at a Doie Miller foundation program in

When the Alabama Association for the New Home Makers of America recently held their head state meeting at Tuskegee institute, an important feature was the presentation of a check for $1,000 to the infantile paralysis center as a gift from the national NHA.

The money will be used to purchase equipment for the classroom unit of the center which is a part of their rehabilitation program. Left to right are Mrs. Carrie J. Hale, R. N. Dr. John W. Chenault, director of the infantile paralysis center; Helmer Moore, retiring president of the Alabama association presenting the check to Dr. Chenault and Mrs. Bettye Steele Turner, itinerant teacher-trainer for the state of Alabama and adviser to the girls. The group gave a similar contribution to the infantile paralysis center last year.

CELEBRANTS AT A M & N DIAMOND JUBILEE

The 75th anniversary celebration of the founding of the A M & N college, Pine Bluff, Ark., last April 23-30, drew a host of outstanding figures in educational circles, both from within and without the state. Pictured above are a few of those participating in the diamond jubilee program.

Loisville; C. A. Hicks, assistant supervisor, Negro education; President L. A. Davis, Mrs. J. B. Watson, widow of former President Watson; and Dean Wilson. Back row: Editors Harry Ashmore, Arkansas Gazette; Stinnett, Department of Education Journal, Arkansas; Ed McCuiston, Department of Education; Dr. Louis Hinkle Coggins, Chicago, 1938 alumnus; Dr. G. Stanley Ish, and Atty. Joseph R. Booker.

on "Leadership in a Changing South". He was chairman of the meeting.

Bottom, center: Two past administrators of A. M. & N. join hands with the current president, Lawrence A. Davis, in carrying out activities of the anniversary celebration. Pictured are: President Davis; Mr. Malone, now a civilian aide at Fort Knox, Ky.; and Jefferson Ish, an official of the Supreme Liberty Life Insurance company, Chicago, and also an ex-president of the A. M. & N.

CIO Campaign in the South Doubles Membership

Washington—The CIO reports that it has doubled its membership in Dixie during the two years of its southern organized drive.

Van A. Bittner, National Director of the CIO Organizing committee, said the CIO had 400 thousand members in its unions in the South when the drive began. Mr. Bittner said

22 CIO organizers and local union leaders were physically beaten in Dixie organizing efforts but "there has been a definite improvement in the civil rights situation."

The CIO announced a goal of 1 million new members when the drive began. Its claimed 400 thousand new members is 4 per cent of the target.

TRAFFIC NEWS

School's out! Watch Out! That's the advice to motorists from the Nebraska State Safety Council as school doors throughout the state and nation close for the summer months.

"During this summer vacation months of '47 in Nebraska, traffic accidents claimed the lives of 19 school students," the council stated.

If further reported that although the 1948 summer vacation period is hardly under way, already 2 school students have been killed in traffic accidents. Figures of the National Safety Council show that 2,600 children from 5 to 14 years were killed in traffic last year. Nearly 150,000 others of ages as this were struck down by autos but recovered. Seventeen thousand youngsters were hit while riding bikes. "For constant watchfulness on the part of the motorists," Dwight Havens, President of the council, pointed out. Boys and girls in the excitement of play can easily forget safety rules momentarily. Their forgetfulness, however, should not be punished by death or injury," Havens continued. Drivers must be on guard for boys and girls, particularly during the summer months when youths will not have the protection afforded during the school months by the safety patrols and teachers."
