Does Your Baking Powder Contain Alum?

Prof. Geo. F. Barker, M.D., University of Penn.: "All the constituents of alum remain (from alum baking powders) in the bread, and the alum itself is reproduced to all intents and purposes when the bread is dissolved by the gastric juice in the process of digestion. I regard the use of alum as highly injurious."
Dr. Alonzo Clark: "A substance (alum) which can derange the stomach should not be tolerated in baking powder."
Prof. W. G. Tucker, New York State Chemist: "I believe it (alum) to be decidedly injurious when used as a constituent of food articles."
Prof. S. W. Johnson, Yale College: "I regard their (alum and soluble alumina salts) introduction into baking powders as most dangerous to health."

In view of such testimony as this, every care must be exercised by the housewife to exclude the over and over condemned cheap, alum baking powders from the food.

Baking powders made from cream of tartar, which is highly refined grape acid, are promotive of health, and more efficient. No other kind should be used in leavening food. Royal Baking Powder is the highest example of a pure cream of tartar powder.

Business Men Meet.
As per adjournment, a meeting of the Commercial Club of Broken Bow was held Tuesday night, in the court house, for the purpose of effecting a permanent organization. The secretary had already received a number of letters from parties who seek to establish industries in new fields. The following officers were elected: President, G. W. Apple; first vice president, A. R. Humphrey; second vice president, I. A. Reneau; secretary, Jas. Ledwich; treasurer, J. G. Haeberle. Executive board, J. C. Bowen, C. L. Gutterson, F. M. Rublee, J. A. Harris and Judge Sullivan.

Judge Reese's Mission to Washington.
Judge Reese returned a few days ago from Washington, where he went on solicitation of Gen. Sickness. The State Journal of the 8th has the following in reference to his trip.
Commander John Reese of the G. A. R., department of Nebraska, arrived in Lincoln yesterday from Washington. He was called to Washington by General Sickness, chairman of the national league of veterans, to consult with other Grand Army men in regard to the interests of the veterans of the country. The first day commander Reese was in Washington he called on President McKinley in company with thirty other Grand Army men. On the following day he was one member of a committee comprising General Sickness, Mr. Kay of New York, past department commander of the New York department, and chairman of the national league committee, and Major Warner, of Missouri, that called on the president in the interest of the veterans' preference bill. This bill provides that veterans be given the preference in the matter of government employment when they are competent. The assurance that he would use his influence to have the bill passed at this session of congress. Mr. Reese and the other members of the committee feel greatly encouraged over the prospect for this favorable legislation for veterans.

At the first meeting of the G. A. R. men the president shook hands with each of the thirty visitors. Mr. Reese was the last in the circle to receive a greeting, but when the president saw him he said with a smile "I want to congratulate you on the victory in Nebraska." The president made a second reference to Nebraska when General Sickness who was spokesman, spoke of the state and its representative present and the recent victory there. There was other evidence that the president was greatly pleased over the vote given him by Nebraska. The bill includes the soldiers of the Spanish-American war.
ALONZO HUCKLEBERRY HERE.
He is an Heir to the Big Fortune in Germany.
Alonzo Huckleberry, who moved from Clark county, Ind., to Nebraska thirty-one years ago, is visiting his nephew, Dallas Huckleberry in Louisville. He is one of the heirs of the supposed fortune now awaiting the Huckleberrys in Germany, and a visit was paid to Jeffersonville on Saturday to see what could be learned of Dr. John Huckleberry of Little York, who is going to Germany after the money. As a result of paralysis, Mr. Huckleberry, who is a very old man, is almost helpless. He says he has heard of the fortune nearly all of his life, but no definite action has ever been taken to get hold of it.
The above is taken from a paper published at Jeffersonville, Indiana. Mr. Huckleberry has been in the east since last February, but his family is still living here. His many friends here would be pleased to learn of him securing a good chunk of the Huckleberry fortune,

It isn't the material that goes into your repaired watch that results in a perfect job, it is the know how that does the business, any bungler can buy the fine kinds of material that I use in repairing; but skill is the most valuable material that can be used in watch repairing; and the bungler can't buy it. I sell my skill for what it is worth and it will cost you less than bungling at lower prices.
