The Omaha Daily News states that Paul, the 10 year old son of Rev. C. W. Brinstead of Omaha was seriously and perhaps fatally injured Tuesday morning. The boy was helping his mother move a heavy book case when it toppled over and he was caught underneath it. His collar bone was broken and he was internally injured.

Something over a hundred went to Alliance to witness the ball games between Havelock and Alliance and the Broken Bow nine and Alliance. Alliance was the victors in both instances the score was 5 to 10 over Havelock and 11 to 29 over Broken Bow. The outcome was neither profitable or glorious as far as our home team was concerned, but those who made the trip report a good time which they count worth all they were out.

While at Lincoln the 1st of the week we visited the Nebraska Printing Co.'s place of business. It has very much the appearance of a Broken Bow institution, as several former Broken Bow citizens are connected with it. R. E. Wright formerly of Broken Bow is one of the owners, H. L. Frazier has charge of the 'make up,' Herman Werger is foreman of the press room and Ernie Werger is one of the pressmen. They all were formerly citizens of Broken Bow. The institution is doing a thriving business and has twenty-one hands connected with the institution including the two proprietors. They keep four job presses running all the time. Of the employees, nine are girls. The bulk of the company's business is getting out counter tablets, but is not confined to that exclusively. They have on hand one order for 15,000 book covers and another order for 20,000 illustrated circulars.

Our attention has been called to the fact that the name of W. S. Boyse, the republican nominee for city assessor was omitted from our published report of the nominees. We also observe that we left off the name of J. M. Kimberling the nominee for township treasurer. Since the name of I. D. Glaze has been added as city Justice of which no former motion has been made.

He is a graduate of the Iowa State University, in which he took classical and normal courses. He was for years engaged in University Preparatory work and was afterward employed as principle of public schools in Iowa and Nebraska in which capacity his fitness and qualifications as an educator were fully demonstrated. For two years he had charge of the Broken Bow schools and while filling this position was elected Superintendent of Public Instruction of the county, a position he filled for a period of six years. Last year he had charge of the Sargent schools and had been re-employed at the time of his appointment. His wife, who will accompany him, is also a graduate of the Iowa State University. G. A. R.

The old soldiers of Samuel Rice Post 256 of Merna Neb. had a surprise for Mrs. R. P. Stanford on last Saturday afternoon August 10th. Shortly after Post meeting they repaired to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Lewis where the G. A. R. ladies had previously invited Mrs. Stanford to enjoy a social and partake of ice cream and cake. When they gathered around the table and all was apparently ready to serve ice cream, Comrade J. M. Fodge informed Mrs. Stanford that comrade Towle had something to say to her. Comrad Towle informed her that the members of the post had desired to further formally express their kind regards for the many services she had rendered in furnishing music on memorial days and they desired to express their thanks by presenting her with a fine album. In response she thanked them very much for the gift, but more for their many kind regards. Ice cream and cake was served and all had an enjoyable time. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Lewis comrads Brown, Kilfoil, Towle, Graham, Brock and commander J. M. Fodge. Ladies present were Mrs. J. A. Coleman, Brock, Houg, Menary, Cory, Stanford, Misses Iris Towle, Ella Graham and Josie Cory.
