2 Omahans Drown Sat.

Mr. Frederick De Perkins, 43, years, 2211 Ohio Street, was drowned Saturday morning July 30th when he accidentally fell off the Carter Lake dredge barge about 10:50.

Mr. De Perkins' body was brought from the lake about noon by volunteers and the Omaha Rescue squad and Fire Chief Eugene Fields. Captain Arthur Moran of the Rescue Squad said a rope Mr. De Perkins had been carrying was entangled tightly about him. Mr. De Perkins had gone to work on the day before.

He was drowned in about ten feet of water directly along side of the dredge. Evidently he had gone to fetch a rope stretched along the barge. As he returned carrying the rope over his shoulder he apparently slipped on a pontoon and fell into the water.

Mr. De Perkins had been a resident of Omaha 20 years and was a WW Two Veteran.

Mr. De Perkins is survived by his wife, Mrs. Charlyne De Perkins, two sons, Ronlo, Maceo, two daughters, Deanna, Fredericka De Perkins, of Omaha, step father, Mr. Henry Singleton, Los Angeles, California, sister, Mrs. Ivory Butler, Los Angeles and other relatives.

Pall bearers, Mr. Lyle Lawson, Norman Love, Billy Melton, Bill Taylor, M. Douglas, Cornelius Henderson. Interment was in Soldiers Circle at Mt. Hope Cemetery.

Deer are supposed to shed tears. The drops, however, which fall from their eyes are oily secretions.

FARMING RATED NATION'S 3RD MOST HAZARDOUS JOB

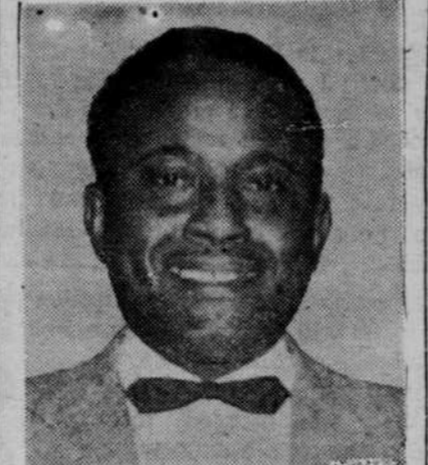

Between 14,000 and 15,000 farm residents will be killed in accidents this year if the 1955 death rate conforms with that of previous years. Another 1,200,000 or more may be injured.

According to the National Safety Council, farming is the nation's third most hazardous industry. Mining and construction have a higher rate of work deaths per 100,000 workers, but agriculture has the highest number of accidental deaths.

Because farm mishaps tend to occur most often during late morning or afternoon hours, when body reflexes are more sluggish, many safety men recommend that rural workers emulate office and factory employees and take brief coffee breaks about 10:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

In one nationwide industrial study, 82 per cent of the personnel interviewed reported that coffee breaks helped to reduce fatigue, 32 per cent reported a lower accident rate.

The National Safety Council included the following among "major unsafe acts" which farmers should guard against: failure to make regular safety inventories; hurry (taking shortcuts that cause accidents); using defective, unguarded, or wrong equipment; inattention (daydreaming while working with heavy machinery or near hazardous work, improper animal handling; violating common sense safety rules; allowing children near dangerous machinery.

What Is Rheumatic Fever?

Rheumatic Fever and Rheumatic Heart Disease have been labeled "Childhood's Greatest Enemy." The reason? Next to accidents, they kill or disable more school-age children than any other cause. However, better methods of care and prevention today bring new hope for young hearts. Knowing the facts about these diseases can spare you needless worry over your child's health. Here are the questions most people ask—and the answers you ought to know.

WHAT IS RHEUMATIC FEVER? Rheumatic fever is a disease that may affect any part of the body—particularly the heart, joints, blood vessels, skin or brain. Damage to the heart may be serious or even fatal, but the effects on other parts of the body are usually temporary.

WHAT IS RHEUMATIC HEART DISEASE? Rheumatic heart disease is the inflammation and scarring of the heart muscle and heart valves as a result of rheumatic fever. This may interfere with the work of the vital "pump" that supplies the blood our bodies need.

DOES RHEUMATIC FEVER ALWAYS DAMAGE THE HEART FOR LIFE? No. Two out of three rheumatic fever patients get well completely or have so little heart damage they can work or play like anyone else.

WHAT CAUSES RHEUMATIC FEVER? The immediate cause is unknown. When rheumatic fever strikes, it usually follows nose and throat infections that are caused by a germ of the streptococcus family. For example, "strep" sore throat, tonsillitis or scarlet fever. Rheumatic fever often starts about two to four weeks after the "strep" infection disappears, but not all "strep" infections are followed by rheumatic fever.

HOW CAN I DECIDE WHETHER MY CHILD HAS RHEUMATIC FEVER? Never try to decide yourself. Let your doctor be the judge at all times.

To Honor Beauticians With Mural

Washington, D. C. — The National Beauty Culturists' League has commissioned Lucille D. Roberts, well-known Washington artist, to do a mural depicting the development of the beauty culturist field.

According to Mrs. Cordelia Greene Johnson, president of the League, Miss Roberts' work will be unveiled in ceremonies at the organization's headquarters in Washington during the 36th annual convention, August 14-18, at which time the beauticians will create its Hall of Fame.

Miss Roberts describes the mural as being a work expressing "the underlying philosophy of 'unity among beauticians.'" It is designed to increase public understanding and acceptance of the professional aspects of beauty culture and the high educational standards required of people in the field.

It is expected that around 1,000 delegates from throughout the United States and abroad will be in Washington for the annual convention of the League to be held at the Masonic Temple, 10th and U Streets. During the period of August 8-12 the League will conduct its Institute of Cosmetology at Margaret Washington High School.

Among speakers to appear before the convention and institute are Fredrick Morrow, member of the White House staff, Edward R. Dudley, NAACP, Charles Bynum, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Donald C. Stokes, Stokes Institute of Trichology and Mrs. Carmen Murphy, Detroit's House of Beauty.

Strict Tests Through Every Process Assure Safety of Salk Polio Vaccine

For the first time in history, a vaccine is protecting millions of human beings from paralytic polio. While the Salk vaccine will not work in every case, American children are being safeguarded against the dread disease, with no more risk than they would take in a vaccination against smallpox or a typhoid shot. The Salk vaccine must pass elaborate tests under the watchful eye of a government inspector at every stage of production. Then the final packaged vaccine is approved by the U.S. Public Health Service for distribution. Here are shown a few of the steps that assure American parents their children are being given a safe vaccine.

This technician is filtering dead cells and all other foreign matter from polio virus after it has grown on animal tissue in glass containers.

Virus is "cooked" in tank with formaldehyde (from bottle) until it is rendered harmless, after which it must pass exacting safety tests.

Animal tissue in tubes is inoculated with vaccine and let stand. If any live virus remains, it will multiply here, hence can be detected.

This expert is examining tissue after contact with vaccine, to determine absence of live virus.

It's all over and it didn't hurt a bit! Salk vaccine makes this little girl safer now from paralytic polio. And her parents feel better too!
