

Abbe's Advisory Column TO HELP YOU LIVE A HAPPIER LIFE THE ABBE WALLACE SERVICE

CONFIDENTIAL REPLY BY MAIL. Readers of this column may secure a "private reply" by sending for one of the following:

- Abbe's Wallace Astrology Reading with free advice letter... 25c
Abbe's Happy Living Lesson with free advice letter... 25c
ABBE WALLACE GUIDE & 12-MONTH ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST... $1

Give name, address and birthdate. Explain problem fully and include stamped, self-addressed envelope for a logical analysis of your case. Write to: The ABBE WALLACE Service P. O. Box 11, Atlanta 1, Georgia

M. B.—Have I the wrong opinion of my husband? He is very nice to me. I don't work, just take care of the home chores but sometimes he acts a bit nasty, nor for any cause of my part. I like right and honest doings. When he acts indifferent I tell him about it and he doesn't like that and then he acts real nasty. We never fuss, just speak each other out, then we are through. Am I right in accusing him.

Ans: The accusations you make and the cool, indifferent attitude you assume toward your husband is wrong. You should not accuse your mate of anything unless you have definite proof, even then it is a bad policy to do so. And—you may not think that your habit of speaking him out is not fussing but it is. It antagonizes him and every time it occurs it has a tendency to increase the tension between you. Display a little more love and understanding in your marriage.

L. C.—I received the Happier Living Lesson and have been benefited greatly by it. I enjoy even more reading your most helpful letters of advice which have been a light to my eyes. Here is my problem. My mother-in-law is not well and has sent a railroad ticket for me to come visit her and bring our boy which she has never seen. I really want to go but do not want to leave my husband. He says he thinks it would be nice. Should I go?

Ans: By all means do. She will be overjoyed to see you and her grandson. There is no question but that it will lift her spirits. Plan your trip for the week before Labor Day and your husband can make the trip on the weekend. All three of you can return together.

X. C.—I find your column most interesting. I have had a good paying job for the past eight years but we have little to show for it. I want a comfortable home and a little money to show for it. I want a comfortable home and a little money ahead but my wife lives only for today. If I mention saving, it causes a misunderstanding. Yet, I hate to make such good money and keep mum about it slipping away so fast.

Ans: It's folly to live up everything that you make. You are wise to avoid a misunderstanding with the wife but you can do something about the matter. Set aside a definite sum each pay day for saving. Put this money in the bank and refuse to discuss it further. Continue to give the balance of the check to her to manage as she desires.

S. M.—I graduated from the University this past June. There are three men in my life. One is a successful business man, one is a medical student and one is studying law. All 3 have proposed marriage but I cannot make up my mind. I want to know which one would make the best husband and make me happy in future years. Or should I choose either one?

Ans: You are not ready for marriage. In your anxiety to make a good catch—you are overlooking the most important factor of all—and that is LOVE. When you feel that you have met the one and only man in the world who can make you happy—then you will be ready for marriage. Give up the idea right now and accept the position you have been offered.

G. N.—I met a girl in Texas when I was vacationing there in June. She was nice to me and said she would like to come up to this part of the country and live. She wrote me twice to send her money for her ticket and get her a place to stay. This I did, but she did not come. Now she has written again. Should I send it to her?

Ans: She's not your responsibility so why should you continue to play Santa Clause to her. You favored her twice and went to an awful lot of trouble to get her a rooming place and she did not hesitate to break her promise and disappoint you. You'd be chump to dole out any more money when actually you do not care particularly for the young lady.

SAVE THIS COUPON Special Offer FOR YOU WHO SEEK FINANCIAL HELP

How to Keep Your Money and Attract Good Luck. This book reveals the secret of holding money and attracting good luck as practiced by the ancient money lenders. Special Price $1.00

7 Cures for a Lean Purse. A formula designed to start you on the upward road to financial abundance—a practical guide to security and independence. Special Price $1.00

FILL OUT THIS COUPON CAREFULLY—CHECK THE ITEMS WANTED—PIN MONEY ORDER TO COUPON AND MAIL TO ABBE WALLACE

Your Name: Address: City: State: Your Birthdate: Amount Enclosed $

ABBE WALLACE in care of

The Omaha Guide 2420 Grant CLIP THIS COUPON

THE KING COLE TRIO Hollywood, Calif., Aug. 11. The King Cole Trio, complete with new bassist Joe Comfort, seems to be set here on the coast for quite some time. Immediately upon their return from a Palmor Supper Club engagement in Vancouver, the "blesome threesome" will open at the Red Feather Cafe in Los Angeles for four weeks. This date is to be followed by

MURIEL RAHN SCORES IN 'AIDA'

New York.—Thousands of music and opera lovers, including hundreds of Harlem social and civic celebrities, jammed Triborough Stadium here last Saturday night to witness Muriel Rahn's debut in the title role of 'Aida' with Salmaggi Opera Company. Not since Caterina Jarboro, noted diva, returned from Italy 14 years ago to sing the same hole at the old Hippodrome Theatre, under the same Maestro Salmaggi, have Harlemites witnessed an operatic debut of such proportions. With a brilliant full moon adding to the otherwise glittering display of scenery, lights, and costumes, the 'Opera Under the Stars' exceeded fondest expectations after a postponement last week due to rainy weather.

Miss Rahn, the only Negro in the cast, was easily the star of the evening judging from the 'Bravos' that echoed throughout the stadium whenever her the concentration of gas in the ground, radio pipe locaters will sometimes locate the main when it isn't where it is supposed to be. A lot of experience is necessary to know how to use these instruments.

Metropolitan Gas Construction

Possibly the most outstanding and little realized accomplishment of this department occurred last summer during the change-over to natural gas. Each morning for 74 days the old gas was bled out of the mains and the natural gas introduced into a new section of the city without affecting any one not in the section to be converted that day; really a tremendous undertaking. To do this job required the installation of over 400 hundred valves distributed throughout the system. The installation of these valves was started only a few weeks before the conversion men were in the field and the entire job was done without interfering with the progress of the conversion in any way. The entire procedure required at least a thousand openings or closing of valves.

When this job was completed a little let up seemed in order but it just did not happen that way. More mains are being laid, more services for gas furnaces and then the constant leak patrol and no let up in sight.

Today to keep up with construction work and not let down on other activities the gas construction department have increased their regular crews from 65 to 180. The recruits are mostly high school seniors and college men, who take the work to help them through the college year, incidentally developing fine foot ball muscles. The crews come on in June work through the long vacation and finish in time for college opening.

They in fact receive a real working Utilities Scholarship. The college boys are intelligent, willing workers and make fine crews.

two stanzas at the Club Moderne in Long Beach.

The Trio's lengthy stay on the coast is due to the fact that Nat and the boys have been signed to do eight guest appearances on the Chesterfield radio program from Hollywood. The show also features Peggy Lee and Dave Barbour who have been signed as regulars.

VACATION HAZARDS

You don't get immunity from fire with every purchase of vacation reservations.

Your only guarantee is caution, advises the National Board of Fire Underwriters, this week. Vacationers, regardless of race or color, have to be even more careful than at home, the Board states, because buildings meant only for seasonal use are more likely to have fire hazards than those used year-round.

Summer casualties in cottages and resort hotels run high. Most of the fires are found to be the result of simple carelessness, according to the fire prevention authorities. Although part of the charm of summer homes is their isolation from everything civilized, they pointed out, that means those isolated homes are also far from Municipal fire departments, putting the responsibility of safeguarding the cottage from fire on the vacationer himself.

They advise, before settling into your bungalow for the summer, look it over for possible fire hazards. If you have a refrigerator or other electric appliance, oil it before using it again. Be sure electric circuit won't be overloaded with your extra electric appliances. Take along extra 15 ampere fuses for emergency.

See that your stove is 18 inches from the woodwork and that stove pipes are clear. Place a metal screen in front of the fireplace.

Don't dry clean at home. Any gasoline you must use should be stored outdoors.

Know what to do in case of fire. Learn the location of the nearest fire department. Keep some kind of fire-fighting equipment handy. A garden hose if there's water under pressure available, or a backpack, or other hand spray extinguisher.

In picnicking, be careful about smoking. Don't throw lighted cigarettes or matches anywhere about you. Before leaving a campfire see that all rubbish is cleaned up, and that the fire has been smothered properly with damp earth.

If you're staying in a hotel, be sure you read the safety instructions posted in your room. Find out the exit nearest you, and never smoke in bed.

Don't take any chances. People on vacation generally want to cast aside any suggestion of routine, but the National Board of Fire Underwriters advises, they actually will be a lot more carefree if they follow a few elementary rules for safety.

Give them a WESTINGHOUSE DUO and they'll come Home after school. It's an automatic RADIO-PHONOGRAPH... that plays 50 minutes of uninterrupted recorded music by pressing the single-button control. But you can LIFT OUT the radio and plug it in anywhere. It's a real 2 in 1 instrument! Stunning air-stream cabinet in rich, dark mahogany or toasted blond mahogany finish. This sensational set will bring them home for their after school fun. $99.85

EVERY STUDENT WANTS A Westinghouse LITTLE JEWEL. Here's a console radio in capsule form, packing tone, power and performance you'll have to hear to believe! Styled on all sides, it has a retractable handle for carrying from room to room. Only 9 1/4" x 6" x 6". It's ideal for small spaces. Green and gold or ivory and gold. A swell gift for a smart student! $39.95

A WESTINGHOUSE LIBRARY MODEL. Small, smart and powerful... the ideal radio for bookshelf, mantel or table... rich mahogany veneer cabinet... easy-to-see, easy-to-tune dial... big radio performance that will wow the whole dormitory, at a small radio price that won't upset the budget. $36.95

SO. OMAHA ELECTRIC SHOP 5021 SO. 24th ST Market 3600

VISITS WASHINGTON

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Walker of 2210 North 27th Street, left September 29th for a three week vacation in Washington, D. C. to visit their son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Joe A. Strowler.

They will spend a few days in New York City visiting Mrs. Walker's aunt, Mrs. E. Simplicia.

MEMO To Mrs. Housewife. NATIONAL PRESS BUILDING WASHINGTON, D. C. By Anne Goodie

The last word in shopping comfort comes from a Houston supermarket where self-service customers can sit in a chair and pick their food from a moving belt passing before them.

Remember to save your old summer nylons. Then when cool weather comes you'll be glad, because they can be dyed the lovely deeper colors, the "inky" tones, with all-purpose dye.

Close-toe shoes are outselling the popular open-toe styles in the high price lines, we hear. But nothing replaces the well-kept shoe, so remember to keep all your footwear well shined and brushed.

If you like that tender and so good member of the squash family, zucchini, try preparing this way: slice and saute in vitaminized margarine in a skillet with cubed tomatoes and diced onion.

To remove onion odor from hands, rub with salt immediately. Or perhaps you'll want one of those choppers that's on the market now. It's covered glass cup with inside chopper. Prevents "weeps" and finger stain.

Enjoy that Sunday breakfast! And to get away from the usual bacon and eggs-pan, add baked tomatoes to the menu. Just cut off the tops and season with salt and pepper, a bit of vitaminized margarine and they'll bake while you are doing the rest. Learned Shortland Early James Byrnes learned to write shorthand when 10 years old.

Indians Popped Corn

Popcorn was raised by the Indians long before Columbus arrived in the Western hemisphere. It became an important commercial crop about 1880. Formerly it was supposed that the popping of corn was caused by the volatilization of oil in the grain. The explosion is due simply to the formation of steam within the grain when it is heated—neither air nor volatile oil, experts say, is concerned in the process. Popcorn with a louder "pop" has been developed.

THE ROAD TO HEALTH

By R. H. Carter, M.D., Instructor, Medical Information Atlanta University School of Social Work, Atlanta, Ga. When a child keeps coming home from school with low grades, his parents frequently try to "fix the blame" for the bad report cards. They might scold the youngster himself for being "lazy and inattentive." Or they might feel that "Johnny just can't seem to get anywhere with his teacher this year."

There are children who have special problems, of course, but I'm afraid that parents themselves are sometimes to blame for the bad marks. Responsibility toward John's learning does not end with merely registering him at school. Johnny will get the most out of school if he is healthy and stays healthy, and it is up to his parents to keep a check on the child's health.

I have a young friend who was graduated from high school last June with the highest honors. He hopes to go to college soon and plans to study law. But years ago, when he started elementary school, it certainly didn't look as if little Dick Irving would ever take any honors.

Dick got through the first few years of school without serious mishap. It was in the fourth grade, as studies grew more difficult, that the trouble began. Throughout the fall and winter of that year, his report cards grew steadily worse. The child seemed to be losing weight. He grew listless and irritable and seemed to hate school and everything connected with it.

Finally Dick's teacher visited Mr. and Mrs. Irving. She startled them when she told them she suspected that Dick's grades were low because he wasn't seeing or hearing well. Unfortunately, there was no school doctor or nurse at the time in that particular school and the teacher advised the Irvings to take Dick to his family doctor for a check-up.

The boy's parents were alarmed and brought him to see me the following night. I found that Dick had an accumulation of wax in his ears that was impairing his hearing. With treatment, his hearing improved rapidly. His defective vision took a little longer to correct, but with good medical care and the proper eyeglasses, Dick's sight was greatly improved within a few months. His grades steadily got better and he led his classes in the seventh and eighth grades.

Sometimes a child who seems to be dull and inattentive in school, actually has some physical disability that is responsible for his now marks. The parents who forms the habit of bringing his child to the doctor periodically for a check-up or consults the doctor at the first sign that something is wrong, takes wise steps to insure the child's well-being.

Off to the Shrinkers

Bunny Evans, beautiful Neil Scott Model, is leaving New York to complete at St. Louis on Wednesday, August 18th, for the National title of "Miss Shrinker". Miss Evans has already annexed the title "Miss New York Shrinker" in a contest with New York's most scintillating beauties. The beautiful girl is bound to attract loads of attention wherever she goes because she has chosen as an intergal portion of her wardrobe a fine selection of knitted and crocheted blouses, sweaters, bags and hats. Here Miss Evans is shown wearing one of the blouses which she crocheted herself. You can learn to make this number, too. Send a stamped, self addressed envelope to the home sewing department of this newspaper and receive complete information free of charge.

Add Years to Life Proper oiling of electric motors will add years to their lives. Now is a good time to make a check on the alignment of the bolts and to clean dirt and dust away from the ventilation holes of the motor. If you don't have a delayed-action fuse to protect the motor against overloads, it might be a good idea to install one. All in all, a motor checkup right now may save you hours of time and trouble later on.

Hat—Blouse—Girl

A hat a blouse, and a girl is always a wholesome combination. Particularly is this true in this instance, because Miss Bunny Evans, charming Neil Scott model is wearing the hat and blouse. Miss Evans finds this particularly hat and blouse well suited for street wear on evenings when it is too chilly for short sleeves and for the head to be totally uncovered. There's a crocheted item for every purpose, you can add these two items to your wardrobe by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Home Sewing Department of this newspaper. Clip this article today. We'll send you free of charge complete instructions.