Men Have Most Heart Troubles

Men are disabled for heart disease 88 per cent more than women. But women are disabled more often for cancer.

These conclusions came from a study of benefits paid to policyholders by Mutual of Omaha.

Of all men disabled, 5.38 percent were for heart disease, compared to 2.86 percent of all women. Twenty-two of every 1,000 women were disabled for cancer, compared to 19 of every 1,000 men.

The study covered more than 850,000 cases in the files of Mutual of Omaha, largest exclusive health and accident company in the world.

Since the company does business in every state, the survey covered the entire nation.

The Rev. and Mrs. John S. Favors were recent Sunday visitors at the First Baptist Church in Elwood, Kansas.

Lincoln U Plans October Homecoming

Plans for the 1955 edition of Lincoln University's (Mo.) Homecoming gather momentum daily as October 22 nears.

The theme for 1955 will be selected from among hundreds submitted last spring through the Student Government Association.

The football opponent, Texas Southern, comes with a well known reputation in athletic circles.

On and after September 13th (Registration for Fall term) classes, special committees, sororities, fraternities and other organized groups will begin to buzz in the preparation for parties, decorations, parade floats, and stunts which are a traditional part of the Homecoming weekend.

The General Alumni Association will make a presentation during the game half-time honoring a former coach, a star player of the late twenties and pay tribute to a graduate-athlete who lost his life while in the armed services.

The early fall date is expected to insure unprecedented attendance. Requests for information and reservations have been stepped up in tempo during the summer months.

Allen Woods Join The Guide Staff

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Woods joined the Omaha Guide this past week. Mr. Woods will be an advertising salesman while his wife, Mrs. Cindy Woods will handle rentals and classified ads.

Mrs. Woods said both had always had a yearning to go west, either to Oklahoma or Kansas City. But a friend told them if ever near Omaha, they should stop.

They stopped here August 4th, and are now living at 262 1/2 Wirt Street.

While in Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Woods ran a camp for delinquents, and afflicted children. Also, on their nine acres they had three hunting lodges for hunters as deer was bountiful.

Mr. Woods said, he believed that Omaha, after looking some of it over, was a place he would like to settle down in and see if some progressive attitudes might be developed.

Omahan Back After 26 Years

A former Omahan was reunited with friends this past week after being gone from the local scene some 26 years.

Mr. George Watson motored from Philadelphia to become reacquainted with the friends he had left. Accompanying him on the trip were his wife, Mrs. Bertha Collins, and Mr. Preston Fleming.

Upon arriving in Omaha last Wednesday, Mr. Watson immediately looked up his old friend, Mr. C. C. Galloway, publisher of the Omaha Guide.

They spent an hour reminiscing about things that had happened when both were much younger.

Mr. Watson remembered that at one time when he was working for "The Chinaman," the locals in power, sent out the police to arrest him. Instead, of getting him they picked up another man named Watson.

Before leaving the Guide office, he telephoned Mrs. Emma Oats of 3216 North 24th Ave. a former acquaintance.

Mrs. Oats said, "I recognized his voice immediately, although it was the first time in 26 years I had heard his voice."

"I was so glad to see him and he has such a wonderful wife," she continued. It was the first time Mrs. Watson has been in Omaha but Mrs. Oats said she seemed as if they had always known each other.

The only regret Mrs. Oats seemed to have was that her friends couldn't stay longer.

For the past 14 years, Mr. Watson has been employed at the Curtis Publishing Company in Philadelphia. He plans to retire next year.

Mr. Galloway said that the one thing he remembered most about Mr. Watson was that he always wore a smile and appeared cheerful.

Mr. Watson left Omaha in September of 1926. He came back to Omaha on August 3, and left Saturday, August 6.

SPARKLING TEA PUNCH Ideal for Summer Parties

NOW THAT SUMMER APPROACHETH many minds will be thinking of cool drinks to quench the family thirst. Iced tea is one beverage that's hard to beat when it comes to drinking something that's really cool and doesn't leave a sweet cloying after-taste. For diet-minded gals, it's superb because it has no calories to speak of. In addition, iced tea is wonderful as a base for party punches and, if you're thinking in terms of a graduation party, or a shower for the bride-to-be, you'll like this Sparkling Tea Punch with Blueberry Bubbles. You start out by making the basic recipe for iced tea.

To make Iced Tea: bring two quarts of freshly drawn cold water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from heat and immediately add five tablespoons of loose tea (or 15 tea bags). Brew, uncovered four minutes. Stir and strain into pitcher. When ready to serve pour into ice-filled glasses and serve with lemon and sugar.

To make the Punch: add 1 stick cinnamon and 10 whole cloves to the water and bring to a boil. Remove from heat and immediately add tea. Brew, uncovered four minutes. Stir and strain into punch bowl. Add 1/2 cup sugar and stir till dissolved. Add one 6-ounce can lemonade concentrate, two cups cold water, one quart ginger-ale and one No. 2 can pineapple juice. Stir to blend. Place block of ice or ice cubes in bowl. Add 1 cup cultivated blueberries. The ginger-ale will make the berries bounce up and down like bubbles. This recipe makes 25-30 punch-cup servings. Homemade cookies or petits fours are nice with this punch. To make the occasion really festive tie a little flower-ribbon on to the handle of each cup. (ANS)
