State Elections Thus Far.

Table with columns for Pluralities and Gains, listing election results for Oregon, Alabama, Vermont, Arkansas, and Maine.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN addressed an audience of 200,000 at Louisville, Ky., Tuesday. The whole south is fairly ablaze with enthusiasm.

Washington, Lincoln and Bryan are the men whom it appears the Almighty has given us when they were most needed to save America.

A. E. Sheldon, editor of the Chadron Signal-Recorder was nominated by the populist party, Tuesday, for representative of the 53d district. Mr. Sheldon is the gentleman whom the Alliance Guide declared to be "the brainiest man of the party in Northwest Nebraska." There is no doubt as to his election.

You ask why it is that nearly all the big newspapers are supporting McKinley? The answer is very plain. In order to establish a large daily newspaper it requires a capital of at least $100,000 and in addition the news franchise which runs from $25,000 to $50,000, therefore you see that you must be the possessor of a small fortune or have the backing of some millionaire, as for instance in Chicago where every daily newspaper but two are under the control of one man—John R. Welch, a goldbug millionaire. How could those papers do otherwise than support McKinley? They would find out on very short notice that it would be as unprofitable for them as it is for the railway man who has the "audacity" to wear a Bryan button.

The Alliance goldbug papers make a great blow of the large number of railway men who enrolled their names on the sound money club but they fail to say anything about the circumstances under which three-fifths of those names were secured. With the men who are working for corporations it is a case of "you'll have to, or make room for some one who will" and a fellow who wears a McKinley button—even if he ain't worth powder enough to blow him up—is sure to hold his job until after election. Oh yes, this is a free country. J. Pierpont Morgan can make his employees wear McKinley buttons, but he will find out next November that he can't make them commit suicide.

Judge Greene Nominated.

The democratic congressional convention was held at Chadron Tuesday. L. B. Fenner of Box Butte was elected chairman and M. J. Blewett of Sioux, secretary. Delegates from all the counties were instructed for Judge Greene and he was nominated by acclamation.

Strong resolutions were adopted indorsing the Chicago platform and especially the silver plank; commends the administration of Governor Holcomb, condemns the action of the republican state board in its attempt to prevent the investment of the permanent school funds, and congratulates the democracy of the state in its wise selection of J. C. Dahlman as chairman of the state central committee.

After the selection of John G. Maher of Chadron as chairman and C. B. Scott of Kearney as secretary of the congressional committee the convention adjourned.

The following appointments were made by the M. E. conference at Ainsworth.

- A. R. Julian, presiding elder, Chadron. Chadron, O. S. Baker. Crawford, O. L. Ramsey. Hemingford, T. J. Hazelton. Alliance, R. H. Gammon. Hay Springs and Rox Butte, C. E. Connell.

Notice to Non-resident Defendant.

In the district court of Box Butte county, William R. Abbe, plaintiff vs. Apple L. Fanning, W. H. Fanning and W. J. Rowden, defendants. The above named defendant W. J. Rowden, will take notice on the 25th day of August, 1896, that William R. Abbe plaintiff herein filed his petition in the district court of Box Butte county against the above named defendants, the object and prayer of which are to foreclose certain mortgages executed by the defendant Apple L. Fanning to the American Investment company upon the southeast quarter of section 23 in township 22 north, range 54 west of the sixth principal meridian in Box Butte county Nebraska, to secure the payment of one certain promissory note for the sum of $400.00, dated March 20, 1887, and due and payable Dec. 1st 1891 with interest thereon semi-annually and on which time of payment was afterwards extended five years from maturity thereof. Said note and mortgage contains the condition that if any interest on said note is not paid within twenty days after the same becomes due, then the principal shall immediately become due and payable at the option of the holder thereof. Said note and mortgage was filed for record on the 1st day of Dec. 1895, and since that time said mortgage has been duly assigned to the plaintiff who is now the holder and owner thereof. All of the interest which became due on said principal note on the first day of Dec. 1895, and since that time still remains unpaid and the plaintiff elects to declare the principal and interest thereon due and payable at once. And there is now due the plaintiff on said note and mortgage the sum of $400.00, with interest thereon from the first day of Dec. 1895, at ten per cent per annum. Plaintiff prays for a decree that the defendants be required to pay the same or that said premises be sold to satisfy the amount thereof. You are required to answer said petition on or before the 14th day of September 1896. Dated August 6, 1896. WILLIAM R. ABBEY, Plaintiff. By D. K. SPACHT, his attorney. 1p 8-7 1w.

Notice of Dissolution.

THE COMMON PEOPLE

are tired of the old, worn-out chestnut of "protection" and "free trade," having heard it harped upon all their lives. The only thing that will restore AMERICAN PROSPERITY IS THE FREE AND UNLIMITED coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1—And that's what we are going to have—and WITHOUT WAITING FOR THE CONSENT OF ANY OTHER NATION ON EARTH.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer send an honest opinion with to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific instruments. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special attention in the scientific American, and these are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This special paper, issued weekly, is sent free, and is the best and latest circulation of any scientific work in the world. Send for one. Terms: seven cents per copy. Building Edition, monthly, $2.00 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful illustrations, and is a valuable addition to new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and modes of construction. LIFE LINES OF THE FOOT.

What They Reveal to the Character Student. There is man in Philadelphia who claims that it is much easier to read one's character and past and future from the maps on the soles of one's feet than it is from the palms of the hand, says the Philadelphia Press. He calls it "pedology" and if the scoffer who passes his door and looks in at the maps on his walls calls it "Tribology," that does not matter. There are scoffers at everything, be it true or false. The pedologist, while refusing to tell the names of the owners of the feet in most cases, showed a number of diagrams the other day and explained how he read the fortunes of the soles. "Here," he said, "is a public character and well-known actress. Here is her story. Look at it. It's worth studying, for she is one of the most beautiful women on the American stage and is remarkable in other ways. Her foot is so beautifully arched that little of her sole touched the paper when she placed her foot upon it. The intellectual and artistic lines are clearly defined on her foot; and one need but hear her speak for a few moments to realize that her artistic and mental capabilities are of a high order. The lines of intuition and imagination are remarkably long. The cross between the line of love and the head line indicates that in a love affair she would be governed largely by reason. She has strong affections, according to the long heart line." A contrast to the actresses' foot was that of a factory girl from Kensington. This was a foot common to people of little education. There was scarcely any instep to the foot. The lines of imagination, mental capacities and intuition were very short and the artistic line was entirely lacking. The heart and love lines were well defined and long. The lines also indicated firmness and great ambition, with a decided fondness for pleasure. So the pedologist explained. Still another foot was that of a society girl. Here again was the high arch. It showed among other things that she did not have to stand upon her feet as did the poor factory girl. The lines told of her having less heart and less ambition than the factory girl, too. There were selfishness and vanity in the impression. It seemed well that silk stockings and dainty shoes usually kept it from the sight of those who would read its owner's character in the sole of that foot. There was the foot of the preacher and the policeman and the lawyer and each seemed to tell a story in keeping with its owner's vocation and habits. Last of all came the print of the man about town. There was no arch there. It had come down "flat-footed." It looked as if it were used in walking up and a fashionable street and standing about the club. It had good nature and self-satisfaction, some generosity and some brains in it, but little ambition. Flavored with Tobacco Juice. "I am informed that a large trade in the manufacture of English cigars is carried on, principally in the east end of London. All the ends of cigars and cigarettes, 'dovels,' chewed 'quids,' etc. are bought at so much per pound from public houses, music halls, etc., besides those picked up in the street. These savory morsels are put into a large bath, where a kind of tobacco broth is made. In the early autumn, when the chestnut leaves are beginning to turn a golden color, parties are organized who go wherever they can get a good supply of these leaves, which are then put on long wires and immersed in this bath for either a long or short time, according to the requirements of a strong or mild cigar. These leaves are then rolled into English cigars." The above correspondent's statement tallies with an incident which occurred some years ago, when a certain person was charged with illegally manufacturing cigars. His defense was that the cigars he manufactured did not contain a particle of tobacco. His cigars were made of brown paper, embossed to look like leaves, and steeped in tobacco juice.—London Standard. Sickles' Retort to Ingersoll. After one of Col. Robert G. Ingersoll's characteristic lectures in New York he met Gen. Daniel G. Sickles, who had been in the audience, and asked him: "What did you think of my lecture, general?" "Do you see that cripple across the street?" asked Sickles. "Yes." "What would you think of me if I should go over now and kick the crutches from under him?" "I'd feel like kicking you," answered Ingersoll. "I feel in almost the same humor toward you. You have kicked the crutches of my religion from under me," said the general.—Kansas City Star. A Bright Japanese Woman. The most celebrated woman in Japan to-day is Mme. Oyama, chief lady-in-waiting to the empress. She instructs the ladies of the court in European etiquette, of which she knows more than many noted Europeans. She is very beautiful, brilliant intellectually and a skilled linguist. She was most carefully educated in this country and soon after her graduation from college she became engaged to Oyama, the distinguished Japanese field marshal. One Redeeming Feature. "There's one good thing about your eyeglasses," said the visitor to the old settler in St. Louis. "I don't know what it can be," replied the old settler. "Why," said the genial visitor, "they never strike below the belt."—New York Herald.
