Sheriff Armstrong and Marshal Towles went to Fort Robinson last Saturday with the colored deserters they arrested here Thursday morning, returning Sunday night. They report having no trouble in getting receipt for their prisoners and an order for their pay.

Jesse Gandy offers the following criticism on the board: He says "the old republican members of the board were perfect gentlemen and as to the pop members he says Daily is a great safeguard for the tax payers; Conley is a model of honesty and that Greenwalt is a great diplomat." Jesse has had considerable to do with the board in the last six months in the matter of road petitions and whether the above is meant as a compliment or criticism the members can best judge.

The case of the state against Will Morrissey, who was charged with criminal assault, came to a sudden ending Monday afternoon by the judge instructing the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty. The cause of the sudden turn in the case was caused by the defense being unable to prove by admissible evidence that Morrissey was more than eighteen years old when he committed the crime. It is thought this session of court will not extend over the week.

We are informed by Supt. Lewis that the delay in the districts receiving their state apportionment is not due to any fault of the county superintendent nor the county treasurer. The county superintendent made the opposition to the districts on receipt of notice of the amount apportionment to the county and filed the notice with the county treasurer. But for some reason the money has not yet been received by the county treasurer from the state. This delay no doubt is caused by the change in the office of the state treasurer.

Two loads of young people went out to Prairie Center last Friday evening to attend a basket social. One crowd was gotten up by Prof. Garlich and the other by the pupils of the ninth and tenth grades of the city schools. The baskets sold at from 50 cents to $2.00. There was $29 taken in. The proceeds were to buy an organ. The parties report having an excellent time.

A farmer who lives less than a hundred miles from Callaway put out a notice last summer which read: "This farm for sale. $8 per acre." A little later he changed it to "$11 per acre." A few days ago we passed the sign, which now reads "$14 per acre." If a few more jumps upward at that rate don't land Jess Gandy back in the republican party we will give him up as a hopeless case.—Callaway Courier.

The Colorado house of representatives has voted to unseat four of the democrat members elected from Arapahoe county, where fraud was alleged to have given them a majority. The report of one of the investigating committee to unseat the fifteen democrats from that county for the same reason was defeated by a vote of 44 to 21. This gives the republicans a majority of four on joint ballot, but the democrats who have a majority in the senate assert they will unseat four republicans in the senate in order to retain majority on joint ballot.

S. R. O.

At the Performance of Other People's Money.

A splendid audience greeted the performance of "Other People's Money" by Dainty May Sargent and her company at the opera house last evening, and the S. R. O. sign went up early in the evening.

To personally criticize the personnel of the performers would be to say in each case that they were adapted especially to the part performed by them by nature and preference, and each one starred in their own part.

Miss Sargent, who plays the leading role, has a charming but unassuming way, which wins her higher and higher favor as the audience becomes acquainted with her. Her costumes are exquisitely beautiful, appropriate and becoming.

David Marnell as Hopper is a red hot actor, who keeps everything hopping when he is around.

Harry Pollard as Olive Starbird has a difficult role to play, a dual role, but he develops into a first class actor.

You might hunt the country over before you could find another man to play Marceus Clump as correctly as does John Robinson.

Fred Kay and Lawrence Gison as Dean and the colored servant, do their parts well.

Miss Norman as Mrs. Hopper displays that thorough culture and training, as well as study of detail, which makes an actress of the old school. She can be a perfect angel and a perfect devil in less time than it takes to tell it.

Miss Kilday as Majory Denton is very charming in her appearance and aside from a slight showing of something worrying her, last night she made a splendid impression.—Lead Daily Call.
