TV NETWORKS CAREFUL TO BAN RACIAL LYRICS

Hollywood, Calif. (CNS) TV networks are in an all-out but quiet drive to end all lyrics in songs which are offensive to races. Especially are they deleting words offensive to Negroes.

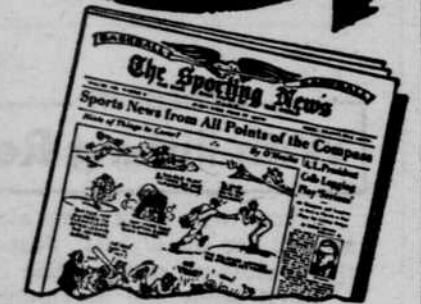

At NBS-TV "Ole Black Joe" by Stephen Foster has been banned for years and other Foster songs have had words changed, at CBS, too. "Darky" is out of "Old Kentucky Home" and in "Swanee River", darkies have been changed to children. "Mammy" has been blue pencilled from "Shortin' Bread"—on the strength that it, too, is "offensive to Negroes."

CBS has changed "darkies" to brothers and NBS has banned blackface routines or stereotyped Negro characters. ABC has not gone as far as the two biggest networks, but it, too, is keeping careful eye on what's offensive racially.

Seein' Stars

New York (CNS) EARTHA KITT BECOMES FIRST NEGRO AT PLAZA HOTEL'S PERSIAN ROOM. Only the most sophisticated of white stars play the fabulously wealthy Plaza Hotel in New York.

Louis Armstrong in England after 21 years from Her Majesty's Isle, was sensational as usual. Especially after he broke all protocol regarding the royal family and announced he was playing especially for the "special guest in the audience — Princess Margaret."

Meanwhile, back in Las Vegas, Nevada another top fame artist is making news. Hazel Scott is first headliner in the history of Las Vegas to double between the main dining room and the lounge. Jumping back and forth from one section of the Flamingo to the other, Hazel is doing a "squeeze schedule" all because of her friend Al Parvin, who owns the hotel.

The word "confidential" so angers Sammy Davis, Jr. that he wants no part of it after three lurid stories from the magazine. Even so, the magazine's publisher can't see it this way and has approached Sammy to record a tune by a local newspaper columnist titled: "Shh—It's Confidential."

Roosevelt Scores Kefauver

Representative James Roosevelt (Dem., Calif.), eldest son of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, exposed Senator Estes Kefauver's "political expediency" on civil rights before a meeting of the New York Young Democratic Club this week.

"It's no secret," Roosevelt said, "that in Negro districts in California, Kefauver made pledges which he contradicted in Florida. Once he got to Florida, he obviously felt that he had to back-track."

When told of Roosevelt's statement, Mrs. Lois Dickson Irish, Harlem civic leader, observed, "What Congressman Roosevelt said is absolutely correct. Anyone who has followed the primary campaign closely realizes that Senator Kefauver's statements on civil rights change from one day and one place to another." Mrs. Irish is co-chairman of the Stevenson for President Committee of Upper Manhattan.

Roosevelt represents a predominantly Negro Congressional district in Los Angeles, Mrs. Irish explained.

The late president's son pointed out that in California Sen. Kefauver advocated that Federal school aid funds be denied to any state that does not practice integration. But once Sen. Kefauver arrived in Florida, the Congressman added, Kefauver spoke from the other side of his mouth, saying that "the problem must be worked out gradually."

"Kefauver's about-face in Florida was no surprise to me," Mrs. Irish said. "He has gone about the country posing as a great champion of civil rights, yet in the Senate, where actions speak louder than words, he voted against civil rights on six out of eight issues, as recorded by the Washington office of the NAACP."

"One need only compare Kefauver's statements on civil rights when he was a senatorial candidate with those he makes as a presidential candidate to realize the hypocritical nature of the man," Mrs. Irish said. "Once this is exposed, nobody will be fooled by the Tennessee Senator."

Mrs. Irish added that Kefauver's sorry civil rights record must be placed in contrast with Adlai E. Stevenson's splendid accomplishments on civil rights while Governor of Illinois and "the sound and consistent position on racial equality that he has taken throughout this campaign."

In another development in New York City, John R. "Tex" McCrary, noted television personality, spoke before a gathering of Republican advertising executives, boasted that many of the individuals in the audience had raised money to get Kefauver nominated over Stevenson in the Minnesota primary.

Telephone Relay Is Planned

Plans for construction of a radio relay system in the Omaha area were announced today by W. A. Alf, Omaha district manager of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company.

The new route will start at North Bend, Nebraska and proceed eastward through Winslow, Nebraska, Mondamin, Iowa and Portsmouth, Iowa to Elkhorn, Iowa. From Elkhorn, it will go south through Griswold, Iowa to Red Oak, Iowa, where the route terminates. The new route is being engineered and built by the Long Lines Department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Historically, communication routes, like highways, have gone from city to city. This new route will be like a super highway which goes from point to point avoiding cities and congested areas.

Building contracts for new buildings at North Bend, Mondamin and Elkhorn have been awarded the Geer-Meurer Construction Company of Grand Island. These buildings will range in size from 50' to 50' at Mondamin to approximately 80' by 35' at North Bend.

A new type construction known as "sandwich" panels will be used. In this method of construction, forms are laid flat on the ground, concrete poured, a layer of insulation added, and another layer of concrete poured. After a curing period, the panels are tilted up and placed by cranes. This type of building is quicker to construct and less costly to add to, if future additions are required.

The new buildings at Winslow, Portsmouth and Griswold will be 22' by 36' and of conventional masonry construction. The contract for these buildings was awarded the Klingner Construction Company of Sioux City, Iowa.

Contract for the construction of the 50' by 115' building at Red Oak will be awarded in the near future.

The Elkhorn-North Bend section will be available for service in November of this year. The remaining section between Elkhorn and Red Oak will be placed in service in February of next year.

The new system will be used for long distance message service only. Television programs being carried on existing facilities through Omaha will not be affected.

The latest type of microwave antennas will be used throughout. These antennas, which look like giant cornucopias or horns of plenty, can transmit or receive up to 20,000 simultaneous conversations as compared to the 3,000 conversation capacity of the old type. The antennas, a recent development of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, are approximately 20 feet long, tapering from three inches in diameter at the base to approximately 10 feet wide at the top. The mouth will be mounted atop steel towers at each station. The towers will range in height from 112 feet at Mondamin to 287 feet at Red Oak.

In the radio relay method of transmission, super high frequency radio waves called microwaves are transmitted from point to point. They are focused like light beams by the transmitting antenna and like light beams, are limited to a line of sight path. The curvature of the earth causes intermediate amplifying stations to be required approximately every 30 miles. With the pin point focusing of the antennas, only 1/2 watt, or the power of an ordinary flashlight bulb, is required to speed the microwaves from tower to tower.

4th NAACP Suit Worries Virginia

Richmond, Va. (CNS) The filing of the fourth suit by the NAACP for integration in Virginia schools really started things moving in the state of Virginia, which had just settled down to a "do-nothing" program on segregation in its schools. Now, Governor Stanley has called for an early meeting of the controversial Gray Commission—whose task has been to hold the line on desegregation.

Meanwhile, the NAACP attorneys filed suit in Federal District Court at Norfolk on behalf of 96 Negro parents and school children and asked that Federal Judge Walter N. Hoffman give a "speedy hearing" and a temporary or permanent injunction forbidding continued segregation.

This fourth suit is identical to those filed in other parts of the state — at Charlottesville, Newport News, Harrisonburg Counties. A fifth one is being planned for Arlington County School Board—which will probably be served this week. A motion for prompt enforcement of the Supreme Court's ruling in the Prince Edward County case is awaiting a hearing before a three judge Federal District Court on July 9th.

Virginia is worried by all of this action. It had planned through the Gray Commission to avoid Compulsory integration by assigning pupils to private schools, should it have to. This has still not been acted on. The new meeting of the Gray Commission is to act on "any new proposals other than those noted."

LONDON NEWS

During the past weeks, the talk of the City of London and indeed the whole of England has been nothing but "Louis 'Satchmo' Armstrong" and the ALL STARS—who has been playing at Empress Hall in London and other big cities.

"Satchmo" was at his greatest, and virtually knocked everybody out with his golden playing. He was "real gone"—in the highest measure and had Her Royal Highness Princess Margaret hepping to the live in her seat, and cheering as loudly as the other thousands of fans, when she attended at the Empress Hall. The Princess described the affair—really wonderful.

His Royal Highness the Duke of Kent who collects records of "Satchmo" was not to be left out of the picture, and when he attended one of the performances, he went backstage in the dressing-room of "the dean of the faculty" and spent over an half hour discussing various aspects.

The Lords and their Ladies together with other titled ones also had their piece—and so the happenings went on.

Indeed the greatest single sensation of the ALL STARS who accompanied "Satchmo"—was dear and beloved Velma Middleton, who "digged" the blues in such a manner that she did not have under a treble encore at each of her appearances.

"CUTE" is hardly the word to describe her method of operations, but as I can find no other words to describe the situation at the moment. I am using it.

Velma — the darling of London, will be remembered in England for a long time, and it is only unfortunate that she could not stop with us a while longer.

Althea Gibson, famed American tennis star, whose recent victories in Italian tennis has created a world-wide "stir" — is listed as a favorite participant in the coming big tennis games at Wimbledon.

Edrie Connor, talented West Indian actor has left London with a party of five for Trinidad to do a picture called "Fire Down Below."

The party will be joined by Rita Hayworth and Robert Mitchum. Speaking in the House of Commons, Lt. Col. Marcus Lipton, Member of Parliament for Brixton—"Little Harlem" said—"Either we pay more for our bananas or we accept an increased number of immigrants from the West Indies—that is the choice we must face." He was taking part in the discussion of increased duty on bananas from two shillings and sixpence to seven shillings and sixpence. Continuing, he added "We have to balance the advantage to our fellow citizens in the West Indies against the effect on our cost of living."

"I think that by the narrowing of margins the economic advantages to our fellow citizens in the West Indies just carry the day. "For that reason and with less reluctance than usual I find it possible to agree to this further increase in the cost of living of the British Consumer."

LIBERIA SHIPPING VINDICATED

Recent reports and comments on foreign flag registration of ships give a very one-sided and on some points completely inaccurate picture of the situation. Shipowners free to register their vessels under the Liberian Flag if they so desire, but accusations — both implicit and implied — that ships registered under the Liberian Flag can ignore recognized International Standards of Safety, employment and so on are entirely unfounded.

The Government of Liberia is a member of the following Conventions, and the provisions thereof and the regulations adopted thereunder apply to vessels registered under the Laws and Flag of the Republic of Liberia: International Convention for the Safety of Life at Sea, 1948. International Load Line Convention, 1930. International Telecommunication and Radio Conferences, 1947. No vessel is accepted under Liberian Registration unless all classification requirements are accepted by the respective Classification Societies.

The majority of tankers built since the end of the last war are registered in Liberia, which has the most modern tanker fleet afloat: Eighty-three percent of its total tanker tonnage is under ten years old, and sixty-eight percent less than five years old.

The standard of crew comfort in Liberian registered ships are as high, if not higher, than in vessels registered under other flags. Wages are good and taxes are paid to the Liberian Government. The numerous critical comments would have carried more weight had they been based on personal investigation of conditions on board Liberian-flag ships rather than on unsubstantiated and tendentious evidence.

World light heavy-weight champion Archie Moore who is busy preparing to defend his title against Yolande Pompey on June 5th, is making a name for himself among Britain sports-writers with his unusual charm and wit.

While his "jives" are on top, his weight is in constant discussion as he must get rid of around twenty pounds to meet the 12st. 7lb. limit.
