Class Sermon Exercises.

The attendance at the Class Sermon at the opera house Sunday afternoon, was good considering the time of day it was held and the undesirable place for religious worship. The program was without a fault. The several ministers of the city participated in the exercises, and the music furnished by Medames Adamson, Blackwell, Hubbard, Taylor and Messrs J. M. Betts, Dean Holcomb, was very highly appreciated.

The sermon by Rev. S. W. Richards, pastor of the Baptist church was an able production and as far as we have heard only compliments of Ryno.

Ryno, May 21, 1901.

Nasby acknowledges a pleasant visit from Messrs. Mair and Haycock, of Callaway, last Sunday. Judging from the editor's conversation and his unburned hands and face, is evidence to us that he is engaged in farming. We presume that editing a county paper is not very remunerative, as some people think that editors live mostly on wind.

N. J. Province, formerly of Ryno, but now of Amherst, has had a severe attack of pneumonia. His life was despaired of, but he is now convalescent.

Corn is about all planted and the early planting is coming up. Small grain is not doing well on account of dry weather, and it is feared the chinch bugs are working on it. Rye is reported a failure. Pastures are fine and cattle are in splendid condition.

Grasshoppers are numerous and it is feared they will destroy the crops.

We trust all will observe Decoration Day in a becoming manner; not make it a day of feasting and mirth, but rather a day of humiliation and prayer in memory of those who gave their lives that our liberty might be perpetuated. While we, with grateful hearts, strew flowers on the graves of our departed heroes, let us also think of those whose bodies rest in southern soil, many in unmarked grave, and some, indeed, who never had the right of a sepulcher. We have now in mind several of our acquaintances whose bodies never were found—the last seen of them by their comrades they were in deadly conflict with the enemy at the battle of Petersburg, Va.
