News From Around Nebraska

The jackrabbit hunters are having a heyday at Chadron, the Record reports. A buyer has set up shop there and in the last three weeks bought over 6,000 of the bunnies from hunters who are scouring the ranges seeking the pests. The rabbits are shipped to Mitchell, South Dakota where they are dressed. Some of the fur is saved for felt hat manufacturers and the meat is quick-frozen for operators of mink and fox farms. The white tailed jacks bring 30c and the black tailed 15c, the Record related in an article last week. Cottontails are protected by law.

The Rotarians at Franklin, Nebraska are planning a "Hobby Circus" as a fund-raising event to aid the polio fund. Hobbyists from all over the county have been invited to display their work. The show will be held in the Franklin High School auditorium and an admission charge will raise the Rotary's funds for the aid of the polio effort.

Plans are going forward at Atkinson to construct a new wing of six rooms on the Atkinson Hospital, the Atkinson Graphic revealed last week. Most of the money for the new addition comes from a $10,000 grant which was received a few weeks ago from the Ford Foundation. The rooms will be used for additional patients at the hospital.

Lexington has had an outbreak of fires, the Dawson County Herald pointed out last week. Since December 19th the fire department has been kept busy and the records show an estimated $85,000 damage done.

The latest fire was Christmas morning when a fire gutted the interior of a home and sent four to the community hospital. At least one of the fires is under investigation as arson is suspected.

Twenty youngsters of the Madison area went home one day last week to tell their folks that they had been in an honest-to-goodness train wreck.

The kids were riding in a top train which the Chamber of Commerce had brought to town to entertain the young folks. In some manner, the brakes on the train locked, causing the outfit to jack-knife and overturn the cars.

The passengers were rolled out into the street but none received injuries other than scratches and bruises, the Madison Star reported.

The J. M. McDonald store at Madison was closed immediately after Christmas and the stock has been moved to a new McDonald store just opened in Norfolk. The company will discontinue its operations in Madison, the Star reported last week.

A man who once did some time in the city jail at Fairbury, telephoned Christmas greetings to the police there last week, the Fairbury Journal has revealed. The man now operates a leather shop in Los Angeles and is quite successful in his chosen field.

The Journal recalled that the man did some leather work in his cell at the Fairbury jail and sold his handiwork to some of the folks around the jail. He used the money to pay a part of his fine and thereby shorten his jail sentence.

He proved to be one of the very few prisoners ever held in Fairbury who had voluntarily called back to reveal his whereabouts.

There has been a lot of visiting back and forth between the residents of Seward, Nebraska and Seward, Alaska. A year or so ago, the Nebraskans sent a busload of businessmen and basketball players to Alaska to compete in a tournament. Last Summer the Alaskans came to Nebraska to return the visit.

Last Sunday, January 1st, the radio station at York broadcasted an hour's program of greetings to the Nebraska Sewardites from the Alaskans. The north pole men had made recordings in their native country and had flown them to York for the broadcast. The Alaskans who made the trip spoke on the program, calling their acquaintances in Nebraska by name and wishing them well.

Many Blair folks will remember Joni Becklun who lived for a time on west Colfax street.

Joni, who is now attending high school at Albion, is the writer of a guest editorial which appeared on the front page of the Albion News last week. Her editorial deals with safe driving. She says, in part: "What are you supposed to tell people when you want them to save their own or someone else's life? It's hard to think of any better slogans or pleas than have already been made by modern man. I don't think everyone fully realizes the responsibility they are taking when they set forth in an automobile." She tells of having witnessed a near-accident at a train crossing. She concludes with this statement: "There are not enough words in my heart to express my feelings other than to 'drive safely and cautiously, please.'"

A statement which no doubt came as a surprise to many was revealed last week in the Central City Republican-Non-Parrel. The paper revealed that the Union Pacific pays 15% of the county's tax load. The railroad's tax bill in that county amounted to $134,000, the newspaper stated.

That's a lot of money, even out of a pocket as large as the Union Pacific's!

C. D. Haskell, a farmer near Laurel, Nebraska, has given a 320 acre farm as an experimental tract for northeast Nebraska. The farm will be operated by the Northeast Nebraska Experimental Farm association and will be devoted to the raising and improving of crops which can be grown in that portion of the state. The gift culminates a long-standing effort to raise enough money to buy such a farm, but the move was stymied at $37,000 and the donation came just as the entire project looked as though it might be a failure.

The money which has been collected will be placed in a fund to develop and operate the farm, the Oakland Independent stated last week.

Most of the papers of the northeast portion of the state hailed the farm as a great step forward for agriculture in Northeast Nebraska.

Tips On Painting

"OB" Says—
scrapers work better than a blade where the paint is cracked but not peeling. Peeled spots usually have weathered sufficiently without further scraping.

For the best results over a rusted surface, prime with a Tame Rust primer. Reduce the primer about 25% to insure a better, longer lasting job. The Tame Rust reducer has a specially formulated oil that actually absorbs the rusty surface. After the primer coat has dried four days or more, you can second coat the surface with the Tame Rust Finish coat.

To keep the metal on basement windows from rusting out, scrub the dirt and rust with a wire brush. Paint the clean metal with the Tame Rust Primer; then follow up with the finish coat.

Tame Rust paint products, made under U. S. Government Spec. TTP-638B, are designed to retard rust on new or old metal surfaces such as eaves-troughs, drainpipes, casement windows, exposed flashing, porch furniture, playground equipment, or any of the metal used around a home. The finish coat is a gloss enamel, alkyd-type, which comes in six colors: yellow, orange, green, red, gray and black. It is simple and easy to use and gives excellent protection.

First step: scrape loose paint. Paint doesn't stick well to galvanized surfaces unless they have weathered about six months. For the scraping job, an end

Sweet 'N Sour Pork Chops

"THIS LITTLE PIG WENT TO MARKET"—and to add to the old rhyme we might say that lots of little pigs are going to market right now. This is good news for those of us who enjoy pork chops and other pork cuts. From the test kitchens of Minute Maid-Snow Crop Fresh-Frozen Orange Juice comes a timely recipe for Sweet 'N Sour Pork Chops. This is a delicious way of serving this popular meat—and an easy way, too, since all the cooking is done on top of the range to save fuel.

Rice is plentiful now, too, so we suggest a large bowl of fluffy, boiled rice to serve alongside the pork chops. Use the delicious orange-flavored sauce to pour over the rice as well as the meat. A package of Snow Crop Frozen Green Beans, cooked in a small amount of boiling water, following the package directions, and served with your meat and rice will add up to an extra good meal, for the family as well as guests.

- SWEET 'N SOUR PORK CHOPS
- 6 loin pork chops
  - 6 cloves
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 1 teaspoon paprika
  - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
  - 2 tablespoons shortening
  - 1 can (6 oz.) Snow Crop Fresh-Frozen Orange Juice—thawed and undiluted
  - 1 tablespoon brown sugar
  - 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Insert one clove in the center of each pork chop. Blend salt, paprika and pepper and rub mixture well into both sides of chops. Melt shortening in heavy skillet or Dutch oven, and when hot, place chops in pan and brown on both sides over medium heat (do not crowd in pan, it is better to brown 3 at a time). Combine thawed and undiluted fresh-frozen orange juice with brown sugar and cinnamon and pour over chops. Cover and simmer about 30 minutes or until tender (Serves 4-6). DID YOU KNOW When braising meat on top of range, a piece of wax paper placed under the pan cover will reduce the loss of liquid which sometimes condenses on the lid and trickles out of the pan.
