

The Baraca Club Opening.

The rooms of the Baraca Lyceum and Gymnasium Club were formerly opened to the public Monday night. Rev. Morris and the members of the Baraca Class who inaugurated the project put in a faithful day Monday in completing the work of getting the apparatus in shape and furnishing the room for the reception of their guests. Invitations were sent to 100 gentlemen to attend the opening with the view of their inspecting the rooms and getting a better idea of the work of the club. A large number of the citizens availed themselves of the opportunity. They very generally expressed themselves not only surprised but pleased with the fine equipment and the object of the club. The room for the athletic practise is separated from the reading room by a board partition, so those engaged in one room will not disturb those of the other. The reading room is furnished with tables and chairs, a circulating library, which may be changed every 2 weeks and gaming devices such as checkers, chrokonole, etc., with which the young men can amuse themselves when tired of reading or practice of athletics. The club has planned to meet the expense of equipment and maintaining the rooms by charging a membership fee of four dollars a year. This fee will admit one to all the privileges. For the accommodation of the young man who can not afford so large an outlay at one time the management has made provisions for quarterly payments of the amount. The rooms will be open every evening under the supervision of some member of the Baraca Class. Keys will be provided to as many of the members as may desire, so that in case they may have the time they can drop in through the day to read or practice. Special effort will be made by the regents to see that best of order is maintained at all times and nothing immoral or objectional is allowed. At the opening Monday night light refreshments were served and a very pleasant time was enjoyed.

Republican State Convention August 18.

At the meeting of the Republican State Central Committee Tuesday evening in Lincoln the date for the State Convention was fixed for August 18 at 2 o'clock. A resolution offered by Victor Rosewater endorsing President Roosevelt as the Republican standard bearer 1904 was adopted by a unanimous vote. The basis of representation agreed upon was one delegate for each 100 votes cast in the county for Gov. Mickey or major fraction and one delegate at large. As the vote for Governor Mickey in Custer county was 1807 it will give us 19 delegates. It reduces Douglas county's delegation from 102 to 92. It pays to be loyal.

ATTEMPT TO POISON THE FAMILY.

H. M. Brownell and Family the Intended Victims.

Milburn, Neb., May 27, 1903.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:

Dear Sir:—I wish you would publish this letter. This is the story of a mysterious attempt to poison my family. Yesterday forenoon my wife and I went down to the river to see about our garden and get some brush. We left Lena at home to get dinner. The coffee pot was on the stove and she heard the dog barking, the way she barks when she finds a snake. Lena found her back of a small hill out of sight of the house barking at a turtle, and as she started back to the house, she saw a man standing on the door step, and a large dappled grey horse standing south of the house loose. (Lena left the door open when she started out.) When she got to the house she spoke to him. He did not answer and acted queer. In a little while he asked if she was Mr. Brownell's girl. She said yes, and he said I thought so, and then he wanted to know where Mr. Stallings lived and she told him. And then he asked her if her name was Lena and acted as though he was acquainted with us. He still appeared queer and spoke to the horse saying "Well Prince we better go," and started toward Mr. Stallings. Just after he went away Lena said she could smell carbolic acid, and when I came in to wash for dinner I smelt it. I smelt it very strong but could not tell where it came from. When we sat down to dinner my wife and Lena took coffee for dinner and the little boy and I water. My wife took a swallow of coffee stepped to the door and spit it out saying "My God it is in the coffee." Then we examined the coffee pot; there was enough carbolic acid in it to have killed every one of us. My wife rinsed her mouth and throat with milk and cream and drank some, and is alright now except a little soreness in stomach. After dinner we took the coffee pot up to Mr. Stallings for them to examine. They had not seen anyone, he had not been there, and where he came from or where he went is all a mystery, and if he poisoned the coffee it also is a mystery why he did it. He was a man about my height, medium size, black hair, black eyes, black mustache, and very dark complexion, dressed in navy blue coat and vest, black pants, blue cap.
