"EYES IN THE BACK OF HIS HEAD."

Oliver Wendell Holmes, Bates Gridley, credited with having eyes in the back of his head, because he saw things behind as well as in front. This was all due to his extremely large, old-fashioned, round spect. lenses, in which objects behind him were plainly reflected. Proper glasses on detective eyes of the present day would enable their possessors to see many things with perfect ease that now seem dim and indistinct. Those who have never availed themselves of glass aid call spectacles "mistakes," or here who accept the aid in a timely manner call them "blessings."

It isn't the material that goes into your repaired watch that counts in a perfect job. It is the know how that does the business, any bungler can buy the fine kinds of material that I use in repairing; but skill is the most valuable material that can be used in watch repairing; and the bungler can't buy it. I sell my skill for what it is worth and it will cost you less than bungling at lower prices.

ED. CUSTER COUNTY REPUBLICAN.

SIR:—The enclosed clipping will probably be of some interest to some of the reader of your paper. If you find space please publish same.

CAPTAIN RUCKER SURPRISED A REBEL PARTY AND INFLECTS IN HOCOS NORTE.

The press censor's bulletin announces that Captain Rucker, of the 33rd Vol. Infantry, with a detachment of infantry succeeded in surprising a party of insurgents under Captain Tinio on the trail near Malibcong and Cocob in Ilocos Norte on May 18th last. The surprised enemy put up an interesting fight, which, however, resulted disastrously to Tinio, who lost his life, twenty-three of his followers also being slain.

Captain Rucker's party captured from their vanquished enemy four Mauser rifles nineteen Remingtons, and ten horses with saddles and equipments. The rest of the scattered enemy got away and made for the hills.

Captain Rucker was acting under orders from Colonel Hare of the 33rd Infantry, who dispatched him to locate Tinio's party which had been reported in the vicinity, and whose program Rucker carried out with excellent results.

The rebel Captain who lost his life in this engagement was a nephew of the former insurgent General Tinio.

Royal Baking Powder

Makes The Food More Healthful

Royal Baking Powder possesses peculiar qualities not found in other leavening agents, which arise from the superior fitness, purity and healthfulness of its ingredients.

Royal Baking Powder leavens the food perfectly by its own inherent power without changing or impairing any of the elements of the flour.

Thus the hot-breads, hot-rolls and muffins, and the delicious hot griddle-cakes raised by the Royal Baking Powder are wholesome and digestible, and may be eaten without distress, even by persons of delicate digestion.

Alum baking powders are low priced, as alum costs but two cents a pound; but alum is a corrosive poison and it renders the baking powder dangerous to use in food.
