Ortello News.

Some are still planting corn yet, although nearly all are done.

MacJohnson of Merna, was a caller in these parts last week.

Mr. Frank Beals had another colt out up in a wire fence last week.

Mr. Hipsley made a trip up to the sand hills last Saturday and visited with Ed. Day.

Messrs. Redman and Embree were nerving their cattle last Saturday to prevent the black leg.

Something is damaging the wheat in some fields. Some claim it is the chinch bugs, others the grasshoppers.

J. M. Fodge was a Bow visitor last Thursday. He took his daughter Mattie down for a visit with her class mates.

About one and a half inches of rain last week put the ground in fine condition, and a smile upon the face of everybody.

Fred Embree is planting thirty acres of his wheat ground to corn. He says that the wheat dried out because he did not harrow it.

The show that was advertised for last Saturday evening at the school house did not take place, as a mistake was made by the bill poster.

News is somewhat scarce this week, and yet we learn that C. H. Cass planted three hundred and fifty young cedars in his grove last week.

Last week was a pretty good one for capturing wolves in this valley. Mr. J. A. Moore got five, Mr. White five, and the Davis boys six All young ones.

About the Chinch Bug.

In order to keep up our supply of infected bugs, we must require that each person sending for the infection, send us live bugs from the field. These should be put into a tin box (a baking powder box is excellent for this purpose) without soil, and with a supply of green wheat or corn. The box should have a tight fitting cover, and 10 holes need be made. We have found from experience that bugs reach us in the best condition when sent in this way.

Upon receipt of infected bugs from the station, a shallow box 18x24x6 inches, with tight joints and lid, should be provided. Spread about one half inch of loose moist earth over the bottom of the box so as to insure more nearly out of conditions. Sprinkle the whole inside of the box with water and put in enough green wheat or corn to cover the bottom. Now put into this box which has been prepared, the infested bugs (whether dead or alive) scattering them over the bottom and put in the box with them a large quantity of live bugs from the field; a pint would not be too many for a box of the size suggested. A smaller box may be used for a smaller quantity of bugs. After the bugs have remained in the box for two days remove half of them, alive and dead, and scatter them over that part of the field where the bugs are thickest; at the same time replenish the infection box with more bugs from the field. Continue to scatter bugs from the infection box over the field at intervals of two days, until it is seen that the bugs are dying rapidly all over the field. Keep the box moist by repeated sprinkling and change the green food as often as it loses its freshness.

Careful attention to these directions will often insure success where careless use of the infection would fail. Make daily notes on the appearance of the bugs in the infection box and in the field and of the weather while the field infection is in progress. Note carefully the chinch bug conditions in neighboring fields. Keep a list of farmers who get infected bugs from your farm. These notes may be of much value in our future dealings with this insect. Save a quantity of this fungus-covered and non-fungus covered dead bugs in a tin box for use the following year; put the infection box away for future use.

Should the infected bugs from the station seem to fail in their purpose, send without delay for a new supply.

There is but little use in trying to do anything with the infection until the outdoor temperature reaches 70 degrees Fahrenheit.

Very truly yours,
LAWRENCE BRUNER

The engine recently purchased by the Ansley Milling Co. of an elevator firm at Utica, is now in place and in running order. It was fired up Monday for trial and proved satisfactory. It is a 60-horse power engine and is capable of supplying power for the mill and electric light plant. They are also building a new engine house which makes valuable addition to their plant. This new improvement gives the company amply power to run the mill at all times of the year and supply their large and increasing trade.

The shipments from Ansley this week were: one car hogs and one car of wheat. The wheat was sent to the Broken Bow Milling Co.

Roy Thompson, who for several months has run a jewelry store here has secured a position at Central City. He went there Monday morning.

Callaway Courier—

Ed. Powell departed on Tuesday for Broken Bow, where he went to accept a position as an apprentice in the depot. Ed. has taken a great interest in telegraphy the past year, and with a little experience in a regular office he will be able to take charge of an office of his own. We wish him the best of success.

Ansley Chronicle—

Ernest Taylor and G. Houser are each circulating a petition to obtain freeholders for the purpose of securing a saloon license.

A WORTHY SUCCESSOR.

"Something New Under The Sun."

All Doctors have tried to cure CATARRH by the use of powders, acid gases, ointments and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucous membrane causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the ointments have entirely eaten away the same membrane that their makers have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and specialty of the treatment of CATARRH has at last perfected a treatment which when faithfully used not only relieves at once, but permanently cures CATARRH, by removing the cause, stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the afflicted parts. This wonderful remedy is known as "SNUFFLES" the GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE and is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, each package containing internal and external medicine sufficient for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use.

Tuesday night the village board patiently listened to the long string of testimony in the remonstrance filed against the granting of saloon license to Glen Johnson. Attorney Gadd, of Broken Bow, appeared for the defendant and Lester Kirkpatrick, county attorney, for the remonstrators. After all the testimony was given, the board decided in favor of Glen Johnson and granted him license. The case was appealed to the district court and thus the matter rests. The town still remains dry.

Sargent Leader:

Cheering news comes from Omaha of Ben Sullivan. A letter received from Mr. Finley states that Ben successfully went through an operation on his limb, of amputation, and will be able to return to Sargent next week. All his friends and acquaintances will rejoice at this good news concerning him.
