The Writ of Mandamus Denied.
A case in which was involved the legal right of the Mason City saloon was tried before Judge Gutterson Monday afternoon and concluded Tuesday. It was a case in which was sought a writ of mandamus to compel the village board to revoke the saloon license granted Henry Miller. The case was ably argued by Attorney Darnell for plaintiff, Judges Wall and Sullivan for defendant. The court held that the petition did not state facts sufficient to entitle the plaintiff to a mandamus.
A Business Change.
L. D. George, son of Nc George of Cumro, has bought half interest in the W. A. George stock of groceries of this city, and the business will now be run under the firm name of W. A. George & Co. The new member of the firm is a young man of culture and refinement, strict integrity and enjoys the respect and esteem of all who know him. He will have the active business management of the firm. He is now in charge and will be pleased to make the acquaintance of all the old customers of the house as well as many new ones.

charge of writing a dun on a postal card. She was taken to Omaha to appear before the federal court, and returned home on Sunday. As the lady in question can neither read nor write it was evident that she was not guilty of the charge, and was turned loose as a consequence.
The fact that Callaway will celebrate is no longer a dream. Already more money has been raised than was asked for, and great preparations are being made for one of the best times in the history of the town. Good music, good speaking, foot races, horses, ball games and everything that goes to make up a first-class celebration is booked for the occasion. The business men are preparing floats, and a comic parade will be a drawing feature on the morning of the 4th. An invitation is extended to the citizens of Broken Bow to participate the fun, as well as to all others: Come and share in the good time.
