Lundgren New Ins. President

Howard M. Lundgren, president of the Woodmen of the World Life Insurance Society, today was elected president of the National Fraternal Congress, at its 71st annual convention in Los Angeles.

Mr. Lundgren served as vice president last year of this organization.

ization of 102 fraternal benefit societies. He is also a past president of the National Fraternal Investment Association and member of the Fraternal Congress executive committee since 1954.

Mr. Lundgren, 47, is the youngest man to be elected president of the Woodmen of the World in its 67-year history. He was national secretary when chosen president, October 13, 1955, on the retirement of Farrar Newberry.

The new Fraternal Congress president has been an ardent fraternalist since joining the Woodmen of the World headquarters staff in 1927, following his graduation with an LL.B. degree, cum laude, from the University of Omaha. He began work in the Society's Commission Department, later was transferred to the Investment Department as investment analyst. For several years, prior to his appointment as vice president in 1951, he was in charge of investments. Today he is recognized as one of the nation's foremost authorities in this field.

Mr. Lundgren was appointed a national auditor and member of the board of directors, January 1, 1953. He succeeded the late William C. Braden as national secretary in 1954. During the past 30 years he also has been active in Seymour Camp No. 16 of Omaha, of which he is a past consul commander. It is the largest Camp of the some 4,000 in the Society. He is also past head consul.

In the past two years, during his tenure as president of the Society, Woodmen of the World has made notable gains in insurance in force, fraternal activities and financial strength. Insurance in force has increased $21,105,231 to $605,636,534. Woodmen for many years has been the world's financially strongest fraternal benefit society, based on its $121.57 of assets for each $130 of liabilities.

An artist confesses he put ten years work into a picture he has just sold. Nine of them are said to have been devoted to selling it.

DAV To Launch Seal Campaign

The residents of Nebraska will be receiving this seal the first week in October. This seal is the service and rehabilitation emblem of the department of Nebraska Disabled Veterans. It symbolizes the service rendered by the organization such as service and claims work, hospital visitation and gifts finding employment for the handicapped veteran and rehabilitation services to the veteran and his family. Commander William Villont of Omaha said today, that in order for the DAV of Nebraska to carry on its vast programs that they are asking the residents of Nebraska to contribute to the seal campaign. Commander Villont also pointed out that in conducting this campaign no promoters or solicitors are used and all monies are used within the state of Nebraska. He also emphasized that there are more and more veterans and their dependents needing help than ever. Our Christmas stores at the VA hospitals are a vast undertaking. The patients are allowed to select gifts from the Christmas stores, send them home to their dependents packaged and mailed—cost free. Our top programs for under-privileged children and crippled children, our youth training programs and services of our service officers throughout the state. Any contributions will be greatly appreciated and used cautiously to further and better our services and rehabilitation programs here in Nebraska.

Committee Takes Action on Rate Raise

In a meeting this noon (September 26) of the Transportation Committee of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, the group took action for Chamber participation in the fresh meats and packinghouse products rate raise, Interstate Commerce Docket No. 32252. John J. Chapuran, chairman of the committee, stated the committee took the action for the purpose of preserving for Omaha a rate structure properly related to the rates from and to areas in direct competition with Omaha and other points in the state of Nebraska.

Chapuran said the proceeding involves the fundamental principles of rate-making which require equitable relationships between competing markets and geographical locations.

As a result of the committee's action, C. J. Burrill, manager of Transportation Department, will represent the Chamber in Denver on Monday, September 30.

The ICC has set for hearing on that date its investigation into reduced rail carrier rates on fresh meats and packinghouse products to the West Coast.

Is "Bail" Correct?

Frequently it happens that a person is charged with a crime and then before he is tried is permitted to remain out of jail. During this period he is apparently as free as the rest of us who have committed no crime. We have all heard the statement, "He's guilty. Why do they turn him loose?"

There is a good reason for this. Our law is based on the presumption that a person is innocent of crime until proven guilty. The right to bail is another fundamental right preserved by our State Constitution. All persons accused of crime may be free on bail except for the crimes of treason and murder. These two crimes are not bailable if the proof is evident of the presumption great.

What is meant by bail? This simply means that some person either deposits a sum of money with the court or agrees that a certain sum will be forfeited if the accused person fails to show up when he should. At first the bail is to insure the presence of the accused at the trial and at the final judgement and sentence of the trial court. A judge fixes the amount of the bail and excessive bail may not be required.

In Nebraska all persons convicted of a crime have the right to appeal to the State Supreme Court. This may be waived by the accused except in cases where the sentence is death. In cases which are bailable an accused, even though he has been convicted, has the right to be free on bail until his appeal has been decided. In any case where the individual fails to comply with the terms of his bail the money is forfeited to the state.

In our country freedom is important and bail is another way of protecting this freedom. Thus, we as individuals are spared from being deprived of our freedom until our guilt has been finally established.

This article is prepared as a public service by the Nebraska State Bar Association, 2413 State House, Lincoln, Nebraska.

World Service Committee Meets

TO: Executive Committee and World Service Committee.

FROM: I. Wesley A. Jones, President of the YMCA Board of Directors and Winslow Van Brunt, Chairman of the World Service Committee.

A special, and important meeting has been called to make some decision on the Area and National YMCA recommendations relative to the "YMCA Buildings for Brotherhood" campaign. Our fair share quota on this effort is some $22,000 and it is necessary that we make a decision at once as to how we should proceed.

It will be a served luncheon in Mr. Hummel's office at the Central YMCA next Monday noon, September 30th. Please call Miss Bergman, Atlantic 1600 and make reservations for the meeting.

Hawkins New Buffalo Asst.

nationally known public relations firm, during recent Buffalo reception. Formerly associated with the Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Baltimore, Mr. Hawkins has had wide experience in sales, public relations and radio and television. Son of Mrs. B. B. Hawkins, of Baltimore, and the late Dr. Thomas S. Hawkins, the new assignee is a graduate of Morgan State College, a Presbyterian and an active member of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity and The Frontiers of America. He now resides in Washington, D. C.

Dairy Ass'n. Sponsors Cheese Festival

All-American—"The World's Best Cheese Comes From the Good Old U.S.A." is the theme of the October Cheese Festival promotion by the American Dairy Association, a nationwide organization of dairy farmers. Miss Shari Lewis, the American Dairy Princess from Daykin, Nebraska, heralds the all-American event by sampling a chunk of—guessed it, American Cheese. Miss Lewis, who has traveled all over the U. S. and abroad promoting dairy products for the past year will soon relinquish her crown when a new princess is selected at a contest to be held in Chicago October 13th. Nebraska's entry in the contest is Miss Lorelie Lutz, dairy farm girl from Oakland, Nebraska.

Why Yogi Wins In the World Series

Don Newcombe has started five Series games against the Yankees and still hasn't won. Yogi Berra had a terrible start as a Series player, but now is a chronic hero. The current issue of Sport Magazine attempts to explain this phenomenon after interviewing and getting the opinions of the two players' teammates.

Sport, with this unusual study in World Series psychology, is at newsstands now.

Dr. K. Bochner Feature Tuberculosis Speaker

A session on "The Tuberculosis Alcoholic: What Are The Practical Answers?" will highlight the first afternoon of the 12-state Mississippi Valley Conference on Tuberculosis, meeting at the Sheraton-Fontenelle Hotel in Omaha October 10-12.

Featured speaker will be Dr. Alfred K. Bochner, Director of Treatment at the Cleveland Center on Alcoholism. Dr. William M. Spear of Oakdale, Iowa, conference president, will preside at this session.

"Six per cent of all nonhospitalized tuberculosis patients have an alcoholic problem, according to a study made by the U.S. Public Health Service," Dr. Spear brings out. "And three-fourths of the patients with a drinking problem left TB sanatoriums against medical advice."

Appearing on the panel will be Dr. Herman J. Nimitz, Director of Dunham Hospital in Cincinnati; Dr. Dieter Koch-Weser, Director of Research, Cleveland Center on Alcoholism; and from Sunny Acres Hospital, Cleveland, Dr. George A. Streeter, Visiting Psychiatrist; Agnes M. Hudack, Director of Nursing Service, and Catherine A. Waters, Director of Social Service.

"The Philosophy of Nursing Education" will be discussed at a Friday luncheon. Speaker will be Jean South, formerly of Norfolk, Nebraska, now Director and Public Health Nursing Consultant, Tuberculosis Nursing Advisory Service, National League for Nursing, New York City.

Panelists are to be Dr. Donald Emery, Dean, College of Adult Education, University of Omaha, and Retha Allen, Director of Nursing Education, St. John's Hospital, Joplin, Missouri. Bertha Nyce, Consultant Nurse, Illinois Department of Health, Bureau of TB Control (retired), will moderate. Presiding will be Mrs. Ruth Shoemaker of Hastings, Chairman of the Nebraska TB Nursing Committee.

A Friday afternoon discussion group on "Rehabilitation Moves Out of the Sanatorium" will be led by Leonard H. Heise, Director of Rehabilitation, TB Institute of Chicago and Cook County.

THREE CHEERS FOR IKE—By any journalistic standards I imagine that I qualify as a critic of the Eisenhower administration and big money Republicans generally. There have been times at the White House press conference when I had a feeling that the President and Jim Hagerty both wished that I were not there.

I cite these qualifications lest anyone think I am getting soft or becoming a blind admirer of the President, because of what I am about to say. And what I want to say is this:

A majority of U.S. editorial writers, by no means Southerners only, have failed to rise to the occasion in Little Rock. I believe the President did. The carping criticism that has followed the President's moves into that tragic area were unworthy of American journalism. There comes a time when critics and supporters of the Chief Executive must close ranks against the irresponsibles. The Little Rock crisis was such a time.

So far as liberal editorialists are concerned, it seemed to me that many were more carping in their criticism than even the segregationists who could not be expected to like the course the President followed. There were comments about Ike acting too late, about how quiescent he had been up to this point on the integration issue, about his lack of resolution and how he might have shown "leadership" before the situation came to a head.

I've said many of these things myself in the past. But they were no longer the issue. The question now was whether he took the course that the situation demanded? If you agree that he did then back him up, without sniping. If you think he was wrong, why then say so. But it seems to be too self-righteous and too much "I told you so" of typewriter generalizations to be carrying on as they have.

THE EROSION OF THE OFFICE—Not too long before his heart attack in 1955 the President was talking about his health. He said a certain "erosion" took place in the human body of any one who held the job he holds. There was the normal wear and tear on a man entering Old Age. Then there was the extra drain on the mind and body caused by all the responsibilities of the office.

The President in some ways is not a very good politician, at least he doesn't usually seem to understand the ways of American politics. He probably never realized that the influence of his office was also bound to "erode" in his second term because of the constitutional amendment barring a third term.

While I think his liberal critics might do well to keep quiet at the present stage of developments in Arkansas, I cannot say that I am surprised at the general editorial reaction to what has come in the wake of the Little Rock crisis. There is a sort of feeling that it's safe to talk back to The White House and some who were afraid to stand up before, now are working overtime pointing up Ike's deficiencies.

Columnist Marquis Childs, who knows his way around Newport, summed up the feeling in that vicinity with these words:

"Some are saying he waited too long, while in the South he will never be forgiven for having called out the Federal troops in a race issue. In his first term it seemed he could do no wrong, while it must begin to look to him as though in the second term he can do nothing right."

If I were one of Ike's advisors at this juncture in history I'd say, "Don't pay any attention to what they're saying. These are just little men trying to make enough noise to attract attention."

Right now Eisenhower looks big, bigger than he has at any time since he took office.

Easter Seal Society Meets

Victor D. Smith, President of the Nebraska Society for Crippled Children, announced today that the final details for the 1957 Annual Meeting of the Nebraska Society for Crippled Children, The Easter Seal Society, have been completed.

Representatives of more than 60 county and area units of the Society are expected to attend the annual sessions to be held at the Lincoln Hotel in Scottsbluff on Saturday, October fifth.

Demonstrations of service for the handicapped will play a large part in the program, including camping for the handicapped, hearing evaluations and surveys of speech problems.

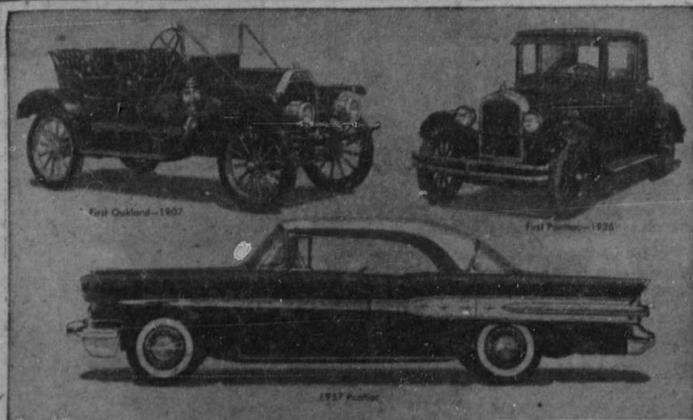

Guests will take a tour of points of interest ending in a visit to the site of Camp Easter Seal on the Platte River where for a week in the summer, handicapped children are given the experience of camping.

Voyle S. Scurlock, Director of Rehabilitation Services for the State of Oklahoma, will be the guest speaker at the noon luncheon.

"Mr. Scurlock comes to us," said Mr. Smith in making the announcement, "with a broad background in the general field of rehabilitation, but also with extensive experience in the field of Rehabilitation Centers, and the Easter Seal Society has ahead of it the need for supporting such centers in Nebraska." "We need them," continued Mr. Smith, "to give those handicapped children a chance to develop their fullest abilities who do not have such opportunities in their own communities."

The sessions begin at 9:30 A.M. Saturday, October 5th and continue through the dinner hour of that day.

PONTIAC MOTOR DIVISION is observing its 50th anniversary of automobile production since the company was first organized on August 28, 1907, at Pontiac, Mich., as the Oakland Motor Car Company. During the half century seven million cars have been built and nearly six and one-half million of that number were Pontiacs, which were introduced in 1926. In 1931 the firm's name was changed to Pontiac Motor Division when the Oakland car was discontinued.
