Col. E. P. Savage being an extensive farmer and dealer in stock places him in close touch with the agricultural classes of the state. Besides he is a successful business man, a man of wide experience and ability. He will add strength to the ticket.

Rev. S. W. Richards and family left Holyoke Wednesday evening for Broken Bow, Neb., where he has accepted a call from the Baptist church of that place. He is an able man and a successful worker in the advancement of the Christian religion. He stands high in the estimation of the people of Holyoke and leaves our town with the best wishes of all for himself and family.—Holyoke Herald.

State Journal: The democratic journals are discreetly silent on a little incident that occurred during Colonel Bryan's journey through New Mexico. The Denver Republican is authority for its veracity. When the valiant colonel reached the little town of Gallup he made the customary speech to the cheering people, and added a fervent postscript when the mayor climbed upon the platform and presented him with a beautiful Navajo blanket. The colonel's seraphic smile froze into a ghastly grin when he found attached to the blanket this insulting note: "My Dear Mr. Bryan. Under the republican administration the wool in this blanket sells for twenty-two cents a pound. Under the democratic administration it sold for six cents. Please tell this to your constituents."

The Omaha Bee gives the following introduction of the republican nominees:

The candidate for governor, Chas. H. Dietrich, is a well-known business man of German extraction who is emphatically a self-made man and has contributed largely to the development of western Nebraska.

Colonel E. P. Savage, candidate for Lieutenant-governor, is a stalwart republican who has had legislative experience that qualifies him for the duties devolving upon the presiding officer of the state senate.

The candidate for state treasurer, Wm. Steuffer, is a German American who has been connected with banking institutions and various other business enterprises in the Elkhorn valley, where he ranks high as a man of integrity and business capacity. His record as state senator will commend him still further to public confidence.

The nomination of Charles Weston for auditor is a well merited compliment. Mr. Weston is well equipped for the responsible duties of the position. As a regent of the state university he has shown himself a painstaking and conscientious official, executing the trust in an unexceptional manner.

For attorney general F. N. Prout has the legal learning and experience prerequisite for the office. As one of the prominent republican members of the last state senate he has added to his experience as a lawyer that of a law maker.

The selection of George W. Marsh as candidate for secretary of state is a compliment paid to the press, which rarely receives due recognition from political parties in Nebraska.

The nominee for commissioner of public lands and buildings, Geo. D. Follmer, has not previously figured in state politics, but is a substantial business man, and so regarded by all who know him.

One of the best nominations made is that of Prof. W. K. Fowler for superintendent of public instruction. Prof. Fowler is an educator with many years' professional training in the public schools, not only as a teacher, but also as a superintendent. He has been prominently identified with the educational growth of Nebraska and enjoys the esteem of the great body of school teachers throughout the state.

The instructors in the Summer School are up to date and first class.

The Summer school will be one of the best ever held in the county this spring.

The tuition for the Summer School will be $5.00 for the term or $1.00 per week.

The grades obtained at the summer school will be accepted by Supt. Tooley in granting certificates.

The ninth Annual session of the central Nebraska Summer School will be held in Broken Bow from June 4 to July 14, conducted by J. W. Lewis as principal, assisted by John Murray of Lee Park.

Do we want a change?

(Mark Hanna in the Ohio republican convention.)
 We are conscious, as your chairman has said, of having fulfilled every promise made. We took this country into our hands and under our care after four years of the greatest vicissitudes through which we have ever passed in history. At our convention in St. Louis we announced the policy and the doctrine of the Republican party, upon which had been lullided the material interests for twenty-odd years. We promised such reforms and economic measures as would produce material benefits to the issue and we went farther and said that we will go beyond even the ideals of our fathers in the great results which must come from the perpetuation of such a policy. The best evidence of the success of that policy is in what we have accomplished and achieved as affecting the material interests of this country.

"Your chairman made some statements with reference to the growth of our export trade. Why, he did not state half of it. The balance of net trade in favor of the United States during the last century preceding this Administration amounted to $311,000,000. In one hundred years that was the net balance to the credit of the United States in our trade with the world. In three years of the Administration of President William McKinley the net balance, as shown by the books of the United States Treasury, is $1,400,000,000. (Great applause and cries of "good.") It is $1,000,000,000 more accomplished in those three years than had been accomplished in 100 years preceding. And then, looking into the face of such results, I repeat your chairman's words, 'Do we want a change?'"

Judge M. P. Kinkaid of O'Neill was nominated for congress at the congressional convention at Kearney last week. It had been expected that the judge would be the nominee, as he made the race last year and is also considered to be equal to any man in the district in qualifications for this responsible position. Not since populism first swept the district has a republican candidate polled as heavy a vote as the judge did last year. He will get the same ones this fall and The Frontier believes enough more to elect him, for the reason that many fusion voters are dissatisfied with the record of our present congressman. In fact it is beginning to be realized that the whole list of populist congressmen who have gone from the Sixth district have been the next thing to nothing and that it is time for us to have a creditable representative in the national legislative body. It is also felt that the people may hunt a long time before they find a better man for the place than Judge Kinkaid.—The Frontier (O'Neill).

Political Boncombe.

It is amusing to see the pop papers take so much interest in individual republicans when they fail to secure the support of the majority in caucus or conventions.
 Last fall when Charley Penn failed to receive the nomination for Sheriff on the republican ticket they manifested great sympathy for Penn and held him up as the ideal candidate and insisted that the party had made a great mistake in not nominating him. Gus Humphrey, Harve Chapman were then in the eyes of the pops very bad men for having used their influence for V. C. Talbot. The tables were turned this year and Penn became the head of the heap in the county convention. Humphrey and Chapman were relegated to the rear this year and now the pops are very much concerned for them and are extending their sympathies to Humphrey and Chapman by giving them some very complimentary notices last week. Thus we see that occasionally a pop paper can tell the truth, if political capital for the pop party is the prompter. The following extracts speak for themselves as none but the ignorant will fail to recognize the evident intention.

The Beacon Says "The feud between the Penn and Humphrey factions in the republican party continues to widen. Whatever may be said of the faults of Gus Humphrey, there is one thing that cannot be denied, and that is he has always worked hard for the success of the republican party. He deserved better treatment at their hands than to be denied a seat in the county convention, elected to stay away from the state, congressional, senatorial, and representative conventions—this, too, when a presidential campaign is on. Gus isn't one of these fellows that will tamely submit to such ungrateful and undeserved treatment, and the crowd that have taken his scalp and then mutilated the body of the supposed dead will wake up to encounter a very lively corpse."

The Chief jumps into the breach, and says, "When the republicans turned down J. H. Chapman and A. R. Humphrey, the two men that from the standpoint of faithful service have done more active work in the interest of republicanism than any half dozen men that could be named in Custer County, they did not quite finish the job of scalping. Much to the surprise of the leaders of the opposing faction, both Harve and Gus appeared on the scene at the state convention, and were very much in evidence when the pulse of this section of the state was felt. As a matter of fact Chapman and Humphrey have a wide acquaintance over Nebraska, and if reports that have reached us are true, these two gentlemen, left on the field for dead by those whom they have helped in many campaigns, were up "next" to the royal family of state leaders at Lincoln. They are pretty lively corpses and when the factions which have "laid them out" wake up to the full realization of the situation, they will discover that they are up against the real thing."

A Wife Says:

"We have four children. With the first three I suffered almost unbearable pains from 12 to 14 hours, and had to be placed under the influence of chloroform. I used three bottles of Mother's Friend before our last child came, which is a strong, fat and healthy boy, doing my housework up to within two hours of birth, and suffered but a few hard pains. This liniment is the grandest remedy ever made."

Mother's Friend

will do for every woman what it did for the Minnesota mother who writes the above letter. Not to use it during pregnancy is a mistake to be paid for in pain and suffering. Mother's Friend equips the patient with a strong body and clear intellect, which in turn are imparted to the child. It relaxes the muscles and allows them to expand. It relieves morning sickness and nervousness. It puts all the organs concerned in perfect condition for the final hour, so that the actual labor is short and practically painless. Danger of rising or hard breasts is altogether avoided, and recovery is merely a matter of a few days.

"A word to the wise is sufficient" and a word from the wise should be sufficient, but you ask, who are the wise? Those who know. The oft repeated experience of trustworthy persons may be taken for knowledge. Mr. W. M. Terry says Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other in the market. He has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for twelve years; has sold hundreds of bottles of this remedy and nearly all other cough medicines manufactured, which shows conclusively that Chamberlain's is the most satisfactory to the people, and is the best. EAGLE QUAD-STAY PATENTED.

There are more Eagle Bicycles in Broken Bow than all other makes combined. And Why? Because the city buyer is a discriminating buyer. He knows where to look for the fine points and how to tell a good wheel. It is only the innocent unsuspecting country buyer who is persuaded to buy some other make which he is assured is just as good and costs less. He cannot see but that it is until he rides it and it begins to go to pieces. I have often placed a $60 wheel and a $20 one side by side and asked them which they would take at $20. Perhaps they would say the $60 one but just as frequently it would be the $20 one and when asked why they reply, "Oh, because its red," or some like reason.

If you want to buy a good wheel beware of the dealer who has one "Just as good as the Eagle." Before you buy it look at one of them he sold a year ago and then at an Eagle that has been run since 1895. You will find the running parts of the Eagle in the best shape. We have a complete stock of all models and can make prompt deliveries. Prices 30 to $60. We sell them on the installment plan for $3 extra, $15 down and $5 per month.
