Prayer for the United States

O God our Father, we pray that the people of America, who have made such progress in material things, may now seek to grow in spiritual understanding. For we have improved ends. We have better ways of getting there, but we have no better places to go. We can save more time, but are not making any better use of the time we save. We need Thy help to do something about the world's true problems—The problem of lying, which is called propaganda, the problem of selfishness, which is called self-interest; the problem of greed, which is often called profit; the problem of license, disguising itself as liberty; the problem of lust, masquerading as love; the problem of materialism, the hook which is baited with security. Hear our prayers, O Lord, for the spiritual understanding which is better than political wisdom, that we may see our problems for what they are. This we ask in Jesus' name. Amen.

Sen. Eastland Speaks Of Segregation

Mississippi's Senator Eastland, made a blast against the United States' Supreme Court for its decision outlawing segregation in the United States' Supreme Court for its decision outlawing segregation in schools—at which he charged that such men as Howard University's Dr. E. Franklin Frazier and the distinguished sociologist Gunnar Myrdal—needed investigating because of their indirect participation in the historic decision. Eastland has introduced a resolution citing at least "six men who were persons with Communist or Communist-front records."

Eastland as chairman of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee could be in a position to undertake the investigation he proposes without any specific authorization from the Senate. Only Senator Olin Johnston of South Carolina noted his remarks and said, "I think it

Even Barns Have New Styles; Less Red And Less Size Is Trend

The big red barns, bulging symbols of America's rural abundance, are heading for some changes.

Long adorning the landscape, many picturesque barns stand outmoded by present-day efficiency farming. When they burn or deteriorate beyond use, smaller barns will likely take their place.

There are several reasons. Baled hay needs less space than hay mows. The trend now is against a stall for every cow and toward "roaming" quarters instead. Compact mechanized equipment, housed in a shed, replaces work horses.

MULTI-PURPOSE BARN Already some ultramodern barns have developed, including ones. One new-type structure was spotted by an airplane pilot about 20 miles west of Montreal, Canada. He mistook its glinting surface for a flying saucer. Silver fiber glass sections were fixed in a wooden framework, forming a 32-foot high dome 83 feet across. Beneath it the cattle man sheltered 23 Ayrshire cattle, a year-round feeding lot, milking stalls, several score chickens and turkeys, and his farm implements.

The red barn is no more a standard type of American building now than the little red schoolhouse Red as a predominant color seems definitely passing. Green and white barns are frequently seen—sometimes gray barns. Many farmers strive to make barn and house colors harmonize.

Red barns long ago became an American habit. One explanation is that early upstate New Yorkers is something that ought to be looked into." The rest of the Senate paid scant attention to Eastland and said off the record that they did not anticipate such an inquiry.

Commented Dr. Frazier on Eastland's remarks: "I'm a Socialist and I am under nobody's influence. I do my own thinking, although Mr. Eastland doesn't believe any Negro can think. Anybody who has read my book knows there is no communism in it. Dr. Myrdal is in Europe as executive secretary of the United Nations Economic Commission and Dr. B. H. Brandel of New York University said: "Let my research cited by the Supreme Court speak for itself."

The persons cited will receive their Good Neighbor awards in formal presentations during the year. Next week the judges will announce the organizations and groups selected for special recognition for their good neighbor activities during the last year.
