CINDY REDLEGS STILL WOULD LIKE NEWCOMBE FOR $300,000

Cincinnati, Ohio. (CNS). The Cincinnati Redlegs never give up—at least not when they want a thing real bad. They offered the Dodgers $300,000 for big Don Newcombe right after he "got belted in the second World Series game" claims Manager of the Year in the National League, Birdie Tebbetts. Now back from Europe, Birdie insists they have the offer still open.

"We would have not made such an offer if we didn't think he was worth it. He's (Don) a great pitcher," elaborated Tebbetts. The fiery manager is out chopping for a first line pitcher — believing that all he needs is this to be at the top of the league.

The Last Word

By Elizabeth Davis Pittman

Marion Anderson's new book, an autobiography entitled My Lord, What a Morning, is a delight to read. After one has read the book, there is a warm feeling of simple enjoyment such as one entertains after one of her concerts.

This book is written with a feeling of deep humility. She is ever grateful to fortune for her good luck in her career and says that each step forward was so natural that she just seemed to pass from one phase to another. There is frequent reference made to Billy King, Sol Hurok, Franz Rupp and others who have contributed to her success. Meanwhile she does not forget casual associates, music lovers, who have given her moments of happiness just as she has given them moments of happiness.

She mentions the well remembered discrimination at Constitution Hall in Washington, D. C. some years ago, but she glides smoothly forward saying that she cannot allow such things to disturb her. She is a singer from the heart and she has a deep, abiding belief that her voice is her gift from God to make music. That, she considers more important than all else.

Truly a book written in simplicity, it is about a great singer who has, as Toscanini has said, "a voice that is heard only once in a hundred years."

Jewish Congress Urges Hearings on Disfranchising The Southern Negroes

The American Jewish Congress has urged the United States Senate to hold public hearings as early as possible on the unconstitutional disfranchisement of United States citizens. The AJ-Congress request, addressed to Senator Albert Gore, chairman of the Senate Sub-Committee on Privileges and Elections, followed the disclosure recently by Warren Olney 3rd, Assistant Attorney General, that Negroes in Ouchita Parish, Louisiana, and elsewhere in the South, are being illegally deprived of their right to vote in the Federal elections.

In a letter to Senator Gore, Shad Polier, chairman of the AJ-Congress' Commission on Law and Social Action, commended Mr. Olney for submitting evidence of wide-scale interference in the South with the Negro's voting franchise. "We believe that Mr. Olney's statement merely samples a much larger body of evidence of illegal disfranchisement that would be revealed by intensive Committee investigation," Mr. Polier declared.

The importance of this issue, Mr. Polier said, cannot be minimized. "The election process is the foundation of our political system. Wholesale, illegal exclusion of a large part of the population from the ballot vitiates the results of any election that may follow. This kind of interference is surely no less grave a threat to our institutions than the other matters to which your Committee has already given its attention."

The President, the Vice President and the members of the Senate and House should not be chosen in elections, Mr. Polier continued, "that are rigged by unlawful curtailment of the electorate."

In another letter addressed to

Assistant Attorney General Olney, Mr. Polier declared that Mr. Olney's recent statement revealing disfranchisement activities in the South showed "an acute grasp of the details of the present assault on the franchise of Southern Negroes and an understanding of its implications as a threat to our democratic freedom."

The American Jewish Congress, Mr. Polier said, "has long urged amendment of existing Federal statutes to provide the Department of Justice with more effective means of halting interference with the right to vote in Federal elections. We have also urged that more could be done under existing Federal laws than has been up to now."

The facts revealed by Mr. Olney, Mr. Polier asserted, "show that Federal penal status have been violated on a wide scale in Ouchita Parish and elsewhere. I believe that the Department of Justice should make every effort to prosecute the guilty parties. Fully realizing that it is difficult and often impossible to obtain indictments and convictions in Southern states for such crimes even when the evidence is clear, we nevertheless urge that the Department of Justice has the obligation to demand indictments and convictions. When it does not do so, the onus for failure to enforce the law rests on the Federal authorities instead of where it belongs."

BITS O' BUSINESS — Farmers' total assets are $170.1 billion, the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York calculates. Anthracite prices have had their seasonal rise — 75 cents a ton for commercial stoker sizes. Cotton exports totaling six million bales in the current year are forecast by the Department of Agriculture.

Federal Power Is Needed To Halt South's Persecution Of the NAACP Efforts

New York, Nov. 9 — The American Jewish Congress has called upon the three branches of the federal government to take immediate steps to halt current legal and legislative action against the NAACP in the South. A resolution adopted here by the Congress' administrative committee asserts that recent southern legislation and legal proceedings "to outlaw or paralyze" the NAACP in that region are "a greater menace to constitutional liberty than mob violence."

Citing court proceedings banning the NAACP in Alabama, Louisiana and Texas, a new Virginia law designed to cripple the NAACP, legislative investigations of the NAACP in Florida and Virginia, and other recent southern anti-NAACP measures, the resolution calls for the following action by the federal government:

1. A public investigation by the U. S. Congress "of the extent to which constitutional freedoms have been invaded by these attacks." Using this information, Congress should "take appropriate action under its legislative power to enforce the Fourteenth Amendment." (The theory of the Fourteenth Amendment is described earlier in the resolution as follows: "At those times when state governments oppress their own people, the national government must intervene to protect the democratic processes necessary to the republican form of government.")

2. Intervention by the Department of Justice "in the various proceedings in the southern states that are designed to outlaw the NAACP, paralyze its lawful activities or curb advocacy of its program of desegregating the public schools."

3. Public condemnation by the President of the United States of "this campaign of oppression" and influence on his part to "bring it to an end."

The document also calls for defense of the NAACP by "all individuals and organizations dedicated to the maintenance of constitutional liberty" because of recognition that in attacks against the NAACP lies "a threat to that freedom of association necessary to the exercise of other constitutional freedoms."

The AJC resolution was adopted on Oct. 21.
