known by the average man concerning the lives and aims of the 400,000 men and boys who delve under the surface of the earth in places of darkness and danger.

The Cosmopolitan for October is full of entertaining fiction. Thomas A. Janvier, for sometime not seen in the magazine, reappears in The Cosmopolitan with a Mexican story of love and adventure.

There isn't a word of truth in the rumor that C. W. Beal is about to sell his interest in the Beacon. It is a republican campaign lie.

The Beacon now attempts to hide behind a petition signed by republicans and thus excuse the pop board for cutting the county levy from 14 to 7 mills.

The selection of Jules Haumont at the Round Valley district convention for supervisor was a wise one. Mr. Haumont has served in that position and proved himself an able and conservative member.

Isn't it a little singular that after running the county for ten years on a fifteen mill and eighteen mill levy, the pops discovered, just as they were going out of power, that a seven mill levy is enough?

The republicans in their respective districts have nominated exceptionally good men for supervisors. They are J. F. Brechbuhl of Anselmo; H. J. Edington, of Custer township; and Jules Haumont, of Eiton.

If reports are true a large number who have not formerly affiliated with the republicans of this county for several years will vote the republican county ticket almost to a man.

Little is thought and less is

The following is a portion of the Ansley Citizen last week, dated at Delta, Colorado, September 17, 1901.

"This is Colorado west of the 'Great Divide.' If it is not great, there is lots of it. The country is mountainous, only about one-sixth being fit for farming.

"When the news of McKinley's assassination reached Colorado, a chill went through her heart. We have learned to take a different view of the man within the last four years.

elect the first time, but did not vote for him. Last fall I took my wife by the arm and went to the polls and cast two solid votes for the "grand old republican party."

President McKinley is dead. He now belongs to the ages that are passed, but he has built a monumental record that will stand forth in the ages to come.

We don't believe Roosevelt will make much change in the order of things. Surely he can see that it is good enough and he ought to let good enough alone.
