A Sacrifice To Conscience

^***************************

H. B. Welsh

"Then I had to run out for something to make beef tea with, and when I came back Doctor Lyndon was in.

CHAPTER VIII.

It had been Sir Henry! Enderby had no doubt of that as he entered the sick room. But he kept revolving in his mind the new mystery. If Sir

Henry had seen David Lloyd nearly six months ago, why had he kept silence on the subject and prevented the

Had it been out of a human desire to save the miserable man from the fate that would be inevitable once his whereabouts and identity with the outwith closed eyes, looking so ghastly that for a moment a fear took Enderby that he was dead. Jasmine, seeing the thought in his face, clutched his arm.

Enderby felt his pulse; then nodded.

"Yes, he is sleeping; we can do nothing," he said. "We must wait till Doctor Bunthorne comes. He will not be long. I shall stay with you till he

"Oh, no, you have other things to

The pitifulness of the position of the city, friendless, forlorn, with the dy-of shame, struck upon Enderby's heart

"I shall not leave you, my poor little child," he said, and instinctively his hand sought hers and closed upon it.

Hers was cold and trembling; his Jasmine's eyes rose to his face; but perhaps it would have startled him a dread, the girl's heart thrilled at his touch as it had never thrilled in her

They sat down together, Jasmine with her eyes on her father's face, and set themselves to watch and wait. En-derby thought Doctor Bunthorne would arrive soon, and had made up his mind

Enderby had an engagement with the solleitor in his case at 4 o'clock, but he felt he could not leave Jasmine

Suddenly, to the startled surprise of both his watchers, the sick man opened his eyes wide and fixed them upon Enderby's face. There was consciousness in them, notwithstanding the and higher, and deepening and darkening upon his face-such full conscious-

"Mr. Enderby," said the weak voice, ly clasped on her breast, as if to keep down its wild heaving, stood close to

"Is there anything I can do for you?"

"Yes, yes," he muttered faintly, "I-think, I imagined strange things; but Jasmine, is left alone to face poverty, for me to do! But now I am weakness that Enderby was startled.

is you, is it not?"

her father's pillow.

I have not strength.'

little," said Enderby.

had acquired a new strength.

"Yes, that has given me new life."

have been very kind to my poor girl.

shall tell it you, and leave it in your hands to make what use of it you shall take it down in writing, and you will be able to sign it!" exclaimed

He whispered to Jasmine, and in a few minutes she had brought paper and ink and set on a little table by

Then she went to her father's side, and supported him in her arms as he spoke-low, and sometimes pausing a long time for breath, but still dis-

"My name is not David Lloyd; it is

"You have a declaration to make? 1 deem right, for my child's sake."

Enderby.

still David Lloyd slept on.

alone even if he broke it.

He did not know how, in the good of you, but you must not do it.

I shall be all right alone.'

again with strange force.

lawed man Gerard were discovered? The dying man lay on his pillow law from taking its course?

anguished whisper.

comes.

CHAPTER VIL-(Continued.) He turned to Jasmine, and laid his hand again on hers. "I shall go and get something that He said he had given father his mediwill strengthen him meanwhile, and I cine; but father did not seam ill like shall telegraph for Doctor Bunthorne. this until a little while before you I know he will come when I ask him to | came."

"You will come back again?" Jasmine said, looking in his face with an expression of such pitiful appeal as almost overcame Enderby. "I am all alone-there is no one I know in all London whom I could ask to be with me, and I am afraid! I never have been that before."

"I shall come back, my child; do not be afraid," said Enderby gently.

It was easy enough to get what he wanted in that district-a small flask

Enderby was, as has been said, a total abstainer, and never touched any intoxicant, but he believed the strong stimulant was of use as a medicine, especially in a case when the flicker of life is very low.

Then he went to the nearest postoffice to dispatch a telegram to Doctor

As he came out of the postoffice he came face to face with Digby Dalton The latter smiled, lifting his hat.

"Pray excuse me, I am in a hurry," said Enderby, endeavoring to pass the

"I can go in your direction, and shall not retard your progress," returned the other, in the sneering tone which Enderby knew hid something of malicious triumph. "I have to thank you, Mr. Enderby, for a great kindness-intentional or the reverse-which you have

"Indeed?" said Enderby coldly.

"Yes. It is, in fact, the passing over to me of a chance such as few men have so early in their career as I. Sir Henry Lennox has told me you had the first offer of the position strong, warm, and full of human symof junior counsel in the great Brown- pathy. low Pearl case which is now pending." Enderby started slightly; Dalton, he did not see the look. If he had,

"I am not too haughty to refuse to little. wear your rejected shoes, you see, Mr. midst of an agony of sorrow and Enderby. I have reason to believe that the whole case is now in proper form, the only difficulty hitherto be- life before. ing, the rather important one, of ignorance of the culprit's whereabouts. These have now been discovered, and I believe Mr. Paul Enderby might have been able to enlighten us regarding these some time ago."

Enderby started again, then turned and faced the other man with an expression which made the malicious triumph of Dalton's face fall a lit-

"I see you have not scorned to act the part of the spy, Mr. Dalton, Let me tell you you are quite welcome to continue so honorable a career, if you choose. I do know Mr. David Lloyd and his daughter, if you mean to insinuate that. At the same time, if they have anything to do with that case, let me assure you their whereabouts have been known to those who are conmeeted with the prosecuting side long before they were known to me. Now, if you will pardon me, Mr. Dalton, I shall leave you. If you wish me to put the matter more plainly, I decline to walk in your company."

The other turned livid. "I suppose you are aware that Sir Lennox and Miss Lennox cannot long remain in ignorance of your underhand and deceitful course of conduct?"

Enderby bowed coldly. "I have the honor of wishing you good-day, Mr. Dalton." He went on, leaving the other to look after him, with baffled rage and wrath depicted in his face.

"So the bolt is about to fall," he said to himself. "It is inexplicable why it has never done so until now. Why has Dundas Lyndon known the whereabouts of this poor dying man for so long and never revealed them to the authorities? Has he kept it a secret from Sir Henry also? And has Sir Henry only now discovered it?" His mind wandered to the ravings of the dying man. Who was the "Hal" whom he was addressing. Could it be a name which Lyndon himself could lay claim? Enderby did not know the Christian name of the latter.

Jasmine opened the door as soon as she heard his low rap.

He has fallen into a kind of doze, or else it is the unconsciousness that There is no one in this city whom I comes before the end," she whispered. "Come in and see him."

As Enderby entered he asked: "Has he had any one seeing him to-

"Yes," she answered, "The friend who came to see him when first we came here. I do not know who he is; father would not tell me. He is tall and fine looking, and looks a great man. He came today about 10, and stayed with father for a while. I did him. not see him go away-he went out himself: but father was terribly weak and ill after he left. He kept on sayfing to himself again and again:

"And it was for his sake-for their | tinctly enough. sakes! Oh, God, my stroke is heavy!"

Gerard-David Gerard, I fied the country and changed my name because I was accused of a fearful crime-the crime of stealing Lady Brownlow's lewels-while a tutor in her house."

Enderby heard a low, instantly suppressed sound like a moan break from Jasmine's lips, but if the dying man heard it he gave no sign. He went on slowly, with closed eyes:

"I was always an unfortunate man and when my wife died and my sister took my little Jasmine, I went as tutor to Sir Francis Brownlow's two boys. I was a public school and Oxford man. Of all the friends of my youth there was one whom I had never ceased to correspond with. That was Hal Lennox, who had gone in for the law, and was getting on wonderfully

"When young, Hal and I had both loved the same girl. She had promised herself to me; but when she found out that I would never be a wealthy man, she threw me overboard. She was beautiful beyond the privilege of women; but she was ambitious, extravagant, unprincipled. Yes, I know all that now-I knew it then; but still I

"She came to the Brownfows on a visit. She was deep in debt, though I did not know it. One night Lady Brownlow had showed her the jewels, and told her the priceless value of her pearl necklace. There was not one like it in England.

"A few nights after temptation came to her. I do not need to tell you how -my time is short. She took the necklace while Lady Brownlow was absent from her boudoir for a few minutes. She hid them in my room, though I "He is only sleeping: he has moved did not know of it then. The day after since I was in!" she whispered, in an | she came in for them, when I was supposed to be in town; but I returned unexpectedly, and caught her. She wildly flung herself on my mercy, saying she had come to give them back.

"It was untrue; she sent her brother her accomplice—to Paris to sell them there. A few days later the loss was discovered; there was a hue and cry, do," exclaimed the girl. "It is too and all the rooms were searched. In my room, in a secret drawer of my writing table, was found one of the clasps of the necklace, with a bit of poor child utterly alone in this great crushed pearl adhering to it. In her haste the necklace had caught in the ing father whom she loved, who was hasp of the drawer as Lady Lennox only, perhaps, to leave her a legacy thrust it in.

Of course, I was accused. There was other evidence against me; but let that suffice. In mad desperation, Lady Lennox sent me a letter, beseeching me to shield her. No one knows I have that letter-not even her husband.

"What could I do? I had once loved her; I loved her husband. I would say nothing, and I was sent to Monmouth prison to await my trial. There I heard that Sir Henry Lennox was

"He came secretly to see me, and I told him all. I told him I had convincing proof of her guilt. I do not know if he had known of it before, but he besought me to spare him this awful blow. He said it would ruin him for life, and as for Clarice he dared not think of her doom. What could I do? I agreed to hide the truth, and to wait until the doctor came. But the my old friend promised to save me. time passed, and he did not come; and "That was when I knew Dundas Lyndon. He certified that I was ill. and, when I obtained greater liberty, I

"I came home because I heard of Lady Lennox's death; and I thought of my own child, to whom I had nothing to leave but a stainless name. I came! I saw Sir Henry. He tried to persuade me to keep silence; but now, shadow that was ever creeping higher for my Jasmine's sake, I cannot. Then I became ill, and Lyndon came. Each day I wished him to allow me to go out, that I might see a solicitor who would undertake my case, but he It was only a whisper, and Enderby would not. He kept me back day by had to bend his head to catch it. "It day. And now I am dying; but I leave this and the proof of my innocence to "It is I, Mr. Lloyd," said the young those who will see justice done to my man, while Jasmine, with hands tightpoor little girl."

(To be continued.)

The Parasite of Elephantiasis.

By Reuter telegram it is learned have been wandering in my mind, I that the second malarial expedition of the Liverpool School of Tropical Medinow all is clear, even the fact that I | cine has wired home from Bombay, in am dying, and my child, my little Nigeria, the important discovery that the parasite that causes epephantiasis hardship, perhaps shame. Oh, if I had | has been found, like that which causes but done that which I knew was right | malaria, in the proboscis of the mosquito. It has long been known that the small worm which produced this "Perhaps we can give you somedisease of hideous deformity by taking thing that will revive your strength a up its abode in the lymphatic vessels of the human subject can also live in He motioned to Jasmine to bring the mosquito, but its discovery in the him a glass, and, dropping a little of proboscis of the insect shows that the the brandy into it, diluted it with wabites of these pests are responsible for ter, and held it to the sick man's lips. the human affliction. The disease is Lloyd was able to swallow it, and a very prevalent among the natives of moment after a faint glow of color tropical countries and sometimes atcame into his cheeks a brightness into tacks the European residents. It is an his eyes. When he spoke his voice interesting fact that this discovery has been announced almost simultanecusly with that from Bombay by Dr. He looked at Enderby eagerly. "You Low in England, who found the paraare a barrister, Mr. Enderby, and you site in mesquitoes brought from Australia, and by Capt. James as a result of his investigations in Inda. can entrust with my story but you. I

Warning to Americans.

Referring to the marriages with foreigners, the Law Journal sounds a note of warning. It seems aimest impossible to make American women understand that it is not safe to marry even distinguished foreigners without making proper inquiries and taking legal advice, and that the danger is greatest with Frenchmen. The result of the invincible ignorance of the American is that far too many of our women find themselves in the equivocal position of being wives in their own country, but not in that of their hus-

THE LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Latest Quotations from South Omaha and Kansas City.

and Kansas City.

SOUTH OMAHA.

Union Stock Yardi.—Cattle—About thirteen cars of corn cattle were included in the onerings and as packers were all waning good cattle the market on the better grades ruled active and steady to strong. The less desirable cattle were not sought after and prices were not better than they have been and sellers in some cases were calling the market on the commoner kinds rather draggy. The cow market was in good shape, only about twenty loads being offered. It was a fairly active market and practically all kinds brought fully steady prices and in some cases sales were made that looked a little higher. Canners sold particularly well again today and so did the best grades, but even the medium kinds moved without much difficulty. The light supply of feeders gave a good tone to the trade. Anything at all desirable was picked up at steady to stronger prices and it was not long before everything answering to that description had changed hands. As usual, however, the commoner kinds were neglected and prices showed no improvement. There were very few western beef cattle offered and as the showed no improvement. There were very few western beef cattle offered and as the season advances it becomes more and more evident that there are going to be very few on the market. That being the case, what few do arrive bring very satisfactory prices. The market has been in good shape all the week, but not much change has been noticeable in the prices paid.

change has been noticeable in the prices paid.

Hogs—There was rather a light run of hogs, but in view of the fact that Chicago came fully 5c lower, prices went off a little here. The market opened up just a little here. The market opened up just a little easy as compared with yesterday, and the hirst few loads were sold at $4.90 (24.92%), and as high as $4.95 was paid. After the first round the market weakened a little and bids were generally from $4.87½ to $4.92%, but mostly at $4.30. The range today is $4.854.95, or about a shade lower all around than yesterday with the exception of the top, which is considerably lower today.

Sheep—There was another good, liberal run of sheep, but in spite of that fact the market was in good shape on oth sheep and lambs. There was a good demand for the better grades and the market ruled active and strong. Everything was sold as fast as it could be sorted up. Lambs also met with ready sale at good strong prices and as high as $5.00 to the particulations.

good strong prices and as high as $5.00 was paid again today. Quotationa: Choice western wethers, $3.75/94.00; choice grass yearlings, $3.75/44.05; choice ewes, $3.25/93.50; fair to good ewes, $3.00/93.25; cull ewes, $2.50/93.00; choice spring lambs, $4.75/65.00; fair to good spring lambs, $4.50/93.75; feeder wethers, $3.35/93.65; feeder lambs, $4.00/94.40.

KANSAS CITY.

Cattle—Receipts, 10,000 natives, 3,500
Texans and 700 calves; slaughtering cattle slow, steady, to 10c lower; good steckers and feeders steady, others lower; native steers, $4,70%5.35; stockers and feeders, $1,00%4.25; butcher cows and helfers, $3.00
%5.20; canners, $2,40%3.00; fed westerns,
$3,50%4.50; Texans, $2.90%3.50; calves, $4.00
%5.00.

Hogs-Receipts, 10,000 head; trade acttve. prices steady to 24c lower; heavy and mixed, $5.00\( g \) 5.12\( g \); light, $4.90\( g \)5.02\( h \)2. pigs, $4.50974.80. pigs, $4.5074.89.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 2,700 head: supply not equal to demand; prices steady to loc higher; lambs, $4.750.50; muttons, $3.7564.60; stockers and feeders, $3.0564.80; culls, $2.50%(3.00.

MORE ARMY OFFICERS NEEDED.

General Merriam of Department of Missouri Gives Startling News.

WASHINKTON, Oct. 13 .- Some idea of the extent to which the military departments of the United States have been reduced in strength to meet forsign service is conveyed by the re port of Brigadier General Henry C. Merriam, commanding the Department of the Missouri. So few are the officers on duty in the department that one office of the regular line, an artillery officer, Lieutenant Delamare Skerrett besides being first lieutenant of the Third artillery, is an acting captain, an acting judge advocate, chief ordnance officer, chief signal officer and acting engineer officer of the Department of the Missouri, making separate reports in these various capaci-

General Merriam reports a satisfactory condition of affairs in his department and says:

"I am glad to note that all Indian tribes residing within this department or contiguous to it have continued to be quiet and peaceable during the last year as during the previous year, so that no calls have been made for troops in connection therewith."

ZEIGLAR WILL SEEK THE POLE.

Rich New Yorker Will Send Out an Expedition. New York, Oct. 13 .- William Seigler, well known and wealthy citizen of New York, announced today that he would purchase two vessels, fully equip and man them, and send them in quest of the north pole in the summer of 1901. The expedition is to be in charge of Evelyn B. Baldwin, who was a companion of Lieutenant Perry in 1893, and 1894, and also a member of Walter Wellman's expedition. It is Mr. Seigler's intention to have one vessel remain in the Arctic region while the other returns for supplies,

The expedition, it is said, will not be dispatched for the north earlier than the summer of 1901, and all the time between this date and that will be necessary for the preparation and

Ships may be purchased, though vessels more adapted for the work may be Youtsey in Bad Condition.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Oct. 12.-The eports from Henry Youtsey's sick room tonight are not encouraging. The only change perceptible is that his stupor is not quite so heavy. Once or twice today he has lifted his hands an inch or two and in 'a weak piping voice repeated: "There's no blood on my hands."

His physicians fear brain fever. which would now almost curely prove

It is contended by some that the tupor is caused by heavy doses of opiates, but the majority of people here believe he is a most in a dying condition and that his trial cannot be resumed.

Missions for Indians and Negroes.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 .- The board of Indian and Negro missions of the Roman Catholic church met today at the Catholic university. The board is composed of Cardinal Gibbons of Balimore, chairman; Archbishop Ryan of, Philadelphia, Archbishop Kain of St. Louis and Dr. E. E. Dyer of New York, secretary. Archbishop Kain was the only absentee. At today's session a fund of $62,000 was apportioned among the various dioceses, in which the missions are located.

THE TURN OF LIFE.

The Most Important Period in a Woman's Existence.-Mrs. Johnson Tells How She Was Helped Over the Trying Time.

Owing to modern methods of living, not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying, and sometimes painful symptoms.

Those dreadful hot flashes, sending the blood surging to the heart until it seems ready to burst, and the faint feeling that follows, sometimes with chills, as if the heart were going to stop for good, are only a few of the symptoms of a dangerous nervous trouble. The nerves are crying out for assistance. The cry should be heeded in time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life. The three following letters are guaranteed to be genuine and true, and still further prove what a great medicine Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is for women. "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: - I have been sick for a long time. I was taken sick with flooding. All my trouble seemed to be in the womb. I ache all the time at the lower part of the womb. The doctor says the womb is covered with ulcers. I suffer with a pain on the left side of my back over the kidney.

I am fifty years old and passing through the change of life. Please advise me what to do to get relief. Would like to hear from you as soon as possible."— MRS. CHARLOTTE JOHNSON, Monclova, Ohio. "I have been taking your remedies, and think they have helped me a great deal. I had been in bed for ten weeks when I began taking your Vegetable Compound, but after using it for a short time I was able to be up around the house. The aching in the lower part of womb has left me. The most that troubles me now is the flowing. That is not so bad, but still there is a little every day. I am not discouraged yet, and shall continue with your mexcine, for I believe it will cure me."—Miss. Charlotte Johnson, Monelova, Ohio.

"I send you this letter to publish for the benefit of others. I was sick for about nine years so that I could not do my work. For three months I could not sit up long enough to have my bed made. I had five different doctors, and all said there was no help for me. My trouble was change of life. I suffered with ulceration of the womb, pain in sides, kidney and stomach trouble, backache, headache, and dizziness. I am well and strong, and feel like a new person. My recovery is a perfect surprise to everybody that knew me. I owe all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I would not do without your medicine for anything. There is no need of women suffering so much if they would take your remedies, for they are a sure cure." - MRS. CHARLOTTE Jounson, Monclova, Ohio.

When one stops to think about the good Mrs. Johnson derived from Mrs. Pinkham's advice and medicine, it seems almost beyond belief; yet it is all true as stated in her three letters published above at her own request.

As a matter of positive fact Mrs. Pinkham has on file thousands of letters from women who have been safely carried through that danger period "Change of Life." Mrs. Johnson's cure is not an unusual one for Mrs. Pinkham's medicine to accomplish.

REWARD. —We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letters are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CONTRACTOR OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PROP

Any coward can fight with the mighty but it takes a strong man to side with the weak.

Conscience makes cowards of us all -unless we are lawyers.

Time is money-with the absconding bank official.

A good face is a letter of recommendation, as a good heart is a letter of credit.

HOUSEKEEPERS as a rule find it very difficult to get up their linen in a satisfactory manner, chiefly owing to the of inferior starches. By using Magnetic Starch you will find it a simple matter to turn out as good work as the best steam laundries. grocer sells it. Try it once. it costs only 10c a package. Insist on getting

INCHESTER "NEW RIVAL"

No black powder shells on the market compare with the "NEW RIVAL" in uniformity and strong shooting qualities. Sure fire and waterproof. Get the genuine.

