Be Careful

No woman can be too careful of her condition during the period before her little ones are born. Neglect or improper treatment then endangers her life and that of the child. It lies with her whether she shall suffer unnecessarily, or whether the ordeal shall be made comparatively easy. She had better do nothing than do something wrong.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

is the one and the only preparation that is safe to use. It is a liniment that penetrates from the outside. External applications are eternally right. Internal medicines are radically wrong. They are more than humbugs—they endanger life.

Mother's Friend helps the muscles to relax and expand naturally—relieves morning sickness—removes the cause of nervousness and headache—prevents hard and rising breasts—shortens labor and lessens the pains—and helps the patient to rapid recovery.

From a letter by a Shreveport, La., woman: "I have been using your wonderful remedy, Mother's Friend, for the last two months, and find it just as recommended."

Two Pointed Questions Answered.

What is the use of making a better article than your competitor if you can not get a better price for it? Ans.—As there is no difference in the price the public will buy only the better, so that while our profits may be smaller on a single sale they will be much greater in the aggregate.

How can you get the public to know your make is the best.

If both articles are brought prominently before the public both are certain to be tried and the public will very quickly pass judgement on them and use only the better one.

This explains the large sale on Chamberlin's Cough Remedy. The people havebeen useing it for years and have found it can always be depended upon. They may occasionally take up with some fashionable novelty put forth with exaggerated claims, but are certain to return to the one remedy that they know to be reliable, and for coughs, colds and croup there is nothing equal to Chamberlin's Cough Remedy. For sale by all Druggists

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy can always be depended upon and is pleasent and safe to take. Sold by all Druggists.

A Sure Sign of Croup.

Hoarseness in a child that is subject to croup is a sure indication of the approach of the disease. If Chamberlin's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough has appeard; it will prevent the attack. Many mothers who have croupy children always keep this remedy at hand and find that it saves them much trouble and worry. It can always be depended upon and it is pleasent to take. The Baptism and Temptation of Jesus.

Math. 3:13 to 4:11. Jan. 28, 1900.

Golden Text—This is my beloved son, in whom I am well pleased."

The next event in our Lord's life, after his visit at twelve years of age to the Temple, is his baptism. He has become almost thirty years of age and is ready for his life's work. He has been following the carpenter's trade at his home in Nazareth, and tidings are brought to him that John is preaching in the valley of the Jordan, and that the whole country is resorting to his preaching. It is probable that John had been preaching for some time, six months or a year, when Jesus leaves Nazareth and goes down to the Jordan to be baptized of John. When Jesus presents himself for baptism John forbids him, but Jesus says, "Suffer it to be so now." He having taken the form of a servant must be in subjection to the laws of righteousness, and we find him never failing to obey these laws.

Immediately upon Jesus stepping out of the water the heavens parted and the Holy Spirit descended upon Jesus, resting upon him as a dove. From that same place came a voice saying, "This is my beloved son in whom I am well pleased." Thus began the beautiful ministry of Jesus Christ. The dove might well represent the life of Jesus; innocence, kindness, love, all mark the man Jesus Christ. "A bruised reed shall he not break and smoking flax shall he not quench," said the prophet of him. Never before had that voice from heaven been heard on earth calling any man God's beloved son, and adding the approval of God to anyone's life, "In whom I am well pleased." Thus God was perfectly satisfied with the boyhood of Jesus, with his young manhood, with him as he worked at the carpenter's bench." That all seeing eye, that all knowing God finds no fault in Jesus of Nazareth. The heart of our Lord must have rejoiced at this approval from heaven. The next event will be the proof as to the truthfulness of that voice. We are to see whether or not a human being is capable of sustaining himself as a perfect, holy son, well pleasing to God.

After the baptism the Holy Spirit led Jesus into the wilderness to be tempted by the devil. In this desolate place is to be witnessed a struggle for supremacy. The light and the darkness, righteousness and sin were to grapple in a death struggle. Two great personalities were here to meet in combat that meant either salvation or eternal death to mankind; and to the combatants it meant which should be supreme. If Jesus Christ failed in one point all was lost to him and to the multitudes he represented. "But thanks be unto Him who giveth us the victory," that he was conqueror

As with Moses and Elijah in the mountain fasting for forty days, our Lord also had his forty days of fast, and afterward he hungered, and then Satan came with this temptation: "If thou be the son of God command that these stones be made bread." Here is a temptation directed at the appetite. Adam fell on a less temptation, and when Esau was famished for something to eat he was tempted by Jacob to sell his birthright and did. Thousands have filled the glutton's and drunkard's graves because of giving up to the temptation of appetite. However, Jesus, while able to make the stones into bread, could not unless he sinned, for he was led here of the Spirit, and God would provide as He had for Israel, and even the birds of the air received their food at His hand. To meet this temptation Jesus had sharpened arrows, many of them from the arsenal of the old testament. "It is written, man shall not live by bread alone."

Then the devil takes Jesus into Jerusalem, and having set him on the very highest point of the temple, tempts him thus: "If thou art the Son of God cast thyself down, for it is written, "He shall give His angels charge concerning thee and in their hands they shall bear thee up lest at any time thou dash thy foot against a stone." In this temptation it is obvious that the devil desires to tempt Jesus even with the very arrows that Jesus used. "It is written." The devil knows scripture and uses the very best and most precious promises of the bible to tempt people. Here he uses the 91st Ps., so rich in promises. The force of temptation in this second one is the misinterpretation that Satan desired Jesus to put to this promise. Satan tempted Jesus as to his faith in God, as if Satan would say, "Now if you have faith in God show it by casting yourself down and if God will keep His promise no harm will come to you" Had Jesus done as Satan desired he would have shown great presumption and would have been guilty of a very foolish deed. He was a human being, and as a human being he must obey the laws that control any other human being. Faith cure or any other such teaching is giving way to this very temptation. It is presumption for anyone to reject means that God gives man, and then quote scripture to sustain a very foolish deed. This temptation also was met by quoting from the bible, "Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God." The devil having failed in two desperate attempts to defeat the Christ, now gathers all the allurements he is able, brings together all the forces of his kingdom. Having failed to break down the character of Jesus by the temptation of appetite, then that of doubt or proper faith, he now assaults Christ on his moral integrity. Satan carries him to an exceeding high mountain and shows him all the kingdoms of the earth and their glory, and says, "All these will I give thee if thou wilt fall down and worship me." Satan was shrewd to show Jesus the kingdoms that God had given His son when He said, "Ask of me and I will give thee the heathen for thine inheritance and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession." Jesus came to rule over the nations, to win kingdoms to himself, but not with the help of Satan. Never could he compromise, never allow Satan to join his forces to the kingdom of righteousness; even a child notices the brazen face of this temptation, "fall down and worship me." Most of us compromise more or less with sin, but thank God Jesus Christ never compromised even to win men and save them from hell. This audacious temptation brought its fitting rebuke, "Get thee hence Satan, for it is written, "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve" With this the devil leaves him, and "angels come to minister to him." It is always the case if men are not overcome of evil the end sees the angels, "and he being tempted in all points as we are, yet without sin."
