Representative Taylor doubtless comes home with considerable satisfaction, as he has been able to realize the desire of his ambition, in the enactment of a law which reduces Jas. Stockham's salary as district clerk to $1,600 a year.

Dish Woodruff, of Georgetown, was a friendly caller Tuesday. He had just returned from Omaha, where he shipped a car each of cattle and hogs last week. He reports having received very satisfactory prices.

Silas Thompson, of Upton, went to Omaha the first of the week with two car loads of cattle. Mr. Thompson is one of the men who not only believes that prosperity has struck this country under the McKinley administration, but he is one of them that is reaping the benefit of high priced cattle.

Nero could laugh while Rome burned, and the ignorant Jews jeer and rail on Christ while dying on the rugged cross, but Gov. Poynter, the demo-pop governor, who vetoed the resolutions of thanks to the Nebraska soldiers in the Philippines, has no parallel in modern times.

Mrs. Thomas Smith, of Eudell, was a city visitor the first of the week. From her report we would infer that there are a few left in that vicinity that have little respect for law or the rights of others. Those who undertake to take the execution of law in their own hands, thereby becomes law breakers and are liable to get themselves into trouble sooner or later.

S. J. Winch, of Elk Creek, made this office a friendly call yesterday. We learn from him that he has a son in company M. at Manila. Mr. Winch is one of the early settlers of his locality, and by the way one of the prominent organizers of the alliance party in this county, being one of the original stock holders in the Beacon, but he is one among the many of the early day populists who are beginning to see that they have been used merely as cats' paws to pull the chestnuts out of the fire for the kid gloved gents who are above recognizing them on the streets. Suffice to say that he is no longer a pop, and is frank to say that "Wm. McKinley has made the best president since Andrew Jackson."

Prof. Walsh, the Great French Hypnotist, with his peerless company of select subjects, will be at the opera house three nights next week. Tickets on sale at post office and Wilson & Drake's. Prices, 10, 20 and 30 cents. Ladies free first night, when accompanied by a gentleman with one paid 30c ticket. Tickets to be bought before 7 p. m.

Will L. Rule is the name of the man sent here by Foster & Smith to take charge of the lumber and coal business at this place, vice, A. E. Stratton, who has been transferred to Central City. Mr. Rule comes here from the southeastern part of the state, but was formerly of Illinois, where his family is yet. They will locate in the city as soon as he can find a suitable house to occupy. Mr. Rule is a very pleasant appearing gentleman, and it is with pleasure the REPUBLICAN extends to him a welcome.

Dr. Rea, whose advertisement appears elsewhere, confines his practice to diseases of long standing, and which physicians of local fame have given up as incurable. He holds diplomas in some of the best colleges in America, and has practiced his profession in some of the largest medical institutions in the world. The great increase in the number of his patients at each successive visit to this place is a sure indication of the esteem in which he is held, both professionally and as a gentleman.

Mrs. Kate Barbour, of Harvard, state organizer of the P. E. O. sisterhood, was in our city Wednesday, and instituted a chapter of P. E. O. Wednesday afternoon and evening, at the residence of Mrs. Willing. The ladies constituting the charter members of the Broken Bow chapter are Mesdames Willing, Hunter, Adamson, Drake, Salisbury and Wilson, and Misses Robertson, Beal and Alexander, and are officered by Mrs. Humphrey, president; Mrs. Willing, vice-president; Mrs. Wilson, secretary; Mrs. Hunter, chaplain; after the installation of officers the ladies partook of an elegant spread with Mrs. Willing. The P. E. O. sisterhood is highly spoken of by all its members, and the REPUBLICAN hopes to see it flourish in our city, as its influence for good is unquestioned.

A. R. SAMPSON DEAD.

Will Cole received a telegram from his sister, Mrs. A. R. Samson, that her husband, A. R. Sampson, died last night at Boise City, Idaho, where he and family have made their home for several years. The deceased was formerly a resident of this city and had a host of friends here, who will join the REPUBLICAN in extending sympathy to his family, and relatives who live here.

CITY ELECTION.

The city election, Tuesday, was one of the most hotly contested ever held in the city. The principle issue was political. Both the republicans and fusionists had tickets in the field asking the suffrage of the people. The license question was an important factor that cut no little figure in the result.

Both political organizations had passed resolutions pledging their nominees to abide by the majority vote on the question of liquor license, but the republican nominees were regarded by the voters as most nearly representing the temperance element, and as a result they got the support of that class of voters, with but few exceptions, of all parties. Upon the other hand, a number of republicans who favored license supported the fusion nominees, feeling they were more favorable to their views of the question, so in this way a double issue was at stake. Strong populists, who were against license, supported the republican ticket and republicans who favored license supported the citizen's ticket, but as Ed. Royce, the republican nominee for mayor, was elected by eighty six majority over J. J. Wilson, carrying each ward in the city, and as license was defeated by only sixteen votes, it argues that many republicans who favored license also voted for Royce for mayor. The vote on city clerk was the least complicated and comes nearest of showing the republican majority in the city. The vote was thirty six majority for R. D. Pickett, republican, over C. H. Holcomb.

As both sides were confident of success they both worked hard all day. Every voter in the city was induced by either one or the other side to go to the polls and vote, yet the election, while animated, was quiet and the best of feeling prevailed among the workers of the different political parties. The question of levying five mills for electric light purposes was not generally understood by the people and for that reason was defeated by a small majority. The republicans elected every officer except councilman in the second ward, where E. R. Purcell was elected over J. W. Bruce by seven votes.

This ward has always been regarded as the "Irish ward" or populist strong hold, and none were surprised over the outcome, yet better results were hoped for. The first ward still retains the honor of being the banner ward of the city. It gave republican majorities of thirty four to forty one, Royce, for mayor receiving the highest.

From the best information obtainable without the official count, it is believed that the proposition to authorize the levy of five mills for electric lights, carried.
