Creighton Transforming Building

"Silk purse from a sow's ear..." That's not a literal description of what's taking place on the Hilltop these days, but Creighton University officials are hoping to come up with a like-new classroom facility for a fraction of the cost of a new building.

Pygmalion-like transformation is planned for the venerable old red-brick, north wing of the Creighton Administration Building which, for many decades, has housed Creighton Prep students. By this time next year, Prep will be moving out of its gleaming new quarters at Seventy-second and Western and Creighton University students will take over the old Prep wing of the building.

But Prep students, coming back to attend the University, may well find the old schoolhouse hard to recognize, if the plans of University officials materialize.

Preliminary work on the 56 year old, four story, high school wing got underway this past summer. The entire structure was water-proofed. Some 150 old, sand-blasted, tuck-pointed and wooden-framed windows, probably dating back to the buildings construction, were replaced with steel, projected-type windows. And many of the walls are re-plastered.

Next summer, the remaining walls will be re-plastered. Ceilings in classrooms and corridors will be lowered to prevent heat-loss and modernize the appearance of the rooms. New and additional lighting fixtures will be installed. And new floors will be laid throughout.

The renovated building could provide space for eighteen additional classrooms for University students. And, certain areas will be converted into teachers' offices.

By September, 1958, University students will move into expanded facilities, provided at an estimated one-eighth of the cost of adding the same facilities through new construction.

It's part of the University's answer to steadily expanding enrollments.

Little Rock Mayor Defies The Governor

Little Rock, Ark. (CNS) — In a tension-tight town such as Little Rock, Arkansas, where the nation watches the outcome of an integration situation which could easily cause conflict in other southern cities faced with the same problem; integration in the city schools, we find a mayor who is definitely not a gainst integration.

Mayor Woodrow Wilson Mann says he's prepared to send his entire police force of 175 men to break up the crowds at Central High School. Himself a graduate of 1934, Mr. Mann's oldest son, Woodrow, Jr., attends classes there. The Mayor believes the Governor should be stopped in his attempt to keep nine Negroes from enrolling in the high school "or we will face anarchy."

Asked whether his son would attend an integrated school, the Mayor promptly stated: "He most certainly would. He would obey the law of the land the way the rest of us would." This opinion seems to be circulating among the students. The President of the Student Council also stated he would not resist attending classes with Negro students and neither would any of his fellow classmates. However, if it came to dating Negro students, that would be something different, he stated. They all feel that since integration must inevitably come, why not accept it peacefully now.

There are 71 mountain peaks in the U. S. over 14,000 feet high. Highest is California's Mount Whitney, 14,495 feet. Fifty-five of these mountains are in Colorado, 13 are in California, and 3 are in Washington.

Gartok, Tibet, a city of about 10,000 people, is located at an altitude of 14,240 feet.

Both the highest and the lowest points in the U. S. are in Inyo County, California, only 85 miles apart.

Arthur Godfrey Spotlight Attraction of Ak's Rodeo

Arthur Godfrey, outstanding star of radio and television, will switch his operations from New York City to Omaha in order to headline this year's Ak-Sar-Ben World Championship Rodeo and Live Stock Show.

This entertainment coup is just one of several announced by J. L. Thurmond, chairman of Ak-Sar-Ben's Rodeo Committee. "Not only will we have the No. 1 percentage of show business but we'll also have the services of the world's funniest rodeo clown and the top cowboys of the entire nation," Mr. Thurmond declared.

One Tonight Performance
The Rodeo will begin a 10-day, 11-performance stand at Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum September 20. There will be eight evening performances at 8, two Sunday matinee at 2 and one Sunday twilight performance on September 22 at 6:15 p.m.

Godfrey will put his famed Palomino champion, "Goldie," through his paces at the Rodeo performances and will bring his entire cast of 80 stars, producers and technicians to Omaha for his daily radio and TV shows. At least one of these shows will emanate from Ak-Sar-Ben's world's largest 4-H Beef Show.

Due to prior TV commitments, Godfrey will not be able participate in the final performance of the Rodeo on Sunday, September 29. In his place will be the top stars of Omaha's 10 TV and radio stations.

Also at Ak-Sar-Ben's Rodeo will be the man generally conceded to be the best clown in the arena business, Wilbur Plaugher. Tall and lanky, he is an expert at tantalizing the dangerous Brahma bulls. However, he gained most of his fame as a producer of new and clever clown stunts throughout the entire performance.

Meanwhile, thrills aplenty will be offered by the cowboys who are seeking the $17,500 in prize money. They will match talents for world's championship points in the bareback bronc riding, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling, calf roping and Brahma bull riding contests.

Annual highlights of the show returning are the Miss Rodeo America regional competition, the Quarter Horse Show, the Cutting Horse Contest, the colorful Midwest Marching Band Championships and Ak-Sar-Ben's outstanding competition for 4-H and FFA dairy cattle and 4-H beef cattle, swine and sheep.

Despite the huge additional cost of this year's program, Ak-Sar-Ben officials declined an opportunity to raise the admission prices, which remain $1.50, $1.50 and $2.50 for reserved seats; $3.50 for box seats; and $1.20 for standing room.

For the convenience of out-of-town fans, mail orders for tickets, with remittance and self-addressed stamped envelope enclosed, will be filled promptly at the Ak-Sar-Ben office, 201 Paterson Bldg., Omaha, Nebraska.

Tony Regent Gets Hole-In-One Honors

College student Tony Regent has captured first place in the Hole-in-One Golf Contest sponsored by the Omaha Junior Chamber of Commerce. Tony's winning drive fell one foot eleven inches from the pin. The first place prize in the fifteen day contest was $100. Tony is a student at St. Louis University where he attends on a golf and basketball scholarship. He has also been high school golf champion of Ohio.

Second place winner was Bob Copenhaver, 4865 Pierce Street, $75.00 and third place of $25.00 went to Len Kalpus of 4401 South 26th Street. Mel Engler, chairman of the event, announced that all funds realized from the contest will be used to carry on the civic projects of the Omaha Junior Chamber of Commerce. The contest was held at Pounder's Driving Range, 78th and Dodge from September 1-September 15.

New Area For Recreat'n Is Dedicated

Taking part with other city dignitaries in the dedication of Omaha's newest recreational area at Forty-Eighth and Drexel St. (September 13) was the chairman of the Chamber of Commerce's newly organized Recreation Com. of the Chamber of Commerce's mittee, Verne Vance.

Mr. Vance, in his brief remarks to the gathering attending the dedication, told of the Committee's goal "to aid in the development and establishment of needed recreational facilities throughout the city to promote the health and well being of our citizens."

He further expressed the Committee's aim to seek ways to curb delinquency, and provide wholesome outlets for added leisure time. He praised the action of the city in the purchase of three playground sites from a $50,000 trust fund set up by the Omaha World-Herald for children in congested areas, and pledged to work in every way for the development of additional city-wide recreational facilities.

FAUBUS GETS 300 SIGNERS

Little Rock, Ark. (CNS) — As the nation waited for a statement from Gov. Orval Faubus to end the dilemma which would allow nine Negro students to attend classes, the Governor was busy collecting names of what he called good citizens to back him up in his fight for segregation. So far, the Governor had 300 names on a lengthy petition stamped together for effect.

FIRST PHEASANT HUNT

The fall of 1927 marks the first time an open season was declared on the ring-necked pheasant in Nebraska. A three-day season was opened in Sherman and Wheeler Counties, with the result that about 5,000 birds were bagged. In '28 a 10-day hunt was held in Garfield, Wheeler, Valley, Greeley, Sherman, Howard, Buffalo, and Merrick Counties and over 35,000 pheasants were taken.

U. S. investments in Canada in 1956 totaled $13,500,000,000.

Nebraska OK'd For Atom Electric Plant At Hallam

Work Is Set To Roll On Plant Near Hallam

COLUMBUS, NEB. — Consumers Public Power District officials Saturday were highly pleased over the announcement from Washington, D. C., of the approval of the CPPD-Atomic Energy Commission contract for the construction of an atomic power plant near Hallam, Nebraska.

Consumers officials, pointing out that their approval and signing was the culmination of more than two year's negotiations and studies.

Mark T. Moore, Kearney businessman and CPPD president, was joined by R. L. Schacht, Consumers' General Manager, in stating that much credit should go to the many hard-working individuals and groups, state organizations and others who aided Consumers in obtaining the atomic power plant for Nebraska.

President Moore, speaking on behalf of the other six members of Consumers' Board of Directors, also said:

"The coming of the atomic power age to Nebraska in the form of a sodium-graphite-type nuclear power plant is the greatest history-making chapter in the state's development since Nebraska was admitted to the Union on March 1, 1867. In less than 90 years, Nebraska will have used water, coal, gas, and oil and now atomic energy as a means of supplying electric power."

"Nebraska can look forward to a bright, rewarding future with scores of new developments that seem assured with the advent of atomic energy in this state. It not only will mean a new way of generating electricity within the state but also atomic energy will attract new industries to Nebraska to the end that Nebraska educational institutions and the state's many excellent agricultural and manufactured products become more widely and favorably known."

Hank Aaron Gets Nod In Baseball

Willie Mays and Frank Robinson Named All National League

New York, Sept. 14—Hank Aaron, the strong-wristed star of the Milwaukee Braves, won top honors in the annual balloting by major league radio and TV broadcasters for the Look All America Baseball Team, it was announced today.

Aaron, named All America in the issue of Look magazine out next Tuesday, polled 157 points out of a possible 162 points, making him one of the top three point-getters in the balloting.

Cardinals' Stan Musial, the high man in the voting, received 160 points and Boston's Ted Williams followed with 153 points.

Willie Mays, the Giants' power-house was tapped for the Look All National League, scoring 127 points in the poll, but lost the All America berth to Mickey Mantle who drew 148 points.

Frank Robinson, the head-hitting Redlegs flyhawk, reports Look's poll, took the All National League left field slot.

GIBSON GIRLS WIN U. S. SINGLES

Forest Hills, N. Y. (CNS) — Proving herself the brilliant player she is, Althea Gibson became the first Negro to win the U. S. Singles Championship in her eighth try. As Vice-President Nixon presented her trophy, she said simply: "I thank God for giving me the ability and the opportunity to play in front of you. I hope to wear my crown with dignity and humility."

Elephants usually live from 30 to 40 years, but have been known to reach considerably greater longevity.

Ak-Sar-Ben Show Is In Full Swing

Omaha, Neb.—The thirtieth annual Ak-Sar-Ben Live Stock show, like most of its predecessors, will once again be acclaimed as the world's largest 4-H Beef Show.

That was assured Wednesday when Stock Show Committeeman Harry B. Coffee closed the books on the entries.

The Live Stock Show is held in conjunction with the Ak-Sar-Ben World Championship Rodeo which runs from Friday, September 20, through Sunday, September 29.

"We are exceedingly pleased with the number of entries we received from four states," Mr. Coffee stated, "and we are highly honored to be playing host to some 1,003 boys and girls from this area."

Last year 857 boys and girls participated in the Live Stock Show.

The number of entries this year are market steers, 813; market heifers, 208; pens-of-five market steers, 28; pens-of-five market heifers, 5; purebred beef heifers, 70; dairy cattle, 392; market swine, 139; and sheep, 140.

This gives the 4-H show an overall total of 1,927 as compared to 1,874 last year.

The popular 4-H Beef Division includes 775 entries from Nebraska and 380 from Iowa. The remainder are from Minnesota and South Dakota.

During their stay in Omaha, the 4-H youngsters will be busy with day-long Stock Show events and evening attendance at the Rodeo that features Arthur Godfrey and his champion Palomino, "Goldie."

Mr. Coffee also pointed out that for the first time all the youngsters will be accommodated on the Ak-Sar-Ben grounds.

In the past the 4-H girls were housed at a downtown Omaha Hotel. However, the new Grand Concourse that spans the drive-way between Ak-Sar-Ben's Coliseum and Grandstand this year has been converted into a 4-H girls dormitory similar to the 4-H boys dormitory building and also includes a huge recreation lounge for both boys and girls.

Laura Jones In Red Cross Post

C. F. Moulton, chairman of the board of directors, Douglas County Chapter of the American Red Cross, has announced the appointment of Laura Jones as director of public information.

The new director has been a resident of Omaha for the past seven years. She attended the University of Minnesota and is the daughter of W. Richard Moller of Spokane, Washington.

Rev. Williams Judge of '58 Scholarship

The Rev. R. C. Williams, S. J., has accepted an appointment as a judge for the 1958 Scholarship Award competition of American Women in Radio and Television, Incorporated. Father Williams is Director of Communication Arts at Creighton University.

Five judges are selected for this national competition by the organization's Board of Directors.

Miss Edythe Fern Melrose, Detroit, Michigan, said, "Our judges are chosen as outstanding representatives of their respective fields of educational and commercial broadcasting." Miss Melrose is president of the organization.

This is the third such annual scholarship of $500 to be awarded to a woman student. The applicants for scholarships must be enrolled in their junior year at an accredited American college or university offering a degree or a major in radio and/or television.

It was established to encourage entrance of "unusually able young women in the broadcasting industry. The award is to be used for academic study in radio and/or television or for expenses incurred in on-the-job training. These applicants are judged on scholarship, character, personality, stability, cooperation and adaptability.

Miss Henrietta Kieser, vice president of Bozell and Jacobs, Inc., of Omaha, is a national director-at-large for American Women in Radio and Television, Incorporated.

Work Not Damaging To Heart

How hard do you work? Heart research has shown that most likely you don't work nearly as hard as you think you do.

A scientist doing much of this research, Dr. Herman K. Hellerstein of Cleveland, is one of six nationally recognized experts who will speak to doctors at the Eighth Annual Scientific Sessions of the Nebraska Heart Association, October 3-5, at Omaha.

His study of the energy requirements of heart patients and healthy workers on their jobs indicates that many industrial jobs require less energy than things workers do in free time.

More than half the jobs studied had an average energy cost of less than two calories a minute, compared with three calories a minute for merely washing, shaving and dressing.

Walking constituted the heaviest exertion in most jobs. Going around the block requires more than six calories a minute, said the Heart Association.

Dr. Hellerstein's studies shows that heart patients did not have to work any harder than the healthy subjects in order to perform the same tasks.

He has concluded that many jobs in modern industry require so low an expenditure of energy that they are well within the capacity of persons with heart disease.

The Cleveland researcher and all other speakers at the Nebraska Heart Association sessions will report on latest efforts to combat heart attacks and to help the heart attack patient.

All Nebraska physicians and medical students have been invited to attend without charge. The Heart Fund - supported meeting is designed to help keep medical men abreast of latest developments in the heart field.

TRUMAAN BACKS UP INTEGRATION MOVE
New York City (C) — Ex-President Truman, here on a visit with his daughter and her family, expressed his sincere belief that Judge Ronald N. Davies simply followed the law and the Constitution. It was just "a matter of the Bill of Rights" declared Truman.
