He has been in Washington since July 18, undergoing orientation. McCaw was the first Negro to be appointed to a Nebraska Governor's Cabinet.

When he was appointed State Budget Director by former Governor Robert B. Crosby. He was appointed by Gov. Crosby to the Douglas County Tax Appraisal Board in 1955. He will assume his duties at Seoul, Korea, on August 11th.

Congress Takes Whack At Drugs

Congress has passed the narcotics control bill. There seems every reason to expect it will be signed.

The new legislation attacks the problem from two directions: It increases the severity of allowable punishments, and it endeavors to aid in apprehension and conviction of those engaged in the drug traffic.

The matter of punishment is not insignificant. For the criminal the penalty he courts undeniably has an influence on the risk he chooses to take. Insofar as punishment should bear a rational relationship to the damage done society, prior limitations unquestionably led police and courts alike to downgrade the seriousness of the offense.

Of far more importance, however, is to catch guilty offenders and to convict them. In this connection Congress has shown wisdom in permitting, not requiring, the death penalty for giving or selling heroin to minors. For a mandatory capital penalty means that judges and juries are loath to risk making an irretrievable error, hence hesitant to convict. Thus many a probably guilty person goes scot free.

In other ways the measure should aid authorities to get convictions on some ground—by making punishable use of the mails, telephone, or other forms of communication in illicit drug traffic and by making it easier to get search warrants.

An adequate law is always a necessity in fighting crime. Congress has made a contribution in this direction. It now will be up to the agencies of enforcement and to the courts—and to the watchfulness of the public to see that they do their duty.

You cannot lead anyone further than you have gone yourself.

The eternal triangle: income, overhead and upkeep!

Old Timers Baseball Assn Seeks Funds

This is the last week of the drive for $25,000 by the Nebraska and Western Iowa Old Timers Baseball Ass'n. This drive is for Omaha's Youth Activity Program.

General Chairman, Ralph O. Hefflinger said, "The Old Timers Baseball Ass'n, a non-profit organization, believe that the police youth activity league and the city recreation youth program are doing a world of good in curbing juvenile delinquency. We earnestly believe that these two groups could do more if they had more money with which to work. It is the old timers desire to help meet this need and give a boost to Mayor Rosenblatt's program of combating juvenile delinquency with organized activity in all the All Star Benefit Baseball neighborhoods. All proceeds of Attractions will go to help provide supervision and equipment for the Omaha Youth Activity Program."

President of the Old Timers, Laddie Kozeny, announced, the Old Timers All Star Baseball Program will get under way Sunday, August 5th, 1956. Two American Legion teams will play at 1:00 P.M. and Two All Star C Y O teams will play at 3:30 P.M. The Offutt Air Force Base Band will be on hand.

Althea Gibson Wins 1st Major American Crown

Philadelphia, Pa. (CNS) . . . In an impressive victory, 28 year old Althea Gibson won her first major American grass courts tennis championship by beating Mrs. William du Pont of Wilmington, Delaware, in the final of the Pennsylvania and Eastern States tourney.

Althea needed only 45 minutes to get her 6-1 and 6-4 victories. The first set took but 16 minutes. In this first triumph since her return from Wimbledon where she was defeated in the quarter finals by Shirley Fry, Althea combined power and speed of youth against a veteran campaigner as experienced as Mrs. du Pont.

GOP Plans To Propose Rights Bill

Washington, D. C. (CNS) . . . Republican leaders in admitting to President Eisenhower that the Administration's Civil Rights Bill was dead for this session, said that if they regain control of Congress in the November election, they will bring up civil rights early next session to make a filibuster impossible.

Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland of California did most of the talking about the new proposition. In the Senate, Senator Paul Douglas (Democrat of Ill.) conceded it would be impossible to get action on civil rights because of the "temper" of the Southerners.

ment Program, and Moss H. Kendrick, The Moss H. Kendrick Organization, Washington, D. C., compliment winners following play held on the campus of North Carolina College at Durham.

Support Ike or 'Use' Ike?

Republican candidates for re-election whooped for joy when they learned that good old Ike is going to sail into a second-term campaign for the Presidency and that there is going to be the welcome chance for them to latch onto his coattail. What a prospect! What a shoo-in to victory!

Everyone of the beaming Congressmen in Washington who feels that Ike is going to help him in a fight against a Democrat in November is supercharged with delight.

But what do these great solons, these masters of parliamentary maneuvering, these lawmakers with bleeding breasts, do for Ike? Oh, yes, they want him to run. But do they want to help him? Do they want to support him? Do they stand firmly for the things for which he stands?

We are speaking of Republicans. We want to know if the Republicans who expect to cling frantically to Ike's coattail intend to support him? Will they back his program?

This week they have a chance to prove whether they are for Ike and decency and justice—or are purely for themselves. The President has sent a civil rights legislation package to Congress. It is a modest pack. For what does the President ask? A civil rights commission. A civil rights division in the Department of Justice. A statute to enable persons denied the right to vote to seek civil redress in the courts.

There's nothing radical about that package. It isn't revolutionary. It isn't communistic. How could it be? It's Ike's.

What are the Republican members of the Senate going to do when Ike's civil rights package comes before the members this week? We already know what those bond brothers of the South, the most united of the Democrats, are going to do. Already they have oiled and limbered their guns. They propose to bombard and obliterate the package with factitious constitutional rationalizations. They're going to have great sport—and they may win.

But what about Ike's friends—the Republicans of the East, North and West?

Are they organized to defend Ike's package? Will they organize? Will they say: "He's gonna help us and we oughta help him" or just let things slide?

No self-respecting Republican can afford to desert the President at this time. The nation has been looking at the manner in which Republicans have been scuttling the President's programs. Independents and Democrats have been strangely struck by the spectacle of Republicans letting the President down—even when he's sick.

If Republicans do not get together and demonstrably support the President's civil rights package, they may find out in November that they have done more than fail to support the man, Ike.

They may discover to their dismay that there are many more Americans interested in civil rights than they bargained for and that in their passionate desire to guarantee civil rights to all Americans, they had decided the Republican party is not their instrument.

They might discover that in failing to support Ike, they had failed to support the party and even to support themselves. They would go to Washington the next time as visitors, not Congressmen.

The President has the challenging leadership, responsibility of making it clearly understood that he wants his party in Congress to stand firmly behind his legislation to support him.

All Republican Congressmen who propose to use "Ike" rather than support him deserve defeat.

Voters should keep a sharp lookout for the supporters and the users this week.

Even The Dixiecrats Learn!

Current political moves among Democrats in the Deep South indicate that, beyond doubt, the Dixiecrats have learned something from their 1948 debacle.

There is no doubt that most of the machine Democrats in Deep Dixie are violently opposed to desegregation and civil rights, but there is also no doubt that they will have to subscribe to a platform which contains verbiage favorable to civil rights in an effort to maintain national unity within the party.

If they followed their natural inclinations, the Dixiecrats would quit the Democratic party to go it alone; but the loss of patronage after 1948 has taught these professional politicians a lesson, and they are going along with the program whether they like it or not.

We can therefore take with a grain of salt any talk about high principles and unswerving moral determination coming from the Dixiecrat spokesmen because their present actions in butting up to the national organization is proof that they are motivated by expediency rather than principle.

He kept alive, too, his club's recent upsurge by notching for them their eighth straight victory. They lost in the second game of the double header, 4-2.

Witnesses Hold Confab

The assembly of Jehovah's witnesses begins today in the Civic Auditorium and continues through Sunday. Robert W. Wallen and Alfred J. Nussallah, former Omaha residents, and now with the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Brooklyn are speakers on the program. Wallen gives the principal address Sunday at 3:00 P.M., speaking on the subject: "Why Permanent Peace Will come in Our Day."

During the assembly, the Witnesses will operate their own cafeteria in the auditorium. Eugene Smercheck of Manhattan, Kansas is in charge of this. He has appointed Lillard D. Kenoly of 2506 1/2 North 24th as head cook. Assisting Mr. Kenoly is Alanzo Prayer of 2312 North 22. Volunteering to assist in the cafeteria are Anna Randolph, 2202 Clark, Ora Lee Randolph of 2527 Charles, Katy Thomas, 2202 Clark and Mary McCullough of 2411 Charles, and Thelma Kenoly of 2506 1/2 North 24th, has been assisting in the room department seeking rooms for the delegates.

Both Wallen and Nussallah were born and raised in Omaha. Both graduated from Technical High School in 1948. Both began full-time missionary-ministry work for Jehovah's witnesses upon completion of high school, and were called to the world headquarters of the group at Brooklyn in 1950. At the present time, each one is a presiding minister of a congregation in the New York area, and both have given lectures within a 200 mile radius of New York City.

It seems inconceivable that 19 government agencies are now citing this letter as a shadowy cloak of authority to restrict or withhold information. This flimsy pretext only serves to demonstrate what extent executive departments will go.

Senate May Hold Civil Rights Bill

CIVIL RIGHTS BILL
This bill, though passed in the House, will undoubtedly remain buried in the Senate Committee and therefore fail to become a law.

I voted for the bill because I was willing to support President Eisenhower's recommendation to set up a temporary commission of a bipartisan nature to make close study of the question as to whether United States citizens are being deprived of their right to vote or of other constitutional rights by reason of their color, race, religion, or national origin. The commission would be required to make its report within two years and sixty days and then would cease to exist.

There were several provisions in the bill which did not have my approval, but if any of the rights and protection guaranteed by our Constitution might be lost for lack of adequate means of enforcement of those constitutional rights, then enforcement must be supplied by legislation or court action. Otherwise our Constitution on those matters would be a mere collection of lifeless words. But since its creation the Constitution of America has been a living document designed to serve and protect all persons subject to its operation. Therefore, I considered it proper that the temporary commission be authorized to make inquiry into this very serious question of violation of constitutional rights.

HONORABLE PEACE—OUR MOST IMPORTANT OBJECTIVE

President Eisenhower has demonstrated by his words and deeds that he has earned a position of outstanding leadership throughout the world in all the important work of winning a firm establishment of sound, permanent and honorable peace among all nations of the globe. I believe his contribution in this noble cause has advanced the drive for peace. And when the crusade has been won and all nations and peoples freed of the worries and fears of another hot war, as well as the wasteful and eroding effects of the cold war, all peoples will have cause to praise and applaud the labors and services in their behalf rendered in such an unselfish and magnificent manner by an American President—Dwight D. Eisenhower.

This writer has often heard some Negroes say "I hate all White Folks"; and likewise heard some white people say "I dislike Negroes."

Both White and Negro are stating an untrue fact. No Negro hates a White person because of his color; nor on the other hand does any White person dislike a Negro because of his color. Negroes hate Whites because of the ill treatment that the White races have inflicted upon the Dark races; White hate Negroes because of mistreatment, and insecurity, cause of misunderstanding, ignorance.

The recent and present revolution in Africa (The Western world and its newspapers ca them riots and demonstration) demonstrates the problem of hatred. The Western World would like to lead us to think that this is a race riot based on hate. Nothing could be farther from the truth. This is a move for nationalism with both members of the White and Dark race participating on the same side. The Dark races could not hate the White race; for a great percentage of the Dark races have ancestors that are members of the White race. None can deny that many a Dark baby is born each year because of transgression of the White race. Each half-breed becomes a member of the Dark race while its parent is a member of the white race. Therefore if the Dark races hated on race alone; they may end up hating themselves.

Therefore the revolution in Africa is not based on hate. These African people only want to be free as the U.S.A. did from England and the French from the royal rulers. While many Negroes in America hate Senator Eastland and his Southern friends, it is not because of his race but because of his treatment to Negroes and their problems. If he changed his hate, we may soon stop hating him. One Bilbo once said that U. S. A. should ship all Negroes back to Africa. We are sure that if someone tried this (if this was possible), you would have more White than Negroes objecting.

Every White person has some person of color that is a friend of his; every White person has some person of color that he would stand up and fight for. Where the hate can not be on account of color. In every mixed neighborhood there are white and colored kids that are playmates. No colored parent would let another White person mistreat their child's White playmate; Also no White parent will let another White person mistreat their child's colored playmate. In both races the parents would defend the rights of the other race children. So let none of us say that we hate a person because of his race; let's say that we hate Senator Eastland because of Senator Eastland not because he is a member of the White race.
