Church Membership Largest In History

More people are going to church and more people are reading the Bible today than ever before in our history. That's the real American story behind the headlines, and it tells more about our true spiritual and physical health than all the lurid tales of juvenile delinquency and atom destructiveness put together.

Vital statistics issued this month by the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. contradict sharply any stories that we are overly materialistic, and prove that more and more people are seeking God as a source of inspiration and guidance. Over 97,000,000 Americans now attend church regularly, an increase of 2.8 percent over last year. Americans contributed more than $2,000,000,000 to their churches in 1955 alone. Sunday and Sabbath school registrations are at a record 7,623,530.

And this religious growth is not just "Sunday habit." We, as a nation, are turning to Bible reading, extending devotional thought beyond mere observance of the Sabbath. In the case of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible alone, which was first issued only three years ago this month no less than 3,620,823 copies have already been sold, a figure that is rising steadily toward the four million mark.

This major revision of the Bible, in clear, lucid, present-day English, has sold at the rate of more than one copy every 30 seconds, 24 hours a day, for 36 months! A phenomenal record, set against rising church membership, it underlines that pressing need for faith

The RSV Bible was the result of a 15-year project by 37 leading church scholars (with a larger consultation committee) to provide a work that corrected errors and inaccuracies that had become disturbingly evident in many English translations. Its ultimate publication in the Fall of 1952 was the occasion of nationwide observances by ministers of many denominations.

This religious revival is growing in every community in America, and its accelerating pace indicates that millions more will be turning to the Sriptures for hope in these critical times.

Guarding Your Kitchen Against Fires

FOUR PERCENT OF ALLDAMAGING HOME FIRES originate in the kitchen as the result of burning fat in the broiler, skillet or griddle. How many of you know how to tackle this common type of fire? By rights you should have an approved fire extinguisher for "Class B" (flammable liquid) fires within easy reaching distance of the range, as recommended by the National Fire Protection Association. If you haven't, the Baking Soda Institute suggests you at least take the precaution of having a good supply of inexpensive baking soda on hand. Baking soda, which is the major ingredient of several types of fire extinguishers, is excellent for such a fire. Applying the baking soda carefully on the flames creates carbon dioxide or carbonic acid gas which shuts off the air and smothers the flames. Never use salt or flour in Startling use water. Water has a lower boiling point than fat, and it will only make the fire spread and the fat splatter. It's a wise precaution to keep a clearly labeled canister filled with baking soda on the kitchen changes will have taken place in portance. range so that when and if you're faced with fire you can reach the

Another advantage to using baking soda on fat fires is that it tute of America. Writing in the claims Cherne in CORONET, for won't harm food. News From Around Nebraska

An Ogallala couple and their son, who had just returned from military service, were winding up a vacation trip last week and decided to stop at Seward to watch a football game between Concordia and Doane. A second son of the couple attends Doane and plays on the team.

They watched with varying degrees of interest while Concordia piled up a lead of 13-7. There was four minutes left to play and both teams were just see-sawing back and forth in the center of the field. It seemed almost certain that Concordia would

So, being in a hurry to get home to Ogallala, they left the game with four minutes to play.

You guessed it. During that four minutes, the son on the Doane team grabbed a 49-yard pass and scampered over for a

The Keith County News at Ogallala which discovered the unusual incident, reported that the family didn't have much to say about the game-in fact they weren't speaking to each other.

The famous dance band of Wayne King appeared at the Ainsworth skating rink last Monday for a community dance, according to the Star-Journal.

At Red Cloud the Future Farmers of America organization has started a campaign to promote greater safety with farm machines which are moved on public roadways. The FFA's are putting scotch tape reflectors on all combines, tractors and other implements which are moved on highways. The tape will be used on wagons and trailers, too. The Red Cloud newspaper, the Com-merical Advertiser, showed a picture of the FFA's placing the tape on a farm machine.

The Garden County News, printed at Oshkosh, Nebraska, is calling for 100 persons to sign up for factory employment there. According to the News, Oshkosh has a chance to get a new factory which will employ 100. The necessary building and other facilities are already available, the News stated. Details regarding the type of factory were not revealed.

The West Point Republican announced last week that Cuming County probably has the smallest list of delinquent real estate taxes of any county in Nebraska. Only 133 taxpayers had failed to pay up by the time the delinquent tax list went to press. The 133 parcels of land required less than a column of space. Some counties have tax lists which run more than two pages. The list being run in Washington County required and the Raven Club. being run in Washington County required 71/2 columns of space. He is married and has a child.

A farmer in the Hartington area struck an object in his driveway with his car one night last week. The next day he discovered a quantity of porcupine quills at the spot and he decided that his car must have struck a porcupine.

Such animals are very uncommon in Nebraska, although they are frequenty seen farther north in wooded areas. The Cedar County News reported the incident.

The South Platte Chambers of Commerce chartered a special train to Lincoln last Saturday to provide transportation for high school students and adults who wanted to attend Band Day at the University stadium. Three hundred made the trip with the men wearing special red ties and pocket name cards.

At Missouri Valley the school board issued a special invitation to the Harrison County News to attend their monthly meetings. The school board feels that many of the details regarding school administration are not being made available to the public and they would like to have the News and the Missouri Valley Times tell the folks about it.

Such things as building improvements, needs for changes in faculty members and details of the many "hidden" expenses which plague every school were made public by the Missouri Valley newspapers following their first "sit in" with the board.

At Hartington a young man just home from the Navy decided to whoop it up a bit. His antics promptly brought an arrest for reckless driving and he was fined $100 and costs. By midafternoon of the same day, he had been tracked down cutting more capers about town and he was back in court again. The second session brought another fine of $100 and a suspension of his license for two years.

Several football fans went to hospitals and a number of others were injured last week when a stand at Decatur collapsed, sending 120 fans to the ground. The bleacher gave out when 120 fans rose to cheer an Oakland score. Volunteer rescue units from Oakland and Decatur rushed the injured to hospitals and doctors and rescue workers gave first aid to many on the field. One woman received a back injury; another a leg injury and numerous others were cut and bruised.

A gasoline price war at Albion sent regular gas down to 25.9c per gallon last week. There was no cut in Ethyl gasoline, however, and it continued to sell at 31.9c per gallon. Unfortunately, only the drivers of older model cars were able to take advantage of the Voters at Pierce turned down a proposal to vote bonds for a new swimming pool, the Pierce Leader revealed last week. The $39,000 issue drew 310 opposition votes and 247 favoring. The issue required a 60% majority to carry.

Last week at Bridgeport, the oil dealers put on a free movie as their part in carrying out National Oil Progress Week. The Bridgeport News Blade extended an invitation to the public to attend the show which revealed the many uses now being made of petroleum products and the improvements in processing crude oil which have come about in recent years.

The Wahoo Newspaper is attempting to raise a fund of $2000 to assist Saunders County Sheriff, Joe Divis, in paying off a court judgment which he recently received.

Two years ago the Sheriff, while pursuing a man involved in a robbery at Ceresco, thoughtlessly crossed the Saunders county line into Douglas county. He arrested his man but the suspect beat the rap on the grounds that the Saunders county sheriff had no warrant for his arrest in Douglas county.

After beating the case, the suspect turned around and sued the Sheriff for false arrest and won a judgment of $9500 against the Sheriff. The bonding company holding Sheriff Divis' bond paid $4000 and after more litigation, the total judduced to $6000. That left $2000 for the Sheriff to pay. It is this amount which the Wahoo newspaper is attempting to raise.

The case is considered very unusual and has been watched with much interest by all law enforcement officers over the state.

The city of Ord, which recently won a court fight against the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Company has found itself the victim of a squeeze play. The Gas company admits defeat in court but no announces that it will have to cut expenses, in leu of higher gas prices. It proposes to do this by eliminating free service on burners, possible closing of the company's office in Ord and by taking advantage of a loophole in a contract with the city, to raise the price of the gas sold the municipality. The Ord Council has the matter under consideration.
