A New Manufacturing Center.

This is no fiction Lincolnton town site boom. But this is the real article, and is located no other place than Broken Bow. In the four townships immediately tributary to Broken Bow there are 144 sections of land, or 576 quarter sections of land. Each one of these quarter sections will support 40 head of cows the entire year, a total of 23040 head, each cow will produce $4 worth of milk per month, or $2,160 for one month and $1,105,920 for one year. A pretty fair sum. If you want to know how much it is. It is more than the town of Broken Bow, all the land in the four townships above mentioned and every citizen in said district combined is worth. And still we have not figured the entire output of a cow factory, 80 per cent of these cows will each raise a calf, 18,432 calves at $15 per head equal $276,480. Yet there is another item, after feeding the cows during the winter season from the fodder that can be raised on one of these cow farms we should have enough corn remaining together with part of skim milk to raise and fatten a car load of hogs, 12,000 pounds at 40 per pound $480 and for 576 farms amounting to $276,480, which gives a grand total for milk, calves and hogs of $1,658,880—How is that? Of course you say that is too high a figure, all right just cut off $658,880, and you have an even $1,000,000 left. The above is made possible by reason of the public spirited fellows who subscribed for the stock that built the Broken Bow cream separating plant.

Perhaps I have overtaxed the capacity of the cream separator, you will have to ask the representative of the Beatrice Creamery Co. as to that, what I suggest is that 100 of these dairy farms be established during 1900.

WILLIS CADWELL, Member Broken Bow Dairy Co.

Grades 5 and 6, south side, Miss Millie Warrington. Grades 7 and 8, north side, Mrs. Della Adameon. An assistant superintendent and two grade teachers are yet to be elected. It is probable that Miss Jennie Tucker will be retained. As Mr. Teagarden is not an applicant for reelection for assistant superintendent there will be a vacancy in that place.
