C. B.—Tell me how to get myself untied from a no-good girl? Ans: Refuse to see her again. You realize that you are making a mistake by going around with this young woman so do have the courage of your convictions and stay out of her sight. Make the acquaintance of some other nice girls as soon as you can.

DF—My friend and I have been going steady for a year. He is really nice to me, gives me money and other nice things and wants to marry me. But these things don't satisfy me. I want love. He doesn't go in for kissing and playing around.

RR—Dear Abbie: I have read your column for years and years. It makes me feel good to read the sound advice you give to people I was told that you had a new daughter in your family. Is it true? Ans: It is. I have the prettiest and sweetest little old girl you ever saw. That makes three for me now—two boys 9 and 11 and now a little girl to round out the family. I guess the good Lord just knew I needed a baby a baby daughter to complete my family. I am grateful for your kind words and good wishes, Mrs. R. R., Thanks, Abbe.

RET—Your advice has inspired thousands of others and I know that you can do as much for me in my hour of turmoil. After 19 months in service, I return expecting to get my old job back but found a good friend of mine employed in my place. I did not have the heart to ask for my job back. I am despondent. My wife is expecting our first child next month.

AG—I am 22 with 3 years of college credits. I teach school and my job pays pretty good and I can take care of myself out of it. My problem is my parents. I have no social life at all. Everyone that comes, something is wrong with them. If they return, they will be insulted. I'll die or go crazy if this continues. Tell me what to do? Ans: The answer to your problems is to get a teaching job away from home where you will be on your own. Get out from under your parents' thumb and be independent. Your people mean well—but you cannot allow them to ruin your health and happiness with their selfishness beliefs.

Mrs. X—I am a church worker and my husband is a drinking man. I cannot pull him to church with me unless he is drinking and that is when I do not want him to go along. It seems that every time he gets heavy loaded with whiskey he starts hanging out in the streets or in beer parlors and tries to preach. He vows he has been called to preach.

Ans: Actually your husband wants to live a righteous life. And he would—were it not for his great failing for strong drink. If he had the will to stamp out this desire—he could and would make a strong Christian soldier. Preaching on the street corners while "tight" is sacrilegious. He needs some good minister of the Gospel to interview him when he is cold sober—and still the fear of God in his heart. It might convert him.

EMT—I have been married an have an 8 month old girl. My husband left me when I was three months and asked for a divorce. I haven't been the same woman since. I go out with other guys but I still for my baby's daddy. His memory has almost haunted me to death. I feel my love was meant for just that one man on ly.

Ans: A man who would desert his wife and child as your husband did—is not deserving of your love nor would he make a good father. Get the false idea out of your head—that there is only one man in the world for you. My answer to that is "NUTS." One of these days you will meet a good, kind, and a faithful man who will want to be a father to your child and mak a home for the both of you

LB—I built a home lately and one of my daughters lives with me but we are not happy as we feel that someone is working against us here. I don't think I can be happy here and I wonder if it would be well to sell out and leave and make my home with one of my married daughters?

Ans: Absolutely Not. Keep your new place. There is no one working against you. The whole trouble is that you and your daughter have moved into a strange new neighborhood—and you haven't yet got acquainted. Your neighbors are all good people. Join some of the clubs and organizations in the community—and see for yourself.

TRAINING UNDER THE GI BILL

Nebraska veterans training under the GI Bill who are eligible for increased subsistence benefits from the Veterans Administration were reminded today by VA of an important deadline established by recent law.

Ashley Westermorland, Lincoln regional office manager, said the deadline pertains to those World War II veterans with more than one dependent who are taking part-time training in school, or those affected by the new income "ceiling" in such pursuits as on-the-job training. These veterans must submit proof of the additional dependency by Sept. 1st in order to receive the increased pay retroactively to April 1st. It will not be necessary for veterans with no dependents or only one dependent as of April 1, 1948, to contact the VA because the required information is already on file. Retroactive pay increases will go automatically to these veterans, if they are entitled by law to receive them.

NATIONAL PRESS BUILDING WASHINGTON, D. C.

By Anna Goods If you're in a quandary over something different to serve, why not try curry baked eggs for a change? Hard cook and season the yolk with real mayonnaise, and curry powder. Stuff and bake in a white sauce till well heated—about 30 minutes.

Speaking of eggs, the Patent Office offers rights to a sunction cup which enables you to remove a hot-boiled egg from the shell without burning your fingers.

Something I want to see, which I've heard about, is a woman's brush which brushes the hair, makes a curl and inserts the bobby pin—all in one operation! Don't you?

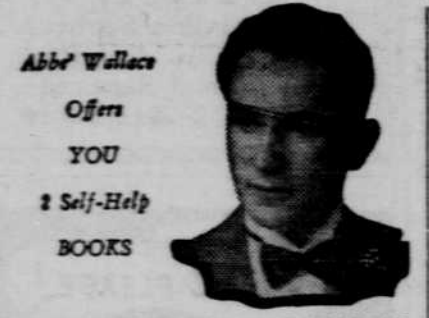

Something to delight a child's heart, particularly at a party, is a ball of vanilla cream with features painted on with melted chocolate. With a cone hat, there's the funniest clown you've ever seen.

Saw a fashion show the other day of fall clothes, and how pretty they were. Certainly the most lady-like we've seen in years. Silhouettes were slender, shoulders were padded, but not overly so, and hips were natural. Pockets and collars were the details which made news because of their interesting treatment.

Make your youngster feel important by stitching his or her name on white bedroom curtains with colored rickrack braid. How they love the "personal touch."

Give Plants Milk Bath A milk bath will brighten up ivy, philodendrum and snake plants if the look a bit dull. Dip a soft cloth in skimmed milk and lightly rub the surface of the leaves that appear dull. Is the advice of Cornell specialists.

Newest Range Boasts Two Ovens

CHICAGO—One of the features of this new electric range shown at the midsummer session of the nation's furniture market here is two ovens. With redesigned and improved labor saving devices the new deluxe model was exhibited by the Frigidaire division of General Motors corporation. Signal lights instantly tell if oven heat is on. Other features include circular heating elements that provide five different degrees of heat, automatic oven controls, vented ovens so steam or grease cannot mar walls or surface units, two electrical outlets for small appliances and a three-purpose Thermizer which is interchangeable as a small oven, deep well cooker or surface unit.

JOB GUARANTEES EXTEND TO VOLUNTEERS AND RESERVISTS

A recent survey indicates that industrial organizations in this area are shaping specific policies and plans establishing re-employment rights for volunteers returning to extended active duty with the Armed Forces, Fifth Army Headquarters announced today.

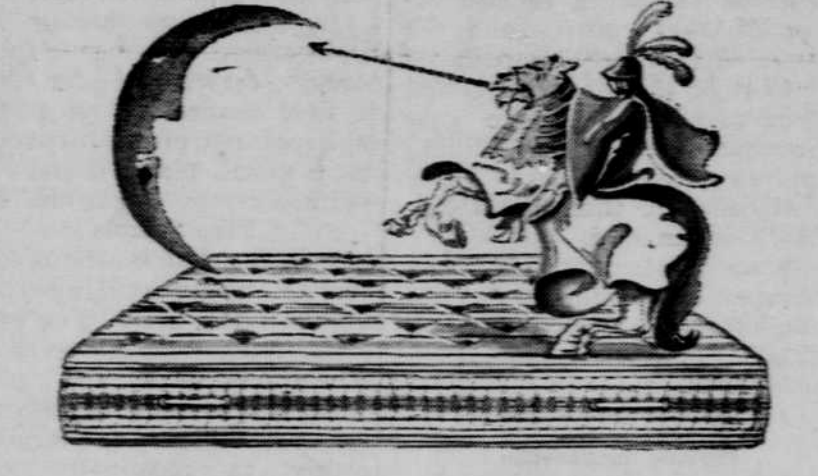

There has been some misunderstanding, a Fifth Army spokesman said, about the job status of volunteers. Jobs of men without prior service who voluntarily enlist for three years, as well as jobs of reserve officers and reserve enlisted men called to active-duty are fully protected under the 1948 draft legislation, he said.

Job protection to volunteers and reservists, who are needed to train the draft Army, is the same prevailed during the World War II. The employee must reapply within ninety days after completing his military service, and he is entitled to his same job or similar job without loss of seniority. He cannot be discharged without cause for one year following his return to the job.

PARALYZED VETERANS

Paralyzed veterans, entitled to Federal aid for homes specially designed for wheel chair living, may obtain application forms at any Veterans Administration office or by writing the VA regional office, Lincoln, Nebraska. In making that announcement today, Ashley Westermorland, Lincoln regional office manager, said this new benefit authorized a Federal grant up to ten thousand dollars but not to exceed 50 per cent of cost to the veteran in acquiring such a home. Eligible veterans, he added, are those with war or peacetime service in the armed forces since April 21, 1898, who have a permanent-total service-connected disability due to a spinal cord disease or injury which has resulted in paralysis of the legs and the lower part of the body.

Westermorland said eligible veterans who desire to use VA model plans for such housing units will receive them free of charge upon request. The VA plans call for ramps instead of steps or stairs; wider halls and doorways, larger rooms, special bathroom fixtures and exercising facilities, he added.

WHERE YOUR USED FATS GO

Smart and thrifty homemakers sell their used fats to meat dealers. That's the first step of the program in which everyone concerned benefits again and again. Meat dealers, in turn, sell used fats to renderers. They, too, make a cash profit. Renderers process and refine cooking fats which are then ready for hundreds of industrial uses. Renderers sell refined kitchen grease on the open market to the highest bidder. In this way everyone shares; homemakers, meat dealers, renderers and industry and you provide raw material in your kitchen for industry.

Members of the Board of Curators will address the entire faculty, workers, and student body. Classes in all divisions begin following this convocation. Reservations for housing, which is still limited here, must be made in advance by all who plan to live in one of the campus residence halls. First Insurance First type of insurance issued in the United States was marine insurance. The first office was opened in New York City in 1759.
