Cored by St. Jacobs Oil, " (From the Cardiff Times.) Among the thousands of voluntary h consements of the great value of Jacobs Oli for sprains, stiffness and soreness, is that of Mrs. G. Themas, 4 Alexandra road, Gelli, Ysbrod, near Ponty-psidd, South Wales, who says: It is with great pleasure that I add my willing testimony to the invaluable excellence of your celebrated St. Jacobs Oil, as experienced in my ewn case. I sprain-ed both my ankles in walking down some steps so severely that I was unable to stand for several months. The pain I suffered was most severe, and sothing that I used helped me until I applied St. Jécobs Oil, when they immediately became botter daily, and in a short time I was able to go about, and soon after I quite cured. I am now determined to advise all persons suffering from pains to use this wonderful remedy, which did

Mrs. Thomas does not enlighten us as to what treatment she pursued during the months she was anable to stand, and during which time she was suffering se much, but we venture to suggest that had she called in any well-known medical man he would have at once prescribed St. Jacobs Oil, for it has conquered pain upwhirds of fifty years, and dectors know those is nothing so good. The proprietors of St. Jacobs Oil have been awarded tspoive gold medals by different international exhibitions as the premier pain-killing remedy of the world. The com-mittees who made the awards were in each instance composed largely of the most eminent medical men obtainable, Mrs. Thomas evidently did not know the high opinion in which St. Jacobs Oil is by almost every progressive medical

An English photographer has devised a scheme for making birds take their own photograph. A bait of fat is placed on an electric wire which is so connected with a camera that when the bait is removed the camera shutter is released, giving an instantaneous exposure of the sensitive plate.

The brain of the aut has been the luteresting subject of recent study by Prof. Forel, the Swiss zoologist. This organ is well developed in the workers, smaller in the females and merely rudimentary in the males. The insects have the senses of sight, smell, touch and taste, hearing being doubtful. The ants are endowed with memory and reasoning powers, and in their warfare it is easy to see their courage, their despair, their order for the fray and their personal hatreds.

C. A. Witchell, an English naturalist, says the speed of flight of birds is often greatly overrated. The swift, for instance, has been credited with a speed of 150 miles per hour, and the popular imagination compares the flight of a sparrow-hawk with that of a caunouball! Independent of aid from the wind, Mr. Witchell thinks, forty miles an hour is about the full speed of a good pigeon flying a long distance. The homing pigeon can be relied on, under fairly easy conditions, to make sixty miles an heur, or considerably more. On a short course a sparrow-bawk can outfly a homer. But the sparrow-bawk frequently fails to catch smaller birds that form its prey.
