To be sure Grandpa, prowling in the cellar would trip over old Grandma's butter; but he sure would have to wear stilts to do it now. . . BRINGING CHRIST TO THE NATIONS

St. Louis, Mo., July 11, 1948 (Special)—A plea for a larger measure of trust in Christ's mercy was made today by the Reverend Lawrence Acker, pastor of First Lutheran church, Omaha, and summer guest speaker on Bringing Christ to the Nations, the International Lutheran Hour. Speaking over the Mutual Broadcasting System and affiliated stations, Pastor Acker declared: "What is sin? Sin is everything that does not agree with the law of God. Sin is lawlessness; it is disobedience against God. When Adam and Eve ate the forbidden fruit in the Garden of Eden, they sinned because they disobeyed God, who had told them they should not eat of the tree in the middle of the garden. However, sin is also our failing to do what God tells us to do. God very plainly says in His Word that to him that knoweth to do good and doeth it not, to him it is sin. And so that there be no misunderstanding, let me add that sin is EVERY departure from the rule of the Divine Law."

Pastor Acker continued: "What is meant when the Bible says that our God is gracious? It means that our God has compassion towards us unworthy beings; that He does not want one single soul to be lost eternally, but desires that all men be saved: that He will abundantly pardon every sinner, even the greatest of all sinners, if that sinner will return to Him and ask that he be cleansed from his sins by the Almighty power of God, and for the sake of Jesus Christ."

Pastor Acker concluded: "Jesus, the true Son of God, willingly did what His Father asked Him to do. He laid aside man, He clothed Himself with his heavenly glory. He became our flesh and blood, and was like you and me, excepting that He had no sin. In our stead, He fulfilled the Law of God, did what we could not do, did it so perfectly that even his worst enemies had to declare publicly that they could find no fault with Him. Upon Him, God laid the iniquity of us all. He was the Lamb of God upon whom God laid the sin of all people of all times. We were wounded for our transgressions. He was buried for our iniquities. On account of our sins He was smitten, stricken and afflicted; on account of our sins He was crowned with many thorns and nailed to the cross of Calvary; on account of our sins He died, giving His life as a payment for our sins. . . NOW the Lord God invites you to come to Him, assuring you that in Him you will find full salvation from your sins and rest for your souls. Will you come? O come, come now, accept Jesus as your Savior and all will be well with you."

With Grain of Salt
Not so many years ago salt was used in payment of a fine in central Africa. When a murder was committed, according to custom, the community in which the murderer lived was responsible for paying the blood-money. The chief of the village went around on an appointed day and collected from each of his subjects two cupped handfuls of salt. This was pooled to form payment for the life taken.

St. John's A. M. E. Church

Talking with Jesus was the subject chosen by our minister for the 11 a. m. sermon Sunday July 11, 1948. His congregation listened attentively to his thought-provoking sermon from the Book of John. His thoughts for the day was as follows: "Christian religion is the Alpha and Omega of Life, and until a man or woman has found Christ, he or she hasn't found true spiritual life, Christianity is divine, therefore we must let man see Christ through us, if man is born again in Christ he becomes a new creature in the sight of Jesus Christ and his fellow-man."

THE COMMON DEFENSE

By Rev. William C. Kernan
Confidence in America
One receives letters sometimes pointing out defects in our society, the miscarriage of justice, and the oppression that some Americans undoubtedly suffer. And the question is always asked, Do you call that democracy?

We do not call that democracy. We do not regard injustice lightly. We work to overcome it. We do pretend that a perfect state of affairs reign in our country. But, neither do we become cynical about America. For cynicism wins no victories for freedom. Confidence does. The morbid, almost psychopathic habit, that some people have, of always berating our society—of never recognizing any good in it—cannot breed confidence in free institutions either among our own people or among people of other lands who look to us for help in time of need.

Yet, we have plenty to tell the "peoples of the world about what democracy is, the principles upon which it rests and in accordance with which it grows. We should say very candidly that, while deploring our defects, we are making a serious effort to form our life in America so that every individual may enjoy his rights and have equal opportunity to develop his talents. That is good news today to people in many parts of the world whose lives in their own countries are considered worthless and for whom, under their form of government there is no hope whatever.

We should tell the peoples in foreign lands of the progress that has been made—yes, that is being made—in America toward the realization of freedom for more and more people. We should tell them how we began with a very small degree of religious freedom—of how we began with educational opportunities limited to few children—of how we now have a great, nation-wide system of free public schools—of how we began with very few American enjoying the right to vote—of how the recognition of the right to vote has been extended until it applies to both men and women of every race, creed national origin, and class—of how the effort to prevent Negroes and poor whites from voting in some parts of the country.

There is scarcely anything the peoples of foreign lands—who suffer under oppression—would rather hear than that. There is scarcely anything else that can champion the cause that can give them more hope and make them turn their eyes to America as their friends and champion.

And, as for ourselves—the realization of what we have done, by God's grace is itself the source of confidence that we can, and will, do more.

DEATH RATE ON FARMS DOUBLE
NON-AG LEVEL
Chicago, Ill.—Farm workers, colored and white, had an accidental death rate twice as high as workers in non-agricultural industries in 1947, the National Safety Council reports, this week.

The 1947 death rate for farm workers was 52 per 100,000 workers, while in non-agricultural industries the death rate, was 26.
The high farm work death rate gave added significance to Farm Safety Week, proclaimed by President Truman for July 25-31, which seeks the elimination of at least 30 million farm hazards. Each member of a farm family was asked by the President to accept personal responsibility for the elimination of at least one source of accidents during the week.
19,500 Farm residents, Colored and White, Die
Other highlights of the Council's annual farm accident report were:

1. Total farm residents deaths were 19,500, about the same as last year. Injuries totaled about 1 million, 800 thousand.
2. Farm home deaths totaled 7,000, with approximately one million 50 thousand non-fatal injuries.
3. Motor vehicles killed 7,300 farm residents in 1947 and injured 250,000 more.
4. The total of 4,300 farm work deaths was down 4 per cent from 1946, but it will represent 25 per cent of the nation's occupational death toll for 1947.
5. Public non-motor vehicle deaths, such as drownings, took the lives of 1,900 farm residents, a sharp increase of 12 per cent over 1946.
6. Fire destroyed farm property valued at 90 million dollars in 1947, one-sixth of the national fire loos.
