"His and Her" Workshop SINCE Mom is the original do-it-herself expert, she's entitled to a workshop, too! Why not plan a Mr. and Mrs. Workshop? An exciting new plan tells how to establish one in any basement or utility room.

"Her" working area is a handsome cabinet with sliding doors glamorous Masonite "Peg-Board" panels, painted to suit her taste. The cabinet has a top of durable, splinter-free and moisture-resistant Tempered Presdwood, the material that isn't damaged by rough treatment. Like her husband's work area, hers has on the wall a "Peg-Board" panel on which to hang garden tools, her own carpentry or fix-up tools or hobby imple ments.

In his corner is an easy-tomake workbench with a wear-resistant hardboard top. His toolboard is similar to hers.

The plan gives directions for making all parts of the workshop. It also tells how to transform a dingy basement room into a comfortable "His and Her" workshop. Even the walls can be Panelgroove. Write for
