The Last Word

By Elizabeth Davis Pittman

Typical Labor Day weekend... joyful kisses and hugs from members of the family... the hustle and bustle of a new city... the roaring traffic of a teeming metropolis... a peaceful Sunday sight-seeing tour... trying to cram weeks of conversation into too little time... a table piled high with delicacies at meal time... finally drifting into slumber to get up at the crack of dawn to make the homeward trip... too little time... but such pleasant memories.

Chicago, Illinois - Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, today reiterated the criticism he voiced yesterday of a compromise civil rights plank adopted by the Democratic convention here. It is evident that Mr. Wilkins feels the compromise plank falls unacceptably short of the requirements for a major political party seeking the nation's votes in 1960. Passages in the plank dealing with the Supreme Court decision on public school segregation are totally meaningless, the NAACP official said. He pointed out that other passages calling for continued "efforts" by the Democratic party in behalf of other civil rights guarantees now have dropped the 1952 plank's references to federal legislation and thus are a definite step backward.

Wilkins Says Civil Rights Compromise Will Do Harm

The compromise plank will not be an effective argument for the votes of those who expect to see equality of citizenship a reality for all Americans in the foreseeable future, Mr. Wilkins indicated. Compromise on the disputed civil rights plank struck down an amendment pledging the Democrats to carry out the Supreme Court's anti-segregation decisions, without interfering "with the orderly determination of these matters of the courts." The defeated amendment also asked federal laws to guarantee fair employment, personal security and full voting rights. The compromise civil rights plank said nothing of implementing the Supreme Court decisions on segregations, and dealt with racial discrimination only in general terms without proposing a specific course of action.

Washington Report

By Your Congressman JACKSON B. CHASE

1956 I postponed writing this letter until the adjournment of the Republican convention. The nomination of Eisenhower and Nixon while not a surprise, was gratifying to most of us I am sure. Mrs. Chase and I stayed home and witnessed the proceedings of both conventions on television. I had partly planned to go to San Francisco but decided to give a hotel reservation and tickets to an old friend of mine and his wife. He has been a faithful volunteer non-office holding party worker over many years and having difficulty in getting reservations he decided not to attend the convention. I am glad he and his wife went. It has always been my opinion that first priority should be given to the non-office holding party workers in all important matters pertaining to party conventions including the selection of delegates and alternates. These people work faithfully and without compensation in the interest of their party and government, and certainly should be given desirable seats at party meetings. Without the party workers the programs of the parties and aspirations of the office seeking candidates would meet with little success. The speeches of Eisenhower and Nixon were expressive of high ideals, and presented in clear manner the record of the administration. I was deeply impressed by the speech of that grand old American Herbert Hoover. He is a towering figure among supporters and champions of the American way of life and government under the Constitution. There was much substance in the remarks of Knowland of California and many others. The platforms of both parties bear striking resemblance in some particulars and it is well that in our ideals and hopes for an honorable and lasting peace for all peoples of the earth we do stand together regardless of differences of opinion or contests over other matters of relatively minor importance. We all know that in this atomic and hydrogen age if we cannot enjoy an enduring peace we can hope for little else. I have high hopes that the forthcoming campaign will be kept on a high plane. The eyes of the world will be upon us and the sincerity of America and our honesty of purpose in our desire and effort to attain these ideals for honorable peace, freedom and justice for all people of all lands will be evaluated by other nations in their appraisal of our political leaders. Therefore, I am sure none of the candidates striving for office will say or do

Citation Is Conferred on Roy Wilkins

New York, —Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP, was cited this week by the Conference on Science, Philosophy and Religion for his contribution to better race relations in the United States and abroad. The Conference, founded 16 years ago, has as its purpose the improvement of democratic civilization by utilizing the resources of science, philosophy and religion. The citation conferred upon Mr. Wilkins declared that the NAACP official "labors quietly but effectively to build more secure foundations for democracy and for all mankind." The document further noted: "For a generation he has labored unselfishly for improved race relations on this continent and abroad, convinced of the need and value of social techniques and of effective legislation, of progress through peaceful means and education. Sensitive to the heartbreaking frustrations of American Negroes, he has the wisdom to measure improvement day by day and year by year, the courage to overcome setbacks and to attack problems previously thought impossible of solution. "Throughout his proper concern for members of his own race he remains aware that injustice for any group means injustice for all." Mr. Wilkins, the citation said, "has been preeminent in applying the principle of human equality and in working toward the goals to which the Conference is dedicated." Lyman Bryson, Professor Emeritus of Education at Teachers College, Columbia University, read the citation at a public session of the Conference in this city on August 28th. He is a vice president and moderator of the Conference, which is holding daily meetings at the Men's Faculty Club of Columbia University this week.

Voter Has Little Choice On Rights

New York, N. Y. — The Negro voter must choose between "Tweedledum and Tweedledee" at the polls this November, editorializes the current issue of THE CRISIS, journal of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Commenting on the civil rights planks of the two major parties, the editorial says: "Both parties ignored the fact that 1956 is not 1952. We now live in parlous times in race relations, especially in the Deep South. We have the U. S. Supreme Court decision on segregation in public education, and rulings on discrimination in public recreation and travel. "We have Montgomery, Alabama, and the implications of the bus boycott. We have had nullification resolutions and a Congressional manifesto insulting the highest tribunal in the land and advocating virtual rebellion. We have had United States senators traveling up and down the land urging the people not to obey the Supreme Court. And we have had campaigns of vilification and terror and violence visited upon sections of our population which merely asked that the law of the land be obeyed." THE CRISIS, the editorial explains, "had expected more forthright civil rights planks than the ones adopted by either party" because both "are anxious to win the balance-of-power Negro vote this fall."

AK Offers $5000 More In Prizes

Omaha, Nebraska — An additional $5,000 will be offered in premiums to the youths exhibiting 4-H beef cattle, swine and sheep at this year's Ak-Sar-Ben Live Stock Show, Committee Chairman Harry B. Coffee announced today. The show runs in conjunction with Ak-Sar-Ben's World Championship Rodeo, September 21-30 at the Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum in Omaha. "This additional money, given by Ak-Sar-Ben in recognition of the interest shown every year by 4-H boys and girls in our program, will be distributed as the show warrants according to the number of

"We had not expected much of the Democrats because of their pro-segregation southern wing, but we had expected a little better of the Republicans."

"It brings the overall cost of our Live Stock show to some $40,000 and emphasizes the fact it is the largest 4-H beef show in the world today."

The money, Mr. Coffee pointed out, is entirely independent of the Ak-Sar-Ben Rodeo prizes.

Rodeo Chairman Jess Thurmond has announced Ak-Sar-Ben is putting $15,000 on the block for the cowboys to shoot at this year and the entire prize fund, augmented by entry fees, will run more than $20,000.

Gene Autry and Annie Oakley, the most renowned western stars of the day will be in person at all eleven rodeo performances.

Tickets for the Rodeo are now on sale at the Rodeo Bungalow at 16th and Farnam Streets, Omaha, or by mail at the Ak-Sar-Ben Office, 201 Patterson Building, Omaha. Reserved seats are $2.50, $1.80 and $1.50.
