

AT REST IN TOMB.

Final Funeral Services for General Harrison.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 13.—In the center of a hollow square, composed of fully 15,000 of his fellow citizens, the remains of Benjamin Harrison were yesterday afternoon interred in the family lot in Crown Hill cemetery.

INDIANA'S GREATEST SON.

There was no exception anywhere to the expression that the nation had lost one of the ablest men and the greatest man of his generation in his own state.

The weather, was unsurpassable, bright sunlight, the warm breath of spring in every breeze, and yet in the air a touch of winter that brought blood to the cheek and a sparkle to the eye.

The services at the church and grave were simple in the extreme, all in most excellent taste, and like the proceedings yesterday there was an utter absence of friction in everything that was done.

EXERCISES AT THE HOME.

At the Harrison home, before the remains were taken to the First Presbyterian church, where the funeral service was held, there were brief exercises for the members of the family and more intimate friends of General Harrison.

REMAINS TAKEN TO THE CHURCH.

Word was sent to Mrs. Harrison that the time had come for the body to be removed to the church, and she at once came down from her room into the parlor.

SERVICES SIMPLE AND BRIEF.

The burial service was very simple and very brief. The Rev. Mr. Nichols read the short committal and burial service and the Rev. Mr. Haines followed with a prayer.

LEAVES MODERATE FORTUNE.

General Harrison's wealth is variously estimated, public opinion rating it as high as half a million dollars. Those who are most informed about the ex-president's affairs, however, say he was worth about $250,000 or $300,000.

To Make Tour of Inquiry.

NEW YORK, March 13.—It is announced here that Senator Frye will soon sail for the West Indies. He will go first to San Domingo and after that to Cuba and other parts of the territory recently surrendered by Spain.

EX-PRESIDENT DEAD

GEN. HARRISON'S LIFE PASSES OUT WITH THE DAY.

ended in the Early Evening—Quiet and Painless Following Gradual Sinking—Unconscious Many Hours—Unable to Recognize Loved Ones.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 14.—General Harrison died at 4:45 yesterday afternoon without regaining consciousness. His death was quiet and painless.

The general's condition was so bad in the morning, after a restless night, that the attending physician understood that the end could not be far off, and all the bulletins sent out from the sick room were to this effect.

RELATIVES QUICKLY SUMMONED.

The change was noticed by the physicians and the relatives and friends who had retired from the sick room to the library below were quickly summoned and reached the bedroom before he passed away.

News of the death spread quickly through the city, and several of the more intimate friends at once hurried to the residence to offer services which, however, were not needed. The word was flashed from the bulletins of all the newspapers and to us communicated to the people on their way home in the evening.

NONE OF THE CHILDREN PRESENT.

None of General Harrison's children were present at his deathbed. Neither Col. Russell Harrison nor Mrs. McKee had reached the city, although both were hurrying on their way to the bedside of their dying parent.

The group at the bedside, included Mrs. Harrison, W. H. H. Miller, Samuel Miller the Rev. M. L. Haines, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, which General Harrison had attended for so many years; Secretary Tibbets, Dr. Jamerson and Dorsey, Col. Dan Ransdell, sergeant-at-arms of the senate, and a close personal friend of the ex-president; Clifford Arriek and the two nurses who have been in constant attendance at the bedside.

Mrs. Harrison knelt at the right hand side of the bed, her husband's right hand grasped in hers, while Dr. Jamerson held the left hand of the dying man, counting the feeble pulse beats. In a few minutes after the friends had been summoned to the room the end came, Dr. Jamerson announcing the sad fact. The great silence that fell on the sorrowing watchers by the bedside was broken by the voice of Dr. Haines, raised in prayer, applying consolation for the bereaved wife and family, mingled with the sobs of the mourners.

FUNERAL TO BE HELD SUNDAY.

The funeral of ex-President Harrison will take place next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services will be held at the First Presbyterian church, of which General Harrison was a member for nearly fifty years.

A telegram from Mrs. Mary Harrison McKee received in the city last night, announced she would arrive at noon today.

DIES AT THE STAKE.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 14.—A general strike is threatened of several thousand garment-makers employed at the furishing goods factories. A meeting was held last night by 500 girls employed at J. S. Britton's Dry Goods company's factory, who struck yesterday, and they decided to return to their demand for a restoration to a scale in vogue before the factory went under new management.

GEN. BENJAMIN HARRISON DYING

Former President Can Live But A Few Hours More.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 13.—Gen Benjamin Harrison can live but a few hours. His condition up to an early hour yesterday morning was encouraging to his physicians, but at that time he became restless and an hour or so later Dr. Jamerson, who had left the bedside at midnight for his own home, was summoned by Dr. Dorsey, who has remained constantly in the sick room for several days past.

DAUGHTER IS DETAINED.

Mrs. McKee, however, is detained at her home in Saratoga, N. Y., through the illness of her children, it being impossible for her to leave at this time. When the general was taken ill, it is said, he requested his physicians to make no unnecessary alarming statement to the public as to his condition.

WIFE AWAITING TIDINGS.

Mrs. McKee still waited for the most minute symptoms of favor. At five this evening it became apparent that the general was dying, and physicians at the bedside now make no effort to conceal the gravity of the situation. They say it is a matter of hours only.
