Jesus at Jacob's well. John 4; 5-26. February 18, 1900.

GOLDEN TRET .- God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit some time in Judea and baptized. The Pharisces continued to be suspicious and displeased over the news brought concerning John the Baptist and the teaching of Jesus. After being in Judea for sometime, word was brought to Jesus that Herod had cast John into prison. The neighborhood of Jerusalem became so dangerous to the Lord that he started for Galilee, where he could teach and baptize unmolested, Jerusalem had done violence to prophets before and until his time came there was no use to expose himself to danger. To reach Garilee he had the choice of several roads. A sanctimonious Jew seldom went through Samaria reach Galilee but Jesus decided go the most direct way and thus went through Samaris. At the time of our lesson he had arrived at the village of Sychar, where Jacob's well was, It was about noon, hot, dusty and wearied with his journey he sat down on the well curb to rest. There the disciples afterwards found him talking to a woman of Samaria. They were surprised to see the Lord talking with a strange woman of Samaria, but had they known her life as Jesus did they would have been shocked indeed. This woman came to draw water at an unusual hour, for women generally drew water in the morning or evening. that was the safest time for a woman of her character to come to the village well.

Jesus opened the conversation by asking the woman for a drink. The woman was surprised that a Jew would ask her a woman of Samaria for a orink; for the Jews had no dealing with the Samarithen they were enemies. Jesus was to show this woman that race and religious prejudice and bigotry are not of the kingdom. He breaks him there is neither babarian. Sythian bond nor free-all are one to him.

In replying to the woman Jesus says: "If thou knewest the gift of God and who it is that saith to thee give me to drink; thou wouldest have asked of him and he would have given thee living water." by those who used them. This is The woman, as Nicodemus, fails to grasp his meaning. Nicodemus thought it was a physical birth, and natural water in the well that must be drawn with rope and pitcher. Jacob's well was deep and she could not see how this stranger could draw living water out of it without a vessel. But Jesus again meets her with an advanced argu ment. To lead her mind from the natural to the spirmual water Jeans says: "Whosoever drinketh of this water shall thirst again; But whoseever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst; but the water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life." The woman still thinking that he had reference to some is indeed the water of life. The spring of life that he plants in the bosom of man is to quench his side of the mountain throws its waters down the mountain side to and gives drink to man and beast, calender is simply invaluable and all along its course maker the fields green and pleasant to look to his spirit. It is infinitely more satisfying than riches, or literature, philosophy or fame. These soon pass away, but this water of life is in one when misfortune or financial came acquainted with a liniment losses crowd him or when every known as Chamberlain's Pain Balm blessing smiles on his way.

After the conversation with Jesus, knowing the history of Nicodemus, Jesus remained for the woman tells her to call her husno busband." She had had five husbands and was now living with a man that was not her husband. And with all her sinfulness Jesus opens to her the wells of salvation and places a heavenly stream in her soul that would constantly bring to her sweet truths and carry away

How human is this record! No sooner does she see that she is known to this stranger that her life is open to him, than she begins to shuffle for other subjects. She sees that this stranger is a prophet. She was a shrewd woman, alert to make her escape. It is the same human nature trying to excuse and escape. The sermon is getting entirely too interesting, the heart is being probed, secrets are being laid open, such preaching is entirely too personal, so she adroitly tries to turn the conversation from herseit to theology. Religion in general was mose to her desire at that moment than religion in particular. People who are being pressed with gospel truth that strikes their own lives and practises would rather hear concerning the conversion of the heathen or the progress of civilization. So the woman tried to raise a dispute as to the proper place of worship, Jerusalem or Sarmaria. But Jesus gives her the But she came at noon, possibly principle that predominates in the kingdom of God. "God is a spirit and they that worship him must wership him in spirit and in truth." Not in Jerusalem, not in Samaria, not in one particul r denomination, but in spirit and in truth must we worship Him. Certain people and sertain churches think that God can only be worshiped in their comtans. It was a feud of long stand- munion and so they look upon all tion in substance as follows: ing. Each was a dog to the other, others as, "Dogs of Samaritans" or First. The name of the encorimagines that his church is the only true church and so lays claim to being the only true church and outlaws all others. But there is down the dividing wall. With but one church. Denominations are not bad but prejudice, bigotry, bad, in church or out of church.
